ROOSEVELT FOR CUT IN INTEREST ON ALL DEBTS

250 Billions in Paper May Be Affected.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 7.—(AP)—President Roosevelt's call for a general lowering of interest rates on the 250 billion dollars of public and private debts in this country was expected tonight to result in a concerted move to that end both in and out of the government.

Mr. Roosevelt's view that many creditors would have more assurance of getting their principal if they reduced the interest charge may provide the needed impetus to pass pending legislation.

Bills before the senate—which have house approval already—would enable corporations and municipalities or other political subdivisions of states to scale down the principal and interest of their debts through an agreement with the majority of their creditors.

Individual Cared For.

Legislation is already in effect which enables the individual to rearrange his debt and interest rates through a pact with the majority of those he owes and to give similar help to railroads. There have been complaints that these laws have not been particularly effective and that they need strengthening.

The President, in letting it be known that he thought the debtor was paying too much on obligations contracted in better times, did not say what he believed was a fair rate nor did he specify particular charges that he regarded as too high.

But he did indicate that he felt strongly that the debt reorganization problem must be worked out and suggested two methods.

Suggests Two Methods.

One was on a voluntary basis and the other through legislation which would enable the debtor to get relief after a majority of the creditors—from 65 to 70 per cent, perhaps—agreed that some way to ease the strain was necessary. This is in line with bills passed and pending.

Among the debts mentioned were those owed by foreign nations, but it was not made clear whether he had war debts in mind.

He has promised some communication to congress on the subject.

The maximum interest Britain pays on its debt, treasury officials said, is 3½ per cent. France was assessed only 2 per cent and Italy one-eighth of 1 per cent.

Government's Debts Involved?

There was speculation after Mr. Roosevelt's declaration as to whether it might not indicate an impending effort to lower the charges upon the government's long term indebtedness.

In this connection it was recalled that the treasury had already refinanced at a lower interest rate about 900 million dollars in Fourth Liberty bonds. Approximately 1 billion 500 million dollars of the remainder matures on April 15. On the next day about 18 million dollars in other bonds matures and on May 2 another quarter of a billion.

Treasury officials declined to comment today on the prospects of reducing charges to the government on its borrowings, but said much might depend "on the state of the money market" as maturities approach.

Federal Debt 23 Billions.

The government's debt is around 23 billion dollars and the majority of this is long term issues.

Commerce department officials said today accurate figures on private indebtedness were lacking, although trustworthy unofficial estimates placed this at around 204 billion 958 million dollars, of which 101 billion 358 million dollars is long term and 103 billion 600 million dollars is short term.

Census figures recently placed the public indebtedness of states, counties, cities, and other political subdivisions at $19,684,577,000 to the end of June last year.

APPEAL MADE BY CITIES

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 7.—[Special.]—Representatives of Detroit, Cleveland, and Toledo today called on Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau Jr. to see if they could obtain aid on defaulted or maturing bond issues. It is in effect a "bankrupt law" for cities.

Secretary Morgenthau told them to select a committee of three headed by Prof. S. E. Leland of the University of Chicago, a municipal finance expert. He promised to go into the whole question of federal aid for cities with this committee on next Monday.

The new law would be similar to that enacted at the last session for the benefit of corporations.

IMPLICATE TWO LAWYERS IN U. S. WAR GRAFT QUIZ

Woodring Rebuked by Roosevelt.

BY JOHN BOETTIGER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 7.—[Special.]—As a federal grand jury today resumed its investigation of a sensational 10 million dollar scandal in the war department it was learned that two lawyers, both prominently connected in the past with the American Legion, have been involved in the charges.

These lawyers, it is asserted, visited various automobile manufacturers and solicited a fee of $50,000, for which they promised to deliver war department contracts for army trucks running into millions.

The inquiry, which was commenced upon orders direct from President Roosevelt, centers around the office of Harry Hines Woodring, assistant secretary of war and former governor of Kansas. Mr. Woodring had a bad day of it today, for beyond the vexation of having all sorts of scandal charges flying around his head he had to endure a direct rebuke from the President on another matter.

Article Praises CCC Camps.

Mr. Woodring had written an article for a weekly magazine which praised the CCC camps as examples of military effectiveness and as "economic storm troops." He proposed that the CCC, with practically all other relief activities of the government, should be placed directly under the control of the war department.

Asked to comment on the article at today's press conference, Mr. Roosevelt said significantly that he had been careful not to read it. He declared there was nothing of a military atmosphere about the CCC camps, and added the CCC would not be brought under the army.

Early "Confers" with Woodring.

Pressed further, the President disclosed that his assistant secretary, Stephen T. Early, had had conversations on the subject with Woodring. Mr. Early said later that Woodring conceded he had not expressed his views clearly in the article, "for which he is sincerely regretful."

The President's manner indicated clearly that he was annoyed by the Woodring article, which he said had resulted in a flood of petitions to the White House protesting against the building up of the CCC camps into forces similar to the storm troops of Hitler.

It was learned that Mr. Early had expressed himself forcefully to Mr. Woodring not only on the matters discussed before the President's press conference but on another statement in the magazine article which referred to 14 separate agencies of the government performing bureaucratic functions which Mr. Woodring thought ought to be centralized in the interests of efficiency and economy.

Roosevelt Admits Quiz.

Mr. Roosevelt, in acknowledging that the department of justice had undertaken the investigation of the war department motor truck scandal at his own instigation, characterized the charges as numerous and well grounded enough to merit an exhaustive investigation. He said there were all sorts of charges of improper letting of contracts by the war department.

This work is all under the supervision of Mr. Woodring, and in view of the President's severity in referring to the activities of his subordinate there were reports that Woodring may resign.

Today's witnesses before the grand jury were Gen. George Leach, commander of the militia bureau of the army; George Reynolds, district sales agent for the Marmon-Herrington company; A. H. Ferrandou, representative in Washington for Chrysler Motors, and R. C. Remick, who was described as an official of the Beck Tube company.

Claimed Ability to "Fix."

According to reports the two lawyers, whose connection with the American Legion has nothing to do with their present occupations, notified officials of the Marmon company that they could arrange to have specifications for army trucks so prepared as to exclude all other companies from the bidding.

The Marmon officials declined to enter into such a deal, it is said, and notified the White House. Later, it was reported, the same lawyers contacted the representatives of Chevrolet and General Motors with similar lack of success.

VOICES OF THE PAST

DESOLATION IN THE BOULEVARDS LEFT BY MOBS

PARIS, Feb. 8 [Thursday].—(AP)—By midnight guerrilla warfare mixed with vandalism had wrecked the Boulevard des Capucines, the main artery leading to the heart of Paris—the Opera.

Even to the casual observer it was apparent that millions of francs had gone up in smoke or crashed into bits with the collapse of huge plate glass windows in the boulevard's swanky specialty and department stores.

The scene at 3 o'clock this morning between the opera and Napoleon's columned Madeleine church was the saddest Paris had witnessed in the proud city's history of 63 years since the foundation of the republic.

Six Fires Still Ablaze.

Six street fires were still ablaze. Tarred wooden paving blocks under them and extending out from them were smoking, although still in place.

Thick plate glass from broken windows was strewn everywhere. Trees were broken off, kiosks smashed to bits, news stands broken and scattered, electric signs sagging wearily, traffic lights and lamp posts broken off, jets of water shot into the air from damaged hydrants. Sidewalks were ripped up in several places.

The only guardians of the peace were gathered in groups of tens and twenties, with a scant few of adventuresome pedestrians pacing the boulevard in the early morning.

Windows Smashed.

Windows of the Canadian Pacific Railway building, in which are located the commercial cable companies, gapped brokenly, while smoke from a burning kiosk enveloped the sidewalk outside. A window of the Guaranty Trust Bank building nearby was broken.

The Trois Quartiers department store across from the Madeleine theater was badly damaged. Almost all of its huge windows were smashed. Some of the window displays had been ravaged and looted. What was left after a sudden riot was hastily taken inside.

The débris of six barricades was strewn about. Bricks still rested on the sills of yawning windows as relics of the second night of fighting in Paris. Everything was uprooted that had not been deeply anchored in mother earth. Buildings bore unmistakable gouges in their stonework—the mark of bullets made by wild firing.

DOUMERGUE TO HEAD CABINET; RIOTS SUBSIDE

BY EDMOND TAYLOR.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Feb. 7.—France has pulled herself up at the brink again.

Following the resignation of Premier Edouard Daladier and his cabinet at 1:30 o'clock this afternoon—apparently just in time to prevent an armed uprising of the whole capital—President Albert Lebrun summoned former President Gaston Doumergue, 70 years old, to head a new government. Late tonight it was learned that Doumergue has obtained the unconditional acceptance of ten leading figures of parliament to join his cabinet.

It is almost a foregone conclusion that by tomorrow night France will have a nonpartisan national union government composed entirely of former premiers or party leaders and headed by the one man whom the whole country trusts—the strongest governmental combination since that of the late Georges Clemenceau.

Two Slain in New Riots.

The cabinet's resignation failed, however, to prevent further disorders. Blood flowed in the streets again tonight and scattered shooting broke out.

At least two persons were killed and 17 seriously injured in tonight's fighting. A checkup of one hospital alone revealed this late tonight. It is believed there were several other fatalities not yet officially admitted and a number of badly wounded.

The casualties from last night's rioting are also still uncertain. Unofficial estimates place them up to 50 dead and as high as 1,000 wounded. The government admits ten killed.

Three Americans Hurt.

Three Americans were seriously injured in last night's rioting. Britten Bush, formerly connected with a Parisian night club, spent the night in jail after being so badly beaten up he had to have several stitches taken in his head. John Wolfe, a tourist, was also manhandled and kept in jail all night. Bayard Ennis, a newspaper man, was hurt when clubbed by police.

Tonight's most serious disturbance occurred when a communist mob 50,000 strong invaded the heart of Paris shortly after dark. It spread terrorism up to a late hour. Windows were smashed, shops looted, and news stands and benches set afire. Police charged the Reds with clubs and occasionally answered the fire of insurgents with pistols.

The chamber of deputies and the Elysee palace, guarded by troops with rifles, were under siege by the mob.

Apaches Roam Streets.

No general battles such as last night occurred, but isolated clashes between police and Reds and between nationalists and Reds took place frequently. The mob seemed chiefly bent on destruction. Passersby were assaulted and robbed by apaches who poured in from the slum quarters.

Around midnight the disturbance died down around the Place de la Concorde, however, and it was clear the police had the upper hand.

With the exception of some crucial hours of the war, this was the wildest day in the history of the third republic. Daladier's resignation came just in the nick of time. A delegation of war veterans, including representative organizations which have not so far participated in the riots, had informed President Lebrun that they would take to the streets with machine guns and hand grenades if the government remained in power.

Demand Clean Government.

In a letter handed to the president the veterans said:

"The indignation of our members is very deep. They came peacefully and without arms, but in the face of this provocation they will next time come into the streets armed with grenades and old war souvenirs. On that day we will not be able to restrain them.

"We ask you, Mr. President, in order to prevent a recurrence of these dreadful incidents, to demand from the senate the dissolution of the chamber to establish a strong, honest, and clean government composed of honest men, so as to save the honor and prestige of France and prevent the shedding of blood of our brothers in arms. We are with you in support of the task

Pastors Voice Doubt of Devil and Hell Fire

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

If the 1,039 Protestant pastors of Chicago were to vote on the matter, it appears that the existence of the devil would be denied by a close majority. Prof. George Herbert Betts, head of graduate research in the school of education at Northwestern university, has found by a questionnaire that 54 per cent of Chicago's pastors say: "There is no devil!"

Prof. Betts' questionnaire, designed to show what the pastors think should be taught to Sunday school children, also indicates that the majority of the pastors not only disbelieve in the existence of the devil but also that they oppose the teaching of doctrines based on the devil.

With the matter of angels the answers of the pastors were different. Sixty per cent of the clergymen were found to believe in angels.

41% Doubt Existence of Heaven.

Along with the devil, according to tabulations of replies, go ideas of God-sent punishments in forms of earthquakes, fires, and floods. A large majority of the pastors replied that they did not want the children to be taught that there were such punishments for sin. Eighty per cent of the ministers opposed the teaching of the conception of hell "as a place of burning." Forty-one per cent of the pastors were found to doubt the existence of heaven sufficiently to ask its elimination from church teaching.

Forty-eight per cent of the pastors said they believed there would be a judgment day, 39 per cent said there would not, and 13 per cent remained undecided. Only 8 per cent however, admitted disbelief in immortality.

But in spite of such changes of belief, the pastors were virtually unanimous in the belief that God "runs the world."

That the deeds of people are recorded in a "book of judgment" in heaven was doubted by 74 per cent of the pastors, while 19 per cent believed in such judgment rolls. Seven per cent were agnostic.

Approve Play on Sunday.

Only 13 per cent of the pastors believe children should be taught to stop all play on Sundays.

Modernists whose controversy with fundamentalists led to the Tennessee "monkey trial" a few years ago will take comfort in learning that 67 per cent of the ministers have evolutionary beliefs. These declared that God spent millions of years in making the world instead of six days, as recorded in Genesis. Fifteen per cent of the pastors remained true to Genesis, while 18 per cent said they were undecided.

The divinity of Christ was denied by 26 per cent of the clergymen questioned. On the other hand, 72 per cent affirmed the belief that "Jesus was God." Two per cent were uncertain in this matter.

While 99 per cent of the clergy want children to be taught the value of prayer, 95 per cent said they did not want children taught that prayer would help them to pass examinations if they failed to study. The pastors by a two-thirds majority declared they were opposed to teaching children that "if we pray enough we shall be good all the time."

In the belief of 99 per cent of Chicago's Protestant clergy children must be taught that "joining a church does not make salvation certain."

Prof. Betts' mailing list was supplied by the Chicago Church federation, the cooperating agency of 19 denominations.

Police Battle Safe Crackers; 3 Wounded

Patrolman Ernest W. Bauer, 25 years old, of the Sheffield avenue station was shot and possibly fatally wounded early today in a battle with three safe breakers in the offices of the National Clock company at 928 Fullerton avenue.

Bauer and other policemen at the scene shot and wounded two of the burglars, one of whom was captured. The second wounded man, fleeing into the street as he fired, forced a motorist and his woman passenger to surrender a car to him, and continued his flight in it. The car was recovered about an hour and a half later at Hermitage and Leland avenues. Its front seat was blood soaked. The third safe breaker, apparently unhurt, got away.

Policeman Shoots After Falling.

The Sheffield station was informed at midnight of the presence of the thieves in the office. Bauer, with Policemen Walter Frank and Justin McCarthy, left the roll call to go there. McCarthy was left in front. Frank and Bauer went to the rear to discover a door had been smashed in. As Bauer pushed into the place there was a burst of fire from the trapped burglars and he fell. From his prone position he continued to fire, while Frank aided him.

Additional squads arrived and fire was poured into the front of the office by Sergt. Victor Eck and Policemen Thomas O'Grady and Carl Swanson. One of the thieves fell. Another of them went to the second floor and attempted to flee down a fire escape. He was fired on by Sergt. Walter Jablonski, another of the new arrivals, and, although apparently wounded, continued his flight, shooting all the while.

Forces Couple from Car.

Running through an alley, he was confronted by Policeman Felix Kosinski, who had come to the scene in a car driven by Michael De Vitto, 533 North Trumbull avenue. With De Vitto was Miss Laura Sirko, 920 Fullerton avenue. By a quick maneuver the gunman got between Kosinski and the couple, so that the policeman feared to fire. He then forced the couple, after they had driven him a short distance, to get out. The car was deserted after it ran over the sidewalk and crashed into the home of Mrs. E. E. Davis, 4656 North Hermitage avenue.

The captured burglar is Philip Stumpf, 24 years old, 1846 Fremont street. He was taken to the Bridewell hospital.

At the Alexian Brothers' hospital it was found that a bullet had passed through Policeman Bauer's jaw and lodged in his neck.

Astor III. in Los Angeles; 'Where's Sun?' He Asks

Los Angeles, Cal., Feb. 7.—(AP)—A private railway car arrived here today with John Jacob Astor III., three companions, and a valet bound for a three months' cruise in the antipodes.

"Is there any chance of a reconciliation between Miss Eileen Gillespie and yourself when you return?" he was asked.

"Where," he responded, "is your much advertised sunshine?"

OLD TIME BIKE PURSUIT BRINGS OUTLAWS TO BAY

There was a decided flavor of the 1890s about the robbery last evening of the Western Union telegraph office at 2133 South Michigan avenue. The bandits were young and inexperienced, they had no pistols and they were captured after an exciting bicycle chase.

When the robbers entered one of them, Bernard Curley, 22 years old, 4556 Ellis avenue, wrote out a telegram, which he handed to Manager Matthew Gacki. It read: "Give me money or the fellow at the door will shoot you to death." Gacki looked and saw that the second bandit, John Redmond, 22 years old, 7146 Vernon avenue, held his right hand in his coat pocket with a fierce air. So he surrendered $23.

As the pair fled, Gacki called to two messengers, William Greenwood and Celeste Madoni, who were tinkering with their bicycles in an adjoining room. Promptly William and Celeste rolled out and the pursuit was on. Gacki then called the police and told them to please catch two bandits who were being chased by the cyclists. They were captured by Policemen Michael Regan and Frank Daly.

which you will undertake to give France moral grandeur and prestige as a great nation."

Although the news of Doumergue's decision to form a government filled the nation with hope and encouraged the bourse to resist a financial panic, the future remains uncertain. Socialists, who held a council of war with trade union chiefs barricaded in their headquarters tonight, threaten a general strike if Doumergue favors the reactionary elements in forming a government.

Following the conference a Socialist spokesman said a general strike is "projected" for Monday as a protest against the change of government. There was a chance, however, that they will abandon the plan or limit the strike to 24 hours.

On the other hand war veterans and other Nationalist or Fascist elements threaten to march against the workers if a strike is declared. Also the danger of a coup d'état from the Royalist and other extreme right wing elements is not past.

Doumergue Sets Conditions.

Doumergue at first repeated his refusal of last week to reënter the political arena, but when President Lebrun, in a long telephone conversation between the Elysee palace here and the Doumergue country estate at Tournefeuille, stressed the gravity of the crisis, he accepted. He placed two conditions on his acceptance.

The first was that representative leaders of both houses of parliament —notably former premiers who have run the government during the last five years—pledge their unqualified support.

The second was that when he appeared before the chamber for the first time he would carry in his pocket a presidential decree ordering the dissolution of the chamber and new elections—a club to hold over the deputies' heads if they got obstreperous.

Leaders Pledge Coöperation.

President Lebrun promised to do his utmost to see that these conditions were fulfilled and Doumergue, accompanied by his wife, took a train for Paris. He will proceed straight to the Elysee palace in the morning and will find there waiting for him the presidents of the senate and chamber, Emile Jeanneney and Fernard Bouisson.

These two were charged this afternoon with sounding out political leaders of the two bodies over which they preside respectively. Doumergue could not know the result of their negotiations before he left, but it was known tonight in Paris. The answer that he will get in the morning is that the track is clear. Every chief promised coöperation.

The exact list of the new cabinet is not known, but it is believed certain that it will include both Edouard Herriot and Andre Tardieu—two deadly enemies—Camille Chautemps, Pierre Laval, and either Pierre-Etienne Flandin or Joseph Caillaux for finance minister. Doumergue probably will not take any portfolio.

Enemies Pay "Respects."

The last stage of the negotiations was a dramatic interview between Tardieu and Herriot, who were brought together in the chamber this afternoon by Bouisson.

"Before we sit down at the same table as colleagues," said Tardieu to his beefy adversary. "I want to tell you what I think of you for the last time."

What he said would not pass over the cable wires, but he smiled as he said it.

"That's funny," replied Herriot, grinning. "I was just going to call you the same thing."

Then the two men shook hands.

Two Dictatorships Threatened.

While the "republican dictatorship" of Daladier and Frot was swept away by the blood which flowed last night, two authentic dictatorships—one of workers, the other along Fascist lines —were ready to set themselves up in its stead. It was hoped that the choice of Doumergue to head the new government will definitly save the country from this dilemma.

Following the resignation of Daladier the Socialists tried to persuade the communists to join them in forcing a proletarian régime on the country. They were furious at the collapse of the Daladier government, which protected them and at the same time left them free to plot against it. They wanted Daladier to stay in power regardless of the cost in blood.

That was the real drama behind the action which unrolled this morning. Daladier, after a sleepless night reading the casualty lists, which were mounting every hour, realized the horrible blunder he had made in trying to be tough when he wasn't tough enough.

Calls Leaders to Parley.

After calling former Premier Herriot, Leon Blum, Socialist leader, Bouisson, head of the chamber, and other politicians to the Quai d' Orsay and conferrying with them all morning, he realized that if he wanted to stay in power it would only be at the price of ruthless massacres.

It was also probable that Lebrun, who had been holding consultations during the morning, himself brought strong pressure on Daladier to resign. Not much pressure was necessary, however.

Daladier's minister of interior, Eugene Frot, who gave the order last night to open fire on the rioters, was made of other stuff. He spent the morning in a council of war with advisers, determined to stick to the bitter end. Daladier did not consult him about his resignation and Frot was blind with fury when informed.

Daladier a Broken Man.

As for Daladier, he summed up the whole situation when, after reading the formal communique announcing his resignation, he declared to newspapermen in a shaking voice:

"I couldn't stand the idea of calling out 20 year old conscripts to fire on a civilian crowd."

Nearly everyone agreed it was not only abhorrent but impossible, yet a delegation of trade union chiefs called on Daladier after they learned of his resignation to browbeat him for "deserting" before the attack of the mob.

Daladier was a broken man tonight, living in fear of his life, and his political career is probably ruined forever. As to Frot, many people think he will not live long enough to have to worry about his career.

Lawyers Burn Frot's Gown.

A group of 100 lawyers, 15 of whom were injured in last night's riots, today held an indignation meeting in the Palais de Justice. At the conclusion of the meeting they went to a cloakroom, seized Frot's cap and gown and burned them to the strains of the "Marseillaise."

Despite the cabinet's resignation, sporadic skirmishes continued throughout the afternoon. A detachment of mounted guards marching through the shopping district with bared sabers was considered by pedestrians to be a deliberate provocation. The hostility and boos of the crowd forced the guards to sheathe their sabers.

Many women were hurt on the boulevards in clashes with mobile guardsmen. The mobile guardsmen were created for the purpose of permitting reductions in the French army proper and are regarded among ex-soldiers and the populace as a survival of the not overpopular wartime military police.

Senator Rolland, who was foolish enough to defend the police action of last night before a crowd, was dragged off a bus, imprisoned in a restaurant all afternoon, and manhandled by a mob which tore his clothes off.

After dark the Champs Elysees and the Place de la Concorde again became danger centers. All lights along the vast avenue were extinguished.

Finally the police patience ended and they swept up and down the avenue in platoons, clubbing every one in sight and chasing fragments of the mob into side streets, where police were lurking in ambush to pounce upon them, beating up and arresting every one they could lay their hands on.

Today's issue of the Royalist newspaper, Action Française, was seized by police. A charge of plotting against the security of the state was lodged against Charles Maurras, editor of the paper. Maurras and his co-editor, Leon Daudet, are reported to have gone into hiding. The Action Française was largely responsible for the days of rioting which preceded last night's tragedy. Following the $00,000,000 Stavisky bond scandal a few weeks ago, the paper incited the people to demonstrate against the government.

New French Premier an Old Hand at Coping with Crises

PARIS, Feb. 7.—(AP)—Affable 70 year old Gaston Doumergue called back to political harness today by France, which knew him as one of its most popular presidents, retried "absolutely" in 1931.

"I shall not even try to become mayor of my village," said Doumergue, the first Protestant president of the third republic, shortly before leaving the Elysée palace.

For years known as "the bachelor president," Doumergue surprised Paris in 1931 by marrying Mme. J. Graves, a widow he had known for many years. He was then near the completion of a seven year term. During his tenure the president often spoke of his warm regard for the United States.

Veteran of Political Crises.

No less than 15 cabinet crises were solved by his administration. In 1926, when France was on the verge of financial ruin, he averted the danger by naming Raymond Poincare premier. As premier now, however, he will have more pressing duties than those he handled as president.

"Thirteen" is Doumergue's "lucky number." This is because on Friday, the 13th, in June, 1924, he was elected president, and as Private Gaston Doumergue of the French army was made a corporal on Feb. 13, 1884.

Adhering to a rigid schedule during his administration, Doumergue took only one night a week "out," spending it with friends. Fond of a simple life, he is a firm disciple of the early morning "daily dozen" and of walking.

Approves of "Charleston."

After a test at the Elysée palace in 1927, he approved the "Charleston," American dance then sweeping Europe.

When it was reported that Queen Mary of England would visit France, Doumergue, born in a cottage in the south of France, took lessons in court etiquette.

He confessed once to having "crashed the gate" at the Elysée palace, which he was later to occupy.

"I remember my first evening here," he said. "It was during the presidency of Jules Grevy. I was a student then. I had to rent my dress suit and I came with a friend's invitation, but I was allowed to come in, nevertheless."

GERMANY COMPARES FRENCH CRISIS WITH DAYS BEFORE HITLER

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Feb. 7.—"Events in Paris will not change the general political constellation of Europe," a semi-official news service tonight warned Germans who hope that France's difficulties may increase its readiness to come to an understanding with Germany on the question of armament and revision of the Versailles treaty.

Official organs abstained from commenting on the French situation. But the public at large is displaying smug satisfaction, asserting:

"Such riots are impossible in Germany under the powerful leadership of Chancellor Hitler and the Nazis."

Wilhelmstrasse sees in the situation in France today a resemblance to that in German prior to Hitler's assumption of power. Germany expects that Premier Daladier's downfall will lead to new stagnation of international disarmament negotiations and to new complications in Austria.

MILLINERY TRADE MARKS ADOPTION OF ITS NRA CODE

The sewing of an NRA label into a new black spring hat marked the adoption of the millinery code in Chicago yesterday. The ceremony took place at a luncheon of the Midwestern Millinery Manufacturers' association in the Palmer house, which was attended by representatives of leading department stores.

Samuel Budwig, president of the association, said that the hat into which the NRA label was sewed was made by men and women who are now working 37½ hours a week at a "living wage." "There is no doubt," he said, "that this system of higher wages and shorter hours will cause some factories to cut their production in half, but it is clear that there has been tremendous overproduction, so this will benefit the industry."

Other speakers were Mrs. Elizabeth A. Conkey, who sewed the label into the hat; Agnes Nestor, president of the Women's Trade Union league, and Prof. Andrew A. Bruce, head of the Chicago compliance board of the NRA.

KEY TO SPEAKING OF FRENCH NAMES IN THE DAY'S NEWS

PARIS, Feb. 7.—(AP)—Names in the news in France today are pronounced in Paris not quite as they should sound in English. Names of the premier-designate, the premier outgoing, and the president of France are pronounced respectively as follows:

Gaston Doumergue, Gas-ton du-mairg'; Edouard Deladier, Ed-oo-ard Da-lad-yea'; Albert Lebrun, Al-bair Le-bron'.

FRENCH TURMOIL CENTERS AROUND A CHIEF OF POLICE

Betrayal of Napoleon by Fouche Is Recalled.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Feb. 7.—The stocky, energetic, and typically Corsican figure of former Police Prefect Jean Chiappe, which has long been familiar to Parisians, emerges more prominently than ever from the tragic turmoil in the last few days.

Resentment by nationalist elements over his removal from office has been one of the principal factors in whipping up the fury of the mob. The cry "Long live Chiappe!" punctuated every charge of the infuriated people and floated above every barricade.

Accused of Fomenting Riots.

In left (communist and Socialist) circles Chiappe is accused of having fomented last night's rioting. Distrust of the government in the regular police forces—whose loyalty to the former chief is suspected of being greater than their loyalty to the republic—was evident.

Ironically, this was the indirect cause of the massacre which today forced out the Daladier government, for instead of depending upon the police, who are masters of the art of breaking up a mob without bloodshed, Minister of Interior Frot used semi-military republican and mobile guards, whose instinct is, when in doubt, to shoot.

Likewise, there was a rumor in left circles, probably false, but significant in any case, that Premier Daladier and Frot had discovered documentary evidence that Chiappe was plotting a coup d'état and that this was the reason for his sudden melodramatic removal.

Recalls Case of Napoleon.

To these accusations the right counters with the charge that the Socialists were determined to get Chiappe out of the way because they knew he would block any attempt at a proletarian coup d'état.

While it may seem strange to Americans that the removal of maintenance in power of the police chief of a city—even if it is the capital—could bring the whole country to the verge of revolution, there are plenty of precedents in French history. Napoleon always was afraid of his police chief, Fouche, upon whom the régime depended, and eventually he was betrayed by Fouche, who did more than any single man to bring about the emperor's downfall.

The analogy is further strengthened by the fact that Napoleon once tried to get rid of his formidable police chief and was forced to take him back. In view of the report current this afternoon that Chiappe was summoned to the Elysée palace by President Lebrun, it is possible that history may repeat itself in that respect.

Try to Balance Police Power.

The third republic has always tried to balance the dangerous power of the Paris police prefect by playing off against him the rival surete generale —national secret police. The surete generale is traditionally left, Masonic, and closely allied with the trade unions, while the Paris police department—which unnecessarily duplicates practically every service of the surete —is right, Catholic, and close to the army.

The theory is that if one service tries to plot against the state the other service will effectively block it.

Consequently, when Daladier replaced Chiappe, who represents conservative traditions of the police service, by a member of the left machine who could be trusted to obey blindly all orders received from the minister of interior, the balance was destroyed. The right was deprived of the last bulwark against an attempt on the part of the left to maintain itself in power by dictatorial methods.

Naturally, disgruntled by this official disgrace, it is possible that Chiappe may have been tempted by anti-republican elements of the right and definitely thrown in his lot with the conspirators out of spite. His whole career at the prefecture reveals a desperate effort to build up popularity and prestige, and it is certain he has had other ambitions than directing the Paris police force all his life.

DUKE DE GUISE, FRENCH PRETENDER, READY TO FLY BACK TO PARIS

BRUSSELS, Feb. 7.—(AP)—Informed quarters here were agreed today that everything was ready for immediate action by the Duke de Guise, 59 year old head of the Bourbon House of Orleans and pretender to the throne of France, should circumstances warrant. The pretender's son, Henry, count of Paris, an experienced aviator, would be able to fly his father to France at any moment.

The Duke de Guise, who would like to reign as King Jean III., is in touch with his partisans in Paris, who are reporting on developments in the situation. No especial activity, however, was perceptible in the proximity of the Manor D'Anjou, the pretender's residence near Brussels. He was not willing to express public grief at the Paris bloodshed, fearing misinterpretation.

Another claimant to the throne, Prince Louis Napoleon, 20, who has a residence here, now is in Switzerland. Bonapartists regard him as the rightful ruler.

A French law forbids direct descendants of families which have reigned over France to live within the country.

RIOTING RECALLS 20,000 FRENCH SLAIN IN 1871

PARIS, Feb. 7.—(AP)—As mobs continued rioting here tonight oldsters recalled the fateful commune revolution of 1871, when Frenchman fought against Frenchman in Paris, virtually under the eyes of the new German conquerors.

The Franco-German war ended with the capitulation of Paris on Jan. 29, 1871, after a five months' siege and bombardment. During that siege revolutionary elements who had been foremost the previous September in laying the foundation for the third republic finally proclaimed in 1871 began to show signs of disaffection.

On March 18 the commune was proclaimed. In other words, Paris was declared independent of any government except that chosen by its own people regardless of any outside or central power.

The revolutionaries took over affairs and then began the second siege of Paris, a siege by French troops while victorious German troops looked on. The chiefs of the commune massacred foremost citizens and destroyed many fine buildings. Punishment was ruthless and 20,000 men and women were slain in the streets before the government regained control.

U. S. ORDERS ALL EMPLOYES OFF PARIS STREETS

[Copyright; 1934; By the New York Times.]

PARIS, Feb. 7.—With a view to sparing diplomatic officers and the clerical staff of the American embassy from possible serious consequences of the turbulent events taking place before the American government building on the Place de la Concorde, Ambassador Jesse Straus ordered all American government employes to go to their homes at 4 o'clock this afternoon.

The ambassador issued a circular to all those working in the building, which includes the American consulate general and department of commerce as well as the embassy staff proper.

Employés Barred from Streets.

The circular said:

"It is important that no person connected with any service of the United States government be concerned in the present disturbances. It is requested that after the embassy has closed today, and every day until quiet is restored, all officers and employés in the building proceed directly to their homes and remain there the rest of the night, unless a specific mission from the ambassador himself is given to the contrary.

"Furthermore, it is urgently requested that all officers and employés immediately instruct their families to refrain from making trips until further notice to any of the central portions of the city where disturbances have occurred or may occur."

Embassy in Midst of Riot.

The American government building stands next to the Crillon hotel, which last night was hit by many stray bullets. One of the maids of the hotel was killed, while another bullet passed directly between two American women who were watching the rioting from a window.

Well before dark today, therefore, the embassy took on the appearance of a place besieged. Every building and shop, in fact, within a radius of several blocks around the Place de la Concorde, and particularly up the Faubourg Saint Honore, which leads toward the Elysée palace, the president's residence, was completely barred and in some cases even boarded up.

FRENCH CENSOR PUTS TIGHT LID ON NEWS OF PARIS DISORDERS

PARIS, Feb. 7.—(AP)—The censor, with wartime fervor, tried today to keep the world from reading "inaccurate" descriptions of riots and news of the cabinet's resignation. He held up thousands of words in cablegrams.

All operators, including those of the American cable companies, were supervised by government agents who must see every dispatch. When in doubt, his duty is to refer to a superior at a distant headquarters. When the censor holds up a dispatch, the transmitting company is required to maintain secrecy, and thus the sender may never know whether the dispatch was halted.

Mistakes sometimes occur because the censor's knowledge of languages is often sketchy. He occasionally passes cablegrams which he should have stopped and stops innocent messages.

EXPLAINING WHY IDA HAS LEFT HER ROOMMATE

Miss Mildred Fertig, 34 years old, charged with biting off the tip of Miss Ida Shinkle's nose, was held to the grand jury in bonds of $1,000 yesterday by Justice of the Peace Ralph Fjellman, who is also operator of the Habeas Corpus tavern in Niles.

Miss Shinkle, who was formerly Miss Fertig's roommate, but now protects her features by living elsewhere, testified that they were taking a ride in a taxicab through Niles when a quarrel developed over the relative beauties of their noses. Miss Fertig, she said, became quite angry when she was told hers was too short, and just to make things even shortened Miss Shinkle's with a quick nip. Then, the complainant added, Miss Fertig and the cab driver, Edward Schnader, 718 Grace street, tossed her out on the road.

Fortunately she was near the Habeas Corpus tavern and quickly obtained warrants charging her roommate with mayhem and Schnader with being accessory before the fact. The cabman was also held to the grand jury in bonds of $1,000.

Italian Paper Protests Use of African Troops in Paris

MILAN, Italy, Feb. 7.—(AP)—The newspaper La Sera, commenting on reports that African troops had been used in Paris to quell riots, complained today that France was giving a bad example to the world. "The cause of western civilization is ill-served by continuing to sow dangerous seeds of potential revolt in disdain for whites among primitive peoples in whose brains prestige of race has been instilled," the paper said.

SEES RIOTING AS DEMAND FOR END OF CORRUPTION

Reflects Sentiment for Honest Government.

BY MAY BIRKHEAD.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Feb. 7.—Nobody in this generation or the one before it has witnessed such a spectacle as unrolled itself here last night.

Those who lived here through the years of the world war saw Paris the prey of strong and varied emotions, but they were caused by the vicissitudes of a struggle against a foreign enemy. Even in such periods as the Dreyfus agitation at the end of the 19th century or the confiscation of the church property in the early years of the 20th, when families were divided to a point of extreme bitterness and the strife of opinions raged to the verge of civil war, there was no massacre of citizens by police.

Reflects Attitude of Provinces.

It has often been said that great commotions in Paris are not necessarily reflected in the provinces. But this time the capital represented the spirit of protest against corruption and disunion which the entire country had determined to end bring to an end after the Stavisky scandal showed how widespread and deep seated the canker had become.

Even such an uproar as was provoked by the traffic in Legion of Honor decorations in the 1880's and the Panama affair about the turn of the century resulted in disastrous revelations and terrific recriminations, but no bloodshed.

One reason for the protest of Paris over the shambles of last night was the fact that it seemed unnecessary. The various groups that paraded felt, with the exception of the communists, whose rôle is to make trouble, that they were marching in a moral, if belated, crusade.

Discontent Spreads for Months.

Those who saw the thousands of army veterans of the late war, the strong band known as Young Patriots, and other formations could not but be struck by their quality and their evidently high minded attitude of indignation that the cabinet should be swayed by politicians who are not bringing any credit to France either at home or abroad.

For months discontent has been growing not only among the masses, who are hard put to it with the spread of unemployment and the high cost of living, but in all strata of society. It was like the resentment Chicago recently felt against the gangsters and New York against the corruption of Tammany.

Parties of the left, relying on their numerical strength in the chamber of deputies, have for some time been out of touch with the normal aspirations of France toward order, economy and decency. Lavish spending, some of it inspired by pure demagogy, and much of it forming an unconscionable raid on the treasury, was bad enough, but when it was revealed through a succession of scandals that politicians were profiting in deals which were forcing the taxpayer beyond endurance, the storm broke.

Recalls Previous Coups.

France has shown many times in its history that it can suffer long before the inevitable corrective convulsions. It was corruption in the directory, no less than the menace of foreign enemies, that paved the way for Bonaparte's coup d'état of the 18th Brumaire in November, 1799. The revolution of July, 1830, producing the fall of Charles X., was largely caused by suppressing the liberty of the press.

The revolution of 1848, which broke out in February, sending Louis Philippe into exile, was the result of several kinds of scandal in high places, involving the president of the high court, who tried suicide, and a former minister of war.

When Louis Philippe's son rode out he was greeted with cries of "Down with the thieves!" France was then keen to try democracy, which de Tocqueville had been urging after his American sojourn.

The commune uprising in 1871 saw the unexampled slaughter in Paris of over 20,000 victims.

ATTACKS PROPOSAL FOR BASCULE BRIDGE AT ASHLAND AVENUE

The proposal of the board of local improvements to construct a bascule bridge instead of a fixed span across the north branch of the Chicago river at Ashland avenue was attacked yesterday by Ald. William A. Rowan [10th] when the board's bridge ordinance was submitted to the city council.

The ordinance calls for the expenditure of $1,609,000. An accompanying resolution seeks to obtain the money from the Public Works administration, the major part of the loan to be repaid out of the city's share of the gasoline tax and the remainder from a special assessment to be levied against owners of property adjacent to the improvement.

"The council committee on harbors, wharves, and bridges, of which I am chairman," said Ald. Rowan, "has gone on record in favor of fixed bridges. This bascule bridge would cost approximately $1,609,000, while a fixed bridge would cost only $900,000, and it seems to me that the board is somewhat out of step in proposing a project which is so out of line with the trend for reduced expenditures."

The ordinance was referred jointly to Ald. Rowan's committee and the committee on special assessments.

NEEDY COLLEGE STUDENTS TO GET U. S. RELIEF FUNDS

Wilfred S. Reynolds, executive secretary of the Illinois Emergency Relief commission, yesterday announced that federal funds have been made available to assist needy college students. In payment for this assistance, which will average $15 a month, the students will be required to perform made work designated by the college authorities. Applications for part of these funds will be accepted from tax exempt educational institutions, he said. Only 10 per cent of the full time student body in each college will be allowed to obtain this aid. The money must be evenly divided between boys and girls.

Injured Child Is Rushed to Hospital in Airplane

Baltimore, Md., Feb. 7.—(AP)—Examination at the Johns Hopkins hospital tonight revealed 4 year old Alicia Brannon, flown here by airplane from Weston, W. Va., earlier in the day, was suffering from a fractured skull.

Little Alicia's condition was said at the hospital to be fairly good.

The child was accompanied in the plane by her parents, who said their daughter was injured when she fell into an empty swimming pool at their home in Weston.

WALDORF UPSET BY 'ODOR BOMB'; GUESTS FLEE

New York, Feb. 7.—[Special.]—Persons in the lobby of the swanky Waldorf-Astoria hotel, hurriedly put handkerchiefs to their noses tonight, when odoriferous fumes spread around. Bellboys, with anti-septic popguns, flew into action and, after a short foray, won the battle.

Hotel officials denied that an odor bomb had been turned loose in the lobby, but persons caught in the midst of the fumes insisted striking waiters must have invaded the lobby and touched off a "bomb."

While most of the hotels of the city are involved in the strike, the waiters are particularly active against the Waldorf. The waiters have "approved" several hotels and are picketing the others. Set luncheons and dinners are being shifted around town to comply with the whims of the waiters.

NATAL, Brazil, Feb. 7.—(AP)—The first regular trans-Atlantic air mail service, linking Europe and South America by a catapult equipped Lufthansa mothership, the Westphalen, became a reality today with the arrival of the German flying boat Typhoon with European mail, and departure for Europe of a cargo from Rio de Janeiro. The Typhoon brought in more than 800 pounds of mail, which was four days en route from Stuttgart, Germany.

Oak Park Prohibits Sale of Alcoholic Beverages

The village board of Oak Park last night passed an ordinance prohibiting the sale of any alcoholic beverage in the suburb, electing to return to its former dry status of nearly eighty years' standing. The ordinance repeals one adopted last April permitting the sale of 3.2 beer when not consumed on the premises where sold. A petition was presented bearing 2,720 names of persons requesting that malt beverages be allowed to be sold with food. The petition was accepted and the proposition will be placed on the ballots at the village election April 3, President Willis McFeely said.

The club, one of the oldest in the state, has enforced the dry rule since it was organized, more than 25 years ago.

ROOSEVELT LETTER BACKS AMENDMENT TO END CHILD LABOR

New York, Feb. 7.—(AP)—A letter in which President Roosevelt indorses the child labor amendment was made public today by Courtenay Dinwiddie, general secretary of the national child labor committee.

Dated from the White House Jan. 25, it was written to Mrs. Larue Brown of Boston. It follows:

"My dear Dorothy:

"As always, I read your very interesting letter of the 13th with a great deal of pleasure.

"Of course I am in favor of the child labor amendment. A step in the right direction was achieved by demonstrating the simplicity of its application under the NRA. Those connected with industries which had been the worst violators were the first to see the wisdom of that step.

"It is my opinion that the matter hardly requires further academic discussion. The right path has been definitely shown. Very sincerely,

"FRANKLIN D. ROOSEVELT."

ALDERMEN VOTE APPROVAL OF 2 CITY TAG DAYS

The city council passed two Tag day ordinances yesterday. The first of the Tag days, scheduled for March 24, is that of the All Chicago Kiwanis clubs. The clubs propose to sell imitation sweet peas which will be purchased from crippled children who make them. The second Tag day is scheduled for May 7, when the Chicago Federated Charities will hold their annual tag sale.

The council also ordered the city hall closed on Feb. 12, Lincoln's birthday, and on Feb. 22, Washington's birthday.

COURTNEY GOES TO WASHINGTON ON FACTOR CASE

State's Attorney Courtney departed yesterday for Washington to confer with officials of the state department in an effort to make sure that John Factor will not be extradited to England before the finish of the second kidnaping trial of Roger Touhy and two members of his gang.

Mr. Courtney said he had learned that a second warrant for the extradition of Factor is held by the state department in addition to the one on which Factor was granted a 30 day stay in the federal court Tuesday. The prosecutor said he was going to Washington to make sure that this warrant would not be served until the end of the kidnaping trial.

RAID SOUTH SIDE VICE DEN; FIND MISSING GIRLS

40 Inmates Lured from Geneva State Home.

Following raids yesterday by police and state's attorney's investigators in Chicago, Rockford, and Coal City, Ill., and in Superior, Wis., George T. Scully, state superintendent of paroles in Illinois announced that the authorities have broken up a vice ring which has lured more than 40 girls from the Illinois State Training home at Geneva, to houses of prostitution.

Scully said in Springfield last evening that he would go before the Cook county grand jury today to present evidence which would show that the ring, headed by a Negro pander, has been operating for more than two years. Many of the girls who were persuaded to flee from the Geneva home were white, according to Scully. Most of them were placed in vice resorts frequented by Negroes or orientals, he said.

26 Prisoners Seized.

The superintendent said that the actual head of the ring still is at large although 26 prisoners, including five white girls, two white men and two Negroes, were seized in the raids. He added that the Chicago authorities had learned of the activities of the ring after one of the girls who had been sent to Wisconsin returned to Chicago for a week-end and was seized.

Plans had been made by the vice leaders to have this girl slain, according to Scully, because she had "talked." This information, he said, came from the girls who were seized in the raids.

The Chicago raids were made by squads under the command of Sergt. Frank Johnson of the state's attorney's office. At the Spencer hotel, 300 East Garfield boulevard, 19 persons including the five white girls and two white men were seized. Seven were arrested in the raids in the other cities.

Authorities here disclosed only the names of the men seized. They were identified as David Young, 359 West 22d place; Angelo Louisa of Coal City, Ill., and Calvin Stone, colored, one of the keepers of the Spencer hotel. The remainder of the prisoners taken at the hotel were women.

Agents in Geneva Home.

The police said that the gang apparently made contacts through girls who had been "employed" by them before being sent to the Geneva home which is for delinquent girls and women. These agents in the home arranged for the escapes of other girls sent there, and notified the vice syndicate operators of the proposed escapes, so that the fleeing girls could be met by the panders.

According to Scully police are investigating a report that two policemen, one a Negro, were members of the syndicate, and gave warnings of impending police raids upon hotels operated by the ring.

ALDERMEN PASS NEW LIQUOR LAW IN SUDDEN VOTE

Legalize Rules Made After Repeal.

Liquor regulations now in force in Chicago were legalized yesterday when the city council in a sudden vote passed a control ordinance which will go into effect in 10 days. The ordinance was approved without dissent after Mayor Kelly had explained the necessity for immediate action.

In the strict sense of legality the city has had no liquor control law since the repeal of prohibition on Dec. 5. A temporary ordinance which lacked legal validity was passed soon after repeal but no other action was possible until the legislature had enacted a state liquor law. This was done last week, so it became immediately necessary for Chicago to legalize its own regulations, Mayor Kelly explained.

Retain $250 License Fee.

The provisions of the new ordinance do not differ materially from the emergency rules adopted last December. A $250 retailer's license fee for the first six months of the year is provided, with the prospect that this fee, or a higher one, will be set for the six months beginning July 1.

Saloons will be permitted to operate from 7 a. m. to 1 a. m. on week days and from 1 p. m. until midnight on Sundays. On Sunday morning the closing hour is 2 a. m.

The council's action came unexpectedly because on Tuesday its committee on licenses had agreed to defer consideration of the new ordinance until tomorrow. Yesterday afternoon, however, Mayor Kelly told the council that any further delay might result in legal complications.

"Taverns are operating without a tested law," the mayor said, "and it is possible that some organization might force wholesale arrests of tavern keepers, which could involve them with the state liquor commission. If their temporary licenses were taken away there might be much trouble in having them reissued."

"Mr. Mayor," asked Ald. John Coughlin [1st], "will this new ordinance allow a man to get a glass of beer without buying a meal with it?"

"It will," the mayor replied.

"Then let's pass it," said the veteran councilman, and this was done.

Point of the Question.

Coughlin's query involved the point of most of the debate in the license committee meeting Tuesday. The state law says that in "restaurants licensed as such no liquor shall be sold except with meals."

The aldermen thus envisioned a situation in which a glass of beer in a restaurant would cost the price of an entire meal. But the new ordinance, drafted by Assistant Corporation Counsel Joseph P. Grossman and approved by Corporation Counsel William H. Sexton, got around the provision by stating that "it shall not be necessary for any licensee to secure a food dispensers' license . . . to permit any retailer of liquor to sell or serve food."

In effect, this will mean that the city's restaurant license revenue will be cut. City Collector Kaindl estimated that the city received $200,000 annually from such fees, but it was pointed out that all this will not be lost because many restaurants do not sell liquor at present.

TRAYLOR RESTS WELL; DOCTORS SEE PROGRESS

Melvin A. Traylor, president of the First National bank, who has been ill of pneumonia for nearly four weeks, was reported last night as "resting comfortably and taking considerable nourishment." His physicians said that, while Mr. Traylor was still critically ill, it was felt he had made satisfactory progress during the day.

Col. James B. Raine, a vice president of the First National and a close friend of the Traylor family, said the banker looked better last evening. His pulse, respiration, and temperature had changed little since morning. The last report on these was pulse, 150; respiration, 32, and temperature, 100.6.

ELGIN LEADERS INDORSE PLANS FOR "L" HIGHWAY

Author Outlines Proposed System.

Enthusiastic indorsement was given the Ickes plan for a system of elevated highways and parking towers in the metropolitan area yesterday by Mayor Myron H. Lehman of Elgin, the board of the Elgin Association of Commerce, and the Elgin Motor club.

John Ickes, chief clerk of special assessments in the board of local improvements and author of the plan, explained the proposed highway system at meetings of the motor club and the association of commerce in Elgin. The plan calls for the expenditure of $151,500,000, to be obtained in a federal loan and grant, the loan to be amortized by tolls.

Three Highways Planned.

The highway system would be made up of a quadrangular elevated road encircling the loop area, with three highways extending into the metropolitan area. The first of these routes would extend west 6.6 miles along the so-called Austin-Kinzie route, the second 8.4 miles northwest along the Chicago and North Western railway embankment, and the third 7.4 miles southwest along the Chicago and Alton railroad.

After hearing the plan explained, Mayor Lehman indorsed the proposal and said he would present the matter to the city council for approval. The mayor said he favored any plan that would give Fox valley residents quicker access to Chicago and tend to reduce traffic congestion.

"I am greatly in favor of the proposed highway system," T. J. Schmitz, president of the Elgin Motor club, declared. "It would bring the Fox valley closer to Chicago and operate to the advantage of both communities."

Toll System Proposed.

Mr. Ickes explained that the visit to Elgin was made for the purpose of arousing interest in the highway plan and creating support for it. He said he hoped by the weight of public approval to force the legislature to include in its call for a future session a proposed law to create the Metropolitan Improvement authority, a body to be formed for the purpose of pushing the highway project to a successful conclusion.

With the creation of this body, Mr. Ickes said, its members could go to Washington and seek the necessary money from the Public Works Administration. Thirty per cent of the money thus obtained would be an outright gift and the other 70 per cent, according to the plan, would be paid off in thirty-five years through money taken from tolls and fees for parking in the twenty-four parking towers to be constructed in the loop in connection with the highways.

The plan calls for a 10 cent charge for each passenger automobile using the highways, 25 cents for trucks, and a parking charge of 35 cents. The twenty-four parking towers would have a capacity of 60,000 automobiles.

WORKS HIS SON TOO LONG, LOSES NRA BLUE EAGLE

Washington, D. C., Feb. 7.—(AP)—The NRA today snatched down its first Blue Eagle in a case involving violation of child labor provisions, acting just as Administrator Hugh S. Johnson prepared to oppose suggestions for a general 30 hour week in American industry before a house committee.

The national compliance board announced a unanimous vote to withdraw the eagle from the laundry of Moss Lugena, Hannibal, Mo., who was found to have worked his son, under 16, more than three hours a day.

"Regardless of relationship, child labor will not be tolerated under the NIRA," said the board.

Authoritative quarters close to Johnson said the administrator would tell the house labor committee hearing on the bill by Chairman Connery [Dem., Mass.] for a 30 hour week that it would be next to impossible for industry and business to assume such an added pay roll load at present.

HELEN VINSON.

Hollywood, Cal., Feb. 7.—[Special.]—Helen Vinson's testimony that her husband, Harry Neilson Vickerman, carpet manufacturer, characterized her friends disparagingly as "people of the theater" helped win a divorce for the movie beauty today. She testified her husband was 15 years her senior and that he enlisted aid of her parents in trying to get her to quit the movies. This she regarded as mental cruelty. They were married May 27, 1925, and separated March 1, 1932.

Council Demands Buses Pay for Use of Streets

At the suggestion of Ald. George D. Kells [28th], the city council yesterday adopted a resolution calling on the legislature at the special session to enact a law under which the city could force the Chicago Motor Coach company to pay the city compensation for use of the streets. Ald. Kells pointed out the company pays compensation to the park boards.

ORGANIZE STATE BOARD TO ADJUST NRA COMPLAINTS

Will Get Cases Unsettled by Local Bodies.

John E. Cassidy, new Illinois director of the emergency council of the National Recovery administration, announced yesterday that steps have been taken to form a state adjustment board of the NRA. The board's duties will be to conciliate complaints of violations of NRA codes.

The board will be composed of three members. One will represent industry. A second member will represent labor and the chairman of the board will be selected by the two. Creation of the board was authorized recently by the NRA at Washington.

Hammond Represents Industry.

Director Cassidy yesterday appointed Brig. Gen. Thomas S. Hammond, president of the Whiting corporation, manufacturers of machinery, to represent industry. Gen. Hammond was recommended by the Illinois Manufacturing association.

Charles S. Sand was appointed to represent labor. He was nominated by the Illinois Federation of Labor of which he is a vice president. The two men will confer today or tomorrow on the selection of the third member, whose appointment must be confirmed by NRA officials at Washington.

The new board, Director Cassidy explained, will serve without compensation and act largely in an advisory capacity.

Government Wants Speed.

Only cases of disagreement which cannot be settled by the Chicago and other compliance boards throughout the state or by the office of the state emergency council will be referred to the board. When conciliation cannot be accomplished either by the local boards or by the new state adjustment board the cases will be sent to Washington for investigation and disposition by the attorney general's office or by the federal trade commission.

Director Cassidy said he had been instructed by Gen. Hugh S. Johnson, National Recovery administrator, to promote a plan for education to the principles of the NRA throughout the state. Speed and efficiency in the government's application of the codes, he said, will be stressed.

TWO CWA OFFICIALS OF LOS ANGELES ARE DISMISSED BY U. S.

Los Angeles, Cal., Feb. 7.—[Special.]—Maj. Donald H. Connolly, United States army officer assigned to serve as CWA administrator for Los Angeles, in the wake of Civil Works administration graft scandals here, today dismissed Daniel Sagor, disbursing officer, and C. V. Kennedy, auditor for the district, and withheld announcement of explanation for the discharge.

United States Attorney Peirson Hall, in charge of the federal inquiry into CWA graft charges, said that 5,000 uncalled for pay checks had been discovered in the CWA offices and asked the rhetorical question "is it possible these were for nonexistent persons?"

Two army officers were substituted for the discharged civilian bureau heads, Capt. William Luplow as auditor and Lieut. B. D. Rindlaub as disbursing officer. A. C. Croft, regular army private, was directed by Maj. Connolly to take charge of the pay roll accounting department. Prosecutor Hall and his assistant, Fleet Palmer, today took up revelations of the CWA graft inquiry with the federal grand jury in secret session.

POLITICS CURBED IN CWA WORK, SAYS DIRECTOR

Despite all the "vague and indefinite charges" concerning the invasion of politics into the Civil Works administration in Cook county, politicians influenced only a minute percentage of the 135,000 job appointments under the CWA in this district, Dr. Martin H. Bickham, director of the administration in Cook county, declared yesterday. He spoke at a meeting of the Hyde Park Kiwanis club.

"The CWA has pointed the way to the defeat of the spoils politics system in our American governmental processes," he said. "This statement will no doubt surprise you in view of all the political charges that have been hurled so freely in recent weeks. But, despite these vague and indefinite charges, I think this claim may be substantiated in Cook county.

"Every CWA project written in Cook county has been approved over my desk and under my personal signature. Every requisition for CWA labor bears my personal signature. I know what measures were taken by petty politicians to gain prestige out of the CWA. I know that most politicians of the larger caliber refused to attempt to use CWA processes for political gain.

"I know what pressure were brought to bear upon me to influence assignment processes. I was threatened by anonymous telephone calls and with loss of my job. But, to the best of my knowledge, no political assignment to CWA jobs were secured through my office or through my associates.

"I think it is fully within the truth to state that of the 135,000 assignments to CWA jobs in Cook county, spoils politics succeeded in influencing less than a thousand of them."

CUT RATE MILK DEALERS REOPEN AFTER GANG RAID

Terrorism Is Regrettable, Says Administrator.

In defiance of a campaign of window breaking and throwing of stench bombs, ten independent cut rate milk stores on the south side were open for business yesterday. Guards were placed to fight off any more attempts at terrorism.

Nine of the window breakings occurred within half an hour early yesterday, indicating to the police that a number of gangs participated in the outrage. The tenth store was attacked shortly after daylight.

"Regrettable" says U. S. Chief.

Frank C. Baker, federal administrator of the new milk license code, termed the acts of vandalism "regrettable," but pointed out that he was powerless to intervene in the local war between the cut rate distributors and their rivals. His duties concern only the prices paid to the producers, he pointed out.

Benjamin Stevich, owner of three of the damaged depots at 11048 Wentworth avenue, 135 W. 103d street, and 112 E. 113th street, said that he had received no threats. Other owners also said they had received no warnings, but told police they believed the attacks were the work of milk wagon drivers.

The other damaged stores were in the Kensington area. They have been selling milk at 7½ cents a quart on a cash and carry basis in comparison with the delivered price of 10 cents charged by dairy companies.

Conference Is Held.

Directors of the Pure Milk association, composed of organized dairy farmers in the Chicago milk shed, and a number of milk distributors conferred yesterday at the Great Northern hotel in a closed session. Spokesmen announced that the discussion centered on the new federal guaranteed price to farmers for milk. It was revealed that steps are to be taken to submit an audit of January milk sales to determine the Chicagoland consumption of milk and cream for the month.

Rest for Jane Addams Is Ordered by Doctor

Miss Jane Addams has been ordered by her physician to cancel all speaking engagements because of ill health, it was learned yesterday. "It is nothing serious, and not unusual for an older person," said Miss Addams, who is 73 years old. "I am resting for a while because of a heart attack which occurred two weeks ago." She will go to Phenix, Ariz., on Feb. 22 and stay there until April 1.

BRITTEN FILES BILL FOR FEDERAL LOANS TO PAY TEACHERS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 7.—[Special.]—New legislation authorizing federal loans for the payment of school teachers' back salaries was introduced in the house today by Representative Fred A. Britten [Rep., Ill.].

The measure would permit the Reconstruction Finance corporation to advance up to 500 million dollars to cities and school districts, taking tax anticipation warrants as collateral. The money obtained from the government could be used only for the payment of teachers' salaries.

"My bill provides that not more than 500 million dollars may be loaned on public school and real estate warrants issued in anticipation of the collections of taxes," said Mr. Britten, "in an amount not less than 80 per cent of the face value of said warrants. Loans may not exceed a period of ten years and not to exceed three per cent interest charges."

BOARD TO HEAR DISCHARGED CWA WORKERS NAMED

Col. Daniel I. Sultan, army district engineer and civil works administrator for Cook county, yesterday announced the appointment of an appeal board to consider all claims by discharged CWA workers that they were removed from the pay roll unjustly. The board consists of J. J. Cerney, James B. Flood, and H. H. Brinker. Applications for a hearing must be made in writing, he said.

Col. Sultan also announced the reorganization of the Chicago purchasing office of the CWA in order to comply with federal requirements.

Howard O. Hunter, temporary CWA administrator in Illinois, said yesterday that he had asked Washington civil works officials for an early ruling on truck hire so that bills for trucks that have been used on local projects can be paid promptly.

Teachers Meet Today to Plan Legislative Program

A massmeeting of Chicago school teachers will be held today at the Auditorium theater in an effort to develop united action in preparing for the presentation of legislative proposals to relieve the city's educational difficulties to the general assembly when it convenes next Tuesday. The meeting will be held under the auspices of the Chicago division of the Illinois State Teachers' association, which has 9,000 members.

BRITAIN URGED TO CANCEL LONDON NAVAL TREATY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Feb. 7.—Cancellation of the London naval treaty with its restrictions on the expansion of British sea power was advocated by Winston Churchill, conservative, in the house of commons tonight. Churchill warned the country that it is vulnerable as never before.

"This accursed, hellish development of war from the air has revolutionied our position," he declared.

He insisted that the government "get rid of the London treaty which cripples and keeps us from building the ships we want." He said Britain should have an air force at least as strong as any power that could attack her.

Capt. Cunningham Reid, Conservative, ridiculed the contention that attack is the best form of defense in air warfare. He told of a new British airplane capable of climbing 20,000 feet in nine minutes [about 25 miles an hour], which he maintained has given defense the mastery over attack.

GAINS 10 LBS. IN 1 WEEK....! Feels Fine!

(Posed by Professional Model)

Kansas City Stenographer Tells How Amazing Mineral Concentrate, Richest in Newer form of "FOOD IODINE," Added Weight, Strengthened Nerves and Built New Energy.

Miss Betty Noever, 67 Palmer Road, Kansas City, Mo.

"I have been under weight for 10 years," says Miss Betty Belle Noever, 67 Palmer Rd., Kansas City, Mo. "I also suffered from stomach trouble, anemia and nervousness and nothing seemed to do me any good until I tried Kelp-a-Malt. After the very first bottle I started gaining weight and in a few short weeks had put on 10 lbs., and I can truthfully say all my trouble vanished like magic. I've felt like a new person . . never better."

Just one of the thousands of actual testimonials that are flooding in from all over the country telling us how this newer form of food iodine is building firm flesh, strengthening the nerves, enriching the blood—nourishing vital glands and making weak, pale, careworn underweight men and women look and feel years younger.

Scientists have recently discovered that the blood, liver and vital glands of the body contain definite quantities of iodine which heretofore has been difficult to obtain.

Modern foodstuffs, even fresh vegetables and similarly so-called "good" foods, have recently been discovered to be lacking not only in food iodine but in all the other essential organic minerals without which strength and health are impossible.

Supplies Newer Form of Food Iodine

Kelp-a-Malt, only recently discovered, contains practically every mineral essential to normal well being. But most important of all, it is the richest known source of the newer form of food iodine—natural iodine not made from iodides or other chemicals which oftentimes prove toxic, but the same iodine that is present in spinach and lettuce. It is the lack of this iodine which experts in nutrition say is our foremost national health problem. Kelp-a-Malt is a sea vegetable concentrate taken from the Pacific Ocean and made available in palatable, pleasant-to-take tablet form. Six Kelp-a-Malt tablets provide more food iodine than 486 pounds of spinach, 1600 pounds of beef, 1387 pounds of lettuce. Three Kelp-a-Malt tablets contain more iron and copper for rich blood, vitality and strength than a pound of spinach, 7½ pounds of fresh tomatoes—more calcium than 6 eggs, more phosphorus than a pound and a half of carrots—sulphur, sodium, potassium and other essential minerals.

Only when you get an adequate amount of these minerals can your food do you any good—can you nourish glands, add weight, strengthen your nerves, increase your vigor, vitality and endurance.

Try Kelp-a-Malt today. Contains no yeast—doesn't cause bloating. Two weeks are required to effect a change in the mineralization of the body. At the end of that time, if you have not gained at least 8 pounds, do not look better, feel better and have more endurance than ever before, the trial is free. 200 jumbo size tablets, which are 4 to 5 times larger than ordinary size tablets, cost but little. Get Kelp-a-Malt today.

Holds My FALSE TEETH Tighter and Longer

I've tried several kinds of powders to hold my false teeth. When I tried Fasteeth I found the one powder that does not thin out or wash away, but "stays put" all day. It gives a most pleasant feeling, a real sense of security and holds and holds and holds. Breath is always pleasant. If anyone with loose-fitting false teeth wants all-day comfort and a real stay there fit, insist upon FASTEETH at Walgreen's or any good drug store.

INSULL'S LAST STAND TOLD BY BANK OFFICIAL

Brown Depicts Days Just Before the Crash.

BY WALTER FITZMAURICE.

How skeptical bankers balked Samuel Insull in his last bid to keep control of his tottering utilities system twenty-two months ago was vividly recalled yesterday at the Insull "town meeting" called by Federal Judge Walter C. Lindley to discover whether fraud was practiced on his court in the receivership of the Middle West Utilities company.

That Insull was still scheming to retain the substance of his power while evading its responsibilities was revealed by Edward Eagle Brown, executive vice president of the First National bank, the witness who told the story. It was sole control of Middle West that Insull wanted, and it was Brown himself who defeated Insull's purpose, the banker revealed.

Brown Sets the Stage.

A ponderous, slow spoken man, noted for his prodigious memory, Mr. Brown spent most of the day on the stand describing in picturesque terms the hectic week of April 10, 1932, when, with the greatest financial catastrophe of modern times about to break, Insull played his last cards.

"We had agreed that Mr. Insull, by reason of his knowledge of Middle West and the loyalty he commanded there, should be one of the three receivers," said Mr. Brown, alluding to the "Black Friday" meeting of April 8 in New York where the Chicago and New York banks told Insull that receivership was inevitable.

"We came back to Chicago on Saturday, and the next day were looking for a quiet place to hold another meeting to draw up the receivers' slate," he went on. "We chose the Chicago club, which was as quiet as a morgue on a Sunday afternoon."

With rumors of the impending debacle being whispered, and reporters scouting every downtown bank, the conferees didn't dare hold the meeting in any of their offices, Mr. Brown explained. It was their fear as well as Insull's, he said, that some fee grabbing lawyer might beat them into court, provoking a receivership scramble which could only end in chaos.

Bankers at the Meeting.

Assembled in the privacy of the Chicago club, Mr. Brown went on, were James R. Leavell, president, and Abner J. Stilwell, vice president of the Continental Illinois National bank; Melvin A. Traylor, president, and himself, vice president, of the First National bank, Samuel Insull and his son, Samuel Jr.

Mr. Brown shifted his huge shoulders and studied the courtroom ceiling as he refreshed his memory of the scene. Putting the few questions needed to guide the narrative was Henry I. Green, the Urbana traction lawyer whom Judge Lindley named as friend of the court to conduct the hearing.

"We told Mr. Insull of our feeling that he should be one of the three receivers to preserve the properties," the banker recalled. "Quite to our surprise, he said he would have to decline. He said his attorneys had advised him he would be 'shot at' as a receiver. He said he would consent only to be general manager."

Mr. Brown recalled telling his chief, Mr. Traylor, that the bankers should all insist Insull should be co-receiver or nothing, "so that he could be held strictly accountable to the court." This, he said, was outside Insull's presence.

Controling Force Sought.

"I think it was in the minds of all the bankers present that as co-receiver he would be responsible to the court for everything he did, whereas if employed as general manager he would be beyond control," Mr. Brown went on.

But hints and suggestions of the desired course made no impression on Insull, the banker showed. They were dealing with the same indomitable Insull who, today, at the age of 74, is still presenting formidable resistance to the efforts of the United States government to bring him home for trial. For more than an hour at the meeting Insull grimly insisted he would not serve as a receiver.

"I finally had to tell him how matters stood," Mr. Brown declared. "I said in a quiet voice: 'Mr. Insull, you've either got to be a receiver with other receivers, or be left out of the picture altogether.' He then agreed to serve."

Next day the group met again in Insull's office in the Commonwealth Edison building where, while Insull lunched on tea and a sandwich at his desk, they discussed who his co-receivers should be. Among names "thrown in the hopper," Mr. Brown said, were those of former President Calvin Coolidge, former Secretary of Commerce Robert P. Lamont, and former Gov. Frank O. Lowden.

"We wanted men of integrity and force—men who would fight back at Mr. Insull if he persisted in his dominating ways," the witness explained. "For thirty-five years he had pursued a course of taking advice from no one and had been pretty successful in that policy until near the end. We needed someone to sit down on him if necessary."

Receiver McCulloch Chuckles.

At this last remark Charles A. McCulloch, who was ultimately named a co-receiver with the late Edward N. Hurley, chuckled in his chair. Receiver McCulloch had not only "sat on" Insull but, at discovery of defalcations in Middle West, had ordered him out, after which the fallen utilities czar sailed to Paris and then went to Greece.

"We didn't discuss all this in Mr. Insull's presence," Mr. Brown was explaining. "He was the most dominating man I ever knew. You wouldn't discuss such things in his presence, not if you knew Mr. Insull you wouldn't."

The discussion in Insull's office included the question of who should serve as attorneys for the receivers of Middle West, Mr. Brown continued. There was unanimous agreement that Insull law firm, Isham, Lincoln & Beale, of which Abraham Lincoln's son was once a member, was best qualified for that job.

Lawyer Refuses the Post.

How far his power had dwindled became fully apparent to Insull at this time, the banker's testimony showed. For Insull, who had once cracked the whip of his iron will over lawyers and bankers alike, could not persuade Gilbert Porter, senior partner of Isham, Lincoln and Beale, to enter the receivership, even though the firm was at the time counsel for Middle West.

Mr. Brown studied the ceiling a moment again. He then brought in the name of the present senior partner of Isham, Lincoln and Beale, Attorney Waldo F. Tobey, whom he described as Insull's "closest confidant and adviser."

"Mr. Tobey was back and forth between Mr. Insull's office and the law office, trying to change Mr. Porter's decision," he said. "I remember that just before his last trip there was something said about 'making a last try to pound Mr. Porter into submission.' Then Mr. Tobey came back and said it was no use."

On behalf of the Continental bank, Mr. Leavell then proposed another Insull law firm, Schuyler, Dunbar, and Weinfeld. A partner in this firm, David D. Dunbar, had been general counsel for the Illinois Merchants bank prior to its merger with the Continental. Insull acquiesced in the choice of the firm, Mr. Brown said.

Some one else proposed having co-counsel, naming Bruce Johnstone, general counsel of the Standard Oil company of Indiana, who three years before had directed the Rockefellers' successful fight to oust Robert W. Stewart as chairman of the oil company. Insull's first reaction to Johnstone's name was a curt "Never heard of him," said Mr. Brown, but he later agreed to have Johnstone serve.

The names of other Insull lawyers were "tossed in the hat," Mr. Brown went on, the former Illinois Supreme court judge, George A. Cooke, as co-receiver of Insull Utility Investments, Inc., and the former attorney general, Patrick J. Lucey, as co-receiver of the Corporation Securities company. Insull was satisfied with these and the "slate" was soon completed, Mr. Brown said.

Stir Among the Lawyers.

There was a stir among the lawyers in the courtroom, for the testimony was coming to bear at last on the issue of whether Insull and the bankers had perpetrated a "fraud" in submitting the slate to the judge. Attorney Green was jotting notes on questions and former Corporation Counsel Samuel A. Ettelson, author of the charge of fraud, was conferring with his assistants.

MR. GREEN—Do you want us to understand that in drawing up this slate at secret meetings you considered yourselves the proper parties in the matter? A.—It never crossed my mind that there was the slightest impropriety in our action.

Q.—Did you realize you might be subjected to criticism? A.—Well, we wanted to keep the matter as secret as we could.

Mr. Brown shifted in his chair and again surveyed the ceiling.

"The world being what it is," he volunteered, "we were afraid to have our discussions become known lest some lawyers start trouble merely to collect fees. We wanted an orderly receivership."

Insull investors abroad got wind of the impending receivership some weeks before the crash, Mr. Brown recalled.

"Three representatives of the Sun Life Assurance Company of Canada, holding about 50 per cent of Middle West preferred, came into the bank three weeks before."

Q.—Did you apprise them of the receivership? A.—It was discussed. I remember their insistence that Mr. Insull be kept in the picture. They said it was essential to preservation of values. J. P. Morgan & Co. also telephoned us that a Maj. Benson would call as representative of Robert Fleming & Co. of London. He took the same view.

Mr. Ettelson put only one question on cross-examination. He handed Mr. Brown a picture which the banker identified as a photostat of a memorandum to officers of his bank advising them which protective committees the bank might recommend to Insull investors among its customers.

The name of the committee for Middle West common stock which Mr. Ettelson organized, and which the court has thus far declined to recognize, was not on the bank's memorandum.

Stilwell Is Next Witness.

The next witness was Mr. Stilwell of the Continental bank. He computed the tremendous sums which the banks had at stake when the Insull system crashed. His purpose was to show that banks had absorbed such huge blocks of Insull securities in collateral on loans as to justify their acting for all varieties of Insull investors.

The Continental alone, he said, had $28,000,000 of loans outstanding to five Insull companies the day of the crash. The loans, he said, were secured by huge blocks of Middle West, Commonwealth Edison, Peoples Gas Light and Coke, Public Service of Northern Illinois, and other Insull companies' stocks. In spite of the decline in market value of these securities in the year preceding the crash they were still worth $24,956,555 on the demoralized market a week before the receiverships occurred, Mr. Stilwell said.

Pictures Banks' Problem.

Collectively, he said, all the banks were holding 27.5 per cent of Peoples Gas common stock, 21.8 per cent of Commonwealth Edison common, 15.9 per cent of Public Service of Northern Illinois common, 23.2 per cent of Wisconsin Public Service, and 8 per cent of Midland United common.

"The picture was such," he pointed out, "that we addressed ourselves to the whole subject, not to our special position. Many of our customers were banks in the area of Middle West's operating subsidiaries. Injury of those subsidiaries would be reflected in our customer banks and in turn would be reflected in our own bank. Our interest was in maintaining values to the greatest extent we could."

GREEK PREMIER GETS MEDICAL REPORT ON SAMUEL INSULL TODAY

ATHENS, Feb. 7.—(AP)—The dragging issue of whether Samuel Insull, fugitive Chicago utilities promoter, should be expelled from Greece will be placed on the doorstep of Premier Panayoti Tsaldaris tomorrow. A medical report by two professors on the health of the erstwhile utilities leader will be given the premier by the minister of the interior.

"If M. Tsaldaris, after studying the report, says Insull should be expelled, I will effect the expulsion without a day's delay," the minister said. He did not deny widely spread rumors that the latest medical examination supported findings of two police doctors that Insull is physically able to travel.

The minister of the interior announced Insull's American passport would expire Feb. 11 and if the affair is not settled by that date the Greek government would be forced to give him a laissez passer in order to effect his expulsion. A new American passport cannot be issued unless Insull applies to the American consulate which, judging from his past attitude, is unlikely.

Set Up Fund to Bring Legion Convention Here

The establishment of a trust fund of $12,000 to assist in bringing to Chicago another American Legion convention was announced yesterday at a luncheon meeting of the American Legion Thirty-three corporation of Chicago held at the Palmer house. The $12,000 is the surplus remaining from the proceeds of the last convention. The Legion has returned to the state a $50,000 grant voted by the legislature for the convention.

CANAL BOARD TO ACT TODAY ON SEWER BIDS

The sanitary district trustees at a meeting today will take action on bids on a new branch of the west side intercepting sewer system. Philip Harrington, chief engineer for the district, will present a recommendation that the contract be awarded to Nash brothers, which concern submitted a low bid of $1,124,024.

The sewere section, which will be financed by funds from the $42,000,000 federal grant, will collect sewage from the loop district. It consists of siphon under the Chicago river near Taylor street, thence north under Franklin street to Wacker drive and under the lower level of the drive to Michigan avenue.

NEW OUTBREAK IN TAXI STRIKE; CABS WRECKED

New York, Feb. 8 (Thursday)—[Special.]—Although Mayor F. H. La Guardia had announced that he regarded the walkout of taxicab drivers as settled, the worst disorder since the strike began flared at midnight when a crowd of 500 men went on the rampage in midtown. This outbreak followed a day of violence in all parts of the city.

The 500 men began their demonstration at 72d street and Broadway, where they emerged from subway trains that had brought them from a meeting in the Bronx. Jamming the busy intersection, the men stopped more than two dozen taxicabs, most of them owned by companies, made the passengers alight, smashed the windows of the cars, and ripped off the doors.

The uproar lasted about fifteen minutes. Then the crews of six police cars swooped down on the rioters in answer to calls by spectators.

Encouraged by the presence of the police, the working drivers, instead of "getting in" to their garages as they were warned to do, went about their business.

As the strikers marched down Broadway more police cars joined the throng.

Mr. Berman Loses His Faith in Strange Friendly Girls

Irving Berman, 35 years old, 1330 Hyde Park boulevard, reported to the police last night that his faith in friendly and attractive but strange young women had been shattered. He met one Tuesday night in front of the Victoria hotel, 334 South Clark street, and accompanied her inside to have a drink. The drink was drugged and when Mr. Berman woke up last evening his $40 roll of bills, his $300 diamond ring, and the girl were all gone. Her name was Margaret, but the police didn't think that was important.

YOUTH ENDS LIFE AFTER ACCUSING AUTO THEFT GANG

Commits Suicide in Cell in Oak Park Jail.

AUTOMOBILE THEFTS.

Automobiles stolen, 33; recovered, 23; stripped, 4 [from police records for the twenty-four hours ending at midnight Tuesday].

James Royston, 19 years old, 179 North Elmwood avenue, Oak Park, a member of a band of five alleged automobile thieves, ended his life yesterday by hanging himself in the cell of the Oak Park police station. The police had traced eleven stolen cars to the youthful thieves, who were ordered held on bond pending a hearing before Justice of the Peace Louis Gibson on Feb. 13.

The gang was discovered through the arrest of the Royston boy after stolen accessories had been traced to him. Royston confessed and implicated the others. Police were investigating the possibility that Royston had ended his life because he feared the wrath of those whom he accused.

Tricks Lockup Keeper.

The other defendants who were arraigned yesterday are James Kyriazopulos, 18 year old, Frank Lyons, 18, Donald Batement, 19 and Louis Spanola, who is held in the Waukegan jail. It was after their arraignment that Royston tricked Ed Kolze, the lockup keeper, into leaving the cellroom. When Kolze returned he found Royston's body hanging from the cell bars.

Seven cars which the gang is accused of stealing have been recovered police announced. Several of them were found in Angola, Ind.

In the meantime the drive against automobile thieves and fences continued with the grand jury acting against two alleged auto theft insurance swindlers. True bills charging confidence game and conspiracy were reported voted yesterday by the jury against Henry Gusenberg, 5507 Berenice avenue, owner of the automobile, and Paul A. Kuhn, said by the police to operate a gambling resort at 3172 North Clark street.

Fails to Press Charge.

The expose of the insurance plot came when Henry Gusenberg, a brother of Peter and Frank Gusenberg, two of the victims in the St. Valentine day gang massacre, failed to appear in court to prosecute an auto theft charge against one Harry Burns. The latter confessed and was taken before the grand jury by Assistant State's Attorney Charles A. Dougherty.

Gusenberg reported his car stolen on May 15, 1933. Subsequently he collected $1,400 insurance. Some time later Burns was seized with the stolen machine and was taken to the Felony court for arraignment. Gusenberg failed to appear and the case was dismissed for want of prosecution.

The grand jury, however, decided to make an investigation of its own. Burns was questioned and confessed. He said Gusenberg gave him only $30 of a promised $100 fee. He said that Kuhn was the go-between in the plot.

COUNTY G. O. P. FINISHES SLATE FOR CITY COURT

Completion of the Republican county central committee slate for associate judgeships of the Municipal court was announced last night by Secretary Edward F. Moore.

The two additions to the twelve previously selected for full terms are candidates for vacancies. William J. Manion [36th ward], a service man and chairman of the Chicago Bar association committee on Municipal court, was named for the O'Connell two year vacancy. George B. Holmes [19th], who served on the city bench from 1919 to 1932, was selected for the McKinlay six month vacancy.

Campaign headquarters for the Republican committee will be opened on the third floor of the Hotel La Salle tomorrow afternoon, the candidates holding a reception from 2 to 4 o'clock.

PAIR HELD TO GRAND JURY.

Mike Camponi, 26 years old, 2435 Aubert street, and Frank Manna, 18 years old, 268 North Western avenue, who were captured after a chase in which their automobile struck and killed a pedestrian on Dec. 9, yesterday were held to the grand jury in $10,000 bonds by Municipal Judge Harold P. O'Connell in the Felony court.

JUDGE TELLS WHY HE QUASHED SUIT AGAINST HIS WIFE

Municipal Judge Eugene S. Holland yesterday explained why he dismissed a suit for $150, brought against his wife, Mrs. Cyrilla Holland, by her dentist, Dr. E. A. Schmuck, who has offices at 25 East Washington street. The judge dismissed the suit Tuesday morning as the dentist's attorney was seeking to find the case on the calls of Judges Edgar A. Jonas and Edward B. Casey.

The suit came to him by coincidence in routine assignment, Judge Holland said. He was surprised, he said, when he discovered the case on his call and would not have heard it except for the fact that the plaintiff was not present. When a plaintiff fails to appear, he explained, a case is dismissed as a matter of course.

Attorney Henry Balaban, representing Dr. Schmuck demanded that the case be reinstated. The judge indicated he would comply with the request and have the case sent to the court clerk for reassignment.

"No explanation on Judge Holland's part will satify me he did the right thing," said Attorney Balaban. "I had great difficulty in securing service on Mrs. Holland. I had to plead with a bailiff to do his work."

DEMAND BROWN WAIVE IMMUNITY IN MAIL INQUIRY

Senators Turn Quiz Into Party Fight.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 7.—[Special.]—Republican attack and Democratic counter attack swept across the floor of the senate today as the investigation of air mail contracts under the Hoover administration flared into a party skirmish.

Walter F. Brown, President Hoover's postmaster general, again became the center of the conflict when Senator Hugo Black [Dem., Ala.], head of the investigating committee, indicated that the committee would not hear Mr. Brown unless he waived the immunity from criminal prosecution which usually protects a witness before a senate committee.

Reply to Fess' Charge.

Senator Black's declaration was the Democratic reply to the charge by Senator Simeon D. Fess [Rep., O.], that the investigating committee would be unfair unless it allowed Mr. Brown to reply to charges that pertinent documents were removed or destroyed from air mail files.

Senator Fess told the senate that Brown wanted to appear and answer those charges and others concerning the awarding of air mail contracts under the Hoover régime.

"I am insisting that he be called that he may speak the truth instead of allowing the people to judge the facts from innuendo," Senator Fess declared.

Seek Voluntary Testimony.

The Democrats today appeared to be attempting to maneuver Mr. Brown into a voluntary appearance before the committee, while Senator Fess insisted that the committee summon him, thus automatically protecting him.

To Senator Black's offer to hear Mr. Brown any time he waived immunity, Senator Fess retorted that the question of immunity had no bearing and that the senator again was dealing in innuendo.

"It is that which I resent," Fess complained. "Everything is innuendo. The senate should not permit its committee to act like a grand jury and decline to call the person who has the information and is glad to come."

Senator Joseph Robinson [Dem., Ark.], majority leader, asked Senator Black if he had heard Mr. Brown express his willingness to appear. Senator Black replied that he had not.

Fess Knows He's "Willing."

Black asked Fess, who was head of the Republican national committee during the Hoover-Roosevelt campaign, whether he had "authority" to speak for Mr. Brown. Denying that he had "authority," Senator Fess declared that he had "knowledge" of Mr. Brown's willingness to appear.

At the investigating committee's hearing earlier in the day Eugene White, director of the international mail division of the postoffice department, testified that he and W. Irving Glover, second assistant postmaster general in the Hoover administration, received a free trip to Europe in 1931 on the Hamburg-American line.

White also told of acting as the intermediary in the purchase of steamship accommodations at a special price for Joseph H. Bagley, previously described as a brokerage partner of former Postmaster General Brown.

Bagley obtained higher class quarters at a minimum rate, the witness said.

Chairman Black questioned White at length about the tickets he bought for Bagley, but did not dwell upon the trip White made with Glover.

Committee investigators later said it was made in connection with an international postal union conference and that postoffice representatives of the various countries were transported without charge by steamship lines generally.

Describes Contract Limiting.

Earlier, limitation of specification for postoffice flooring contracts, so that only those made by the E. L. Bruce company of Memphis could be used, was described by Frank E. Bruce of the manufacturing concern and Frank McMillan, former postoffice superintendent of engineering and research.

Bagley served as Washington representative of the Bruce company, it was testified. Earl Wadsworth, former superintendent of air mail service for the postoffice department, testified an advertisement for an air mail contract had been changed after suggestions had been received from William P. MacCracken Jr., now an attorney for aviation interests and formerly assistant secretary of commerce for aeronautics.

"It was changed in the postmaster general's office and by me, under the authority of Mr. Glover," he said.

MacCracken and three aviation company officials have been ordered to appear before the senate bar Friday to show cause why they should not be held in contempt for removing or destroying records which had been subpenaed.

5 GUNMEN GET $615 IN 3 QUICK STORE HOLDUPS

Five robbers held up two dry goods stores and a delicatessen on the north west side in quick succession last night and obtained a total of $615 after frightening more than 50 customers in the three places.

They first appeared at the Spaulding dry goods store at 3301 Montrose avenue, where they herded about 40 customers into a corner of the room while they worked. Brandishing a shotgun and four revolvers, they ordered the manager, Isadore Rosenus, 3710 North Cicero avenue, and a clerk, Stanley Kean, 3741 North Francisco avenue, to hand over $350 from the cash drawers.

A few moments later the gunmen entered Michael Polcyn's delicatessen at 3659 Eddy street. They forced six women and three men customers to lie on the floor while they robbed the till of $87. Their third stop was at Mayer Sommer's dry goods store at 3726 North Cicero avenue, where they obtained $178.

DEAN DEFENSE HINTS SURGEON WAS 'DRINKER'

Once Ill from Overdose of Drug, Brother Says.

Greenwood, Miss., Feb. 7.—(AP)—Using a state witness as the medium, defense attorneys for Dr. Sarah Ruth Dean, on trial for murder for the alleged poison death of Dr. John Preston Kennedy, today laid testimony before the trial jury that Dr. Kennedy had once been ill from an overdose of drugs several months prior to his fatal illness.

Still broadly hinting at a suicide theory to rebut the state charge that Dr. Dean gave Dr. Kennedy a poisoned whisky highball at a midnight meeting at his clinic, the defense sought as well to show the dead physician was "a drinking man." This, however, was repeatedly denied by the state's star witness, Dr. Henry Kennedy, who was on the stand for the second straight day today.

Wasn't a "Liquor Head."

"Preston would take a drink, but he wasn't a liquor head," said Henry, dentist brother of the dead surgeon.

"Isn't it a fact that for months prior to his death he drank heavily and was incapacitated almost every night?" asked Defense Attorney Dick Denman during his cross-examination.

"No, that is not a fact," the witness answered sharply.

Dr. Dean, 32 year old baby specialist, facing with equal calm the murder charge and the corollary state attempt to show she had had "an affair" with the divorced Dr. Preston Kennedy, conferred with her attorneys as they touched on medical testimony.

Denman asked Henry Kennedy if his brother had not once "nearly died from an overdose of atropine and hyacin."

Overdose of Aspirin.

"No, sir," said Henry, and then added: "He took an overdose of aspirin at one time. Stimulants were given, including codine. He began to get blue and cold. I called Dr. Baskerville and Dr. Dickins. They treated him and he got all right. They gave him strychnine. I thought I had given him an overdose of codine."

He denied that he thought his brother "was going to die" on that occasion.

The defense sought to show that the incident had occurred at a hotel "after a protracted liquor spree," but Henry said: "I don't recall it."

"Was that the only time you ever felt alarmed at your brother taking an overdose of an opiate?" Denman asked.

"Yes."

5 OUSTED FROM RELIEF GROUP; PROBE EXPECTED

A thorough investigation of the conduct of the accounting department of the Cook county bureau of public welfare under Spencer Meech, when it was handling millions of dollars in relief vouchers every month, is expected as a result of reports of irregularities made by attorneys of the Illinois Emergency Relief commission to the state's attorney.

This was learned yesterday when it was disclosed that Meech and four other employes in the accounting department were discharged last Monday. A sixth employe then resigned. The accounting department and certain other divisions of the county bureau were merged with the relief commission last fall.

The investigation was furthered by the arrest on Tuesday of Carl Harned, 41 years old, 12414 South State street, who is charged with defrauding the relief commission of $1,800 during the 18 months that he headed the tabulating department of the county bureau. Harned is charged with altering canceled relief orders and selling them for cash.

Lebensberger Wine Stock Ordered Sold at Auction

Federal Judge Charles E. Woodward yesterday signed a forfeiture and condemnation order against 28 gallons of imported whisky, wines, and champagnes which make up part of the estate of Edgar B. Lebensberger, owner of the 215 Club, 215 East Superior street, who shot and killed himself after he had been indicted for alleged complicity in a loop mail robbery. Assistant United States Attorney Eugene A. Tappy said that the liquor, which has a value of approximately $500, will be sold at auction to satisfy unpaid tax and customs duty of $140.98.

Mrs. Woods when she weighed 290 lbs., and put her faith in Kruschen

Read the good news about Kruschen Salts which Mrs. F. Woods of Hancock St., Brooklyn, N. Y., generously passes along to help other women:

"I am 28 yrs. old. I've been taking Kruschen for 10 months and lost 130 lbs. I weighed 290 lbs.—now weigh 160. You may not believe this but I have actual proof. Enclosed find photos. I also kept a chart where I kept my weight reductions week by week from legs, arms, bust, hips, waist, etc. I can say my health has never been better."

* * *

What clever, intelligent Mrs. Woods obtained for herself by taking Kruschen—you can, too, if you'll only take a half teaspoonful in a glass of hot water first thing every morning before breakfast. Kruschen is absolutely SAFE—that's why so many physicians prescribe it—it's actually a health treatment which helps establish normal and proper body functioning—keeps you physically fit, active with ambitious zeal for work or play—free from headaches, indigestion, gas, acidity, and shortness of breath.

Mrs. Woods after reducing weight—a youthfully slender—physically attractive girl.

Dr. George Boyce, Colonel Canadian Army Medical Reserve, writes: "During the past few yrs. I've found Kruschen most beneficial to a number of my patients for reducing. The formula is excellent—I can recommend it as being safe, non-habit forming."

Dr. Charles O. Rendelle of San Francisco writes: "The use of Kruschen results not only in weight reduction but general improvement in health. It's in no way injurious."

Dr. Walter George of Indianapolis writes: "Kruschen makes an ideal remedy for reducing weight without any danger of injuring the patient's health."

A jar lasts 4 weeks and costs but a trifle at any first-class drugstore. Imitations are numerous—remember, Kruschen is SAFE—so protect your health—accept nothing else.

DOES NOT HARM THE HEART

Free yourself from the LAXATIVE HABIT

The proper dosage is one-fifth glass Pluto in four-fifths glass hot water. It is gentle, effective and practically tasteless.
PLUTO WATER
America's Laxative Mineral Water
FROM FRENCH LICK SPRINGS, INDIANA—AMERICA'S GREATEST SPA

Physicians Recommend Non-Irritating Flush

Do you know that most medicine-laxatives work by irritating the delicate membranes of the digestive tract?

Physicians warn against this unnatural method. First—because the intestinal muscles become sluggish, lazy. Second—because when taken regularly the drug soon loses its effect, compels you to take more and more.

Nature's Way—a Flush
(The Water Way)

Nature's way is far more simple. It is merely to flush out the wastes and poisons—without impairing the intestinal muscles in the least.

That's why more than 50,000 physicians recommend Pluto Water. For Pluto is not a drug or medicine-laxative but a saline mineral water. The same amount each time—no need to increase it—always performs, does not gripe, gives positive action in less than one hour. And—it cannot give you the laxative habit!

Pluto Water is gentle—but speedy. That's because the proper dilution—one-fifth glass Pluto in four-fifths glass hot water—promptly opens the pylorus valve . . . permits the flush to enter the intestines and complete its work without anxious hours of waiting.

Pluto Water Ends Asthenia

If you feel achy, listless, only half-alive, that is nature's warning of Asthenia—a condition usually caused by the poisons of constipation. Pluto's famous ten-day treatment ends it promptly—makes you feel like a different person.

ASSEMBLYMEN PROMISE QUICK ACTION ON FAIR

Telegrams to The Tribune Pledge Support.

BY PARKE BROWN.

Speedy enactment of state legislation for A Century of Progress Exposition reopening this year was forecast yesterday by the first batch of replies received from telegrams sent to all members of the general assembly by THE TRIBUNE.

The necessary bills on this subject are to be introduced when the third special session convenes next Tuesday. Because of a warning by Maj. Lenox J. Lohr that speed is required, or there will be no Fair this year, messages were sent to all senators and representatives asking them to state their positions on what is tantamount to an extension of the temporary authority granted by the regular session of 1933.

No Member Dissents.

The early replies showed that downstate as well as Cook county is strongly favorable to a second year of the great World's Fair. Out of more than three score early replies there was not a single message dissenting to the proposal. Most of the answers were enthusiastically in favor of the proposal. Only eight said they could not or would not commit themselves in advance.

Most of those who withheld judgment said they wanted to see the completed bills. Others said that while they favored the purpose presented they wanted to be sure that reopening of the Exposition would not add to the burden of the taxpayers. In this connection it was pointed out that any appropriation sought for state representation in 1934 would be much less than that voted in 1931, since the cost of the Illinois host building and the former state exhibit already has been covered.

"There is not the slightest doubt in my mind," said Senator Richey V. Graham [Dem., Chicago], president pro tem. of the upper chamber, "that both the senate and the house will pass the necessary bills without loss of time. The vote in 1931, as I recall it, was almost unanimous, and during 1933 the Exposition demonstrated beyond any possible doubt its great value to the state as a whole."

Extracts from Replies.

The early replies included thirteen other favorable messages from members of the senate, eleven of whom are downstaters. Extracts from the expressions of these senators follow:

JAMES O. MONROE [Dem., Collinsville]—"Will support World's Fair bill. Think there will be no dissent."

W. E. C. CLIFFORD [Dem., Champaign]—"A Century of Progress has meant a great deal to Illinois and middle west and I shall be sympathetic toward any proposal to extend its life."

MARTIN R. CARLSON [Rep., Moline]—"I was very friendly to A Century of Progress appropriations. Will be again, depending, however, on amount sought."

CHARLES H. THOMPSON [Rep., Harrisburg]—"My full support will be given for continuation of Exposition. Graphic display showing mineral wealth of Illinois of particular value to southern part."

CARL BEHRMAN [Dem., Peoria]—"Am friendly toward legislation providing taxes not increased."

THOMAS P. GUNNING [Rep., Princeton]—"Am in favor of continuation of Fair. Willing to vote for reasonable appropriation."

MARK A. PENICK [Dem., Quincy]—"Will favor all reasonable legislation to open A Century of Progress."

H. S. BURGESS [Dem., Fairfield]—"Am in favor of legislation necessary. Would be of great value to Chicago and entire state."

EARL B. SEARCY [Rep., Springfield]—"Have every intention of cooperating. Exposition should enjoy another triumph in 1934."

R. WALLACE KARRAKER [Dem., Jonesboro]—"Favor reasonable appropriation to continue A Century of Progress."

JAMES C. MAYOR [Dem., LaHarpe]—"Favor continuation Exposition without expense to state."

Replies from Downstate.

Extracts from the favorable replies of 24 downstate members of the house of representatives follow:

SCHAEFFER O'NEILL [Dem., Alton]—"Half the people who wanted to see A Century of Progress last year could not afford it. With conditions improving they will be able to go this year. It is still a great thing for Chicago and Illinois. I am for it."

FRED W. RENNICK [Rep., Buda]—"Had assumed legislation would be enacted as matter of course. Am unaware of opposition from any source."

HUGH W. CROSS [Rep., Jerseyville]—"Legislation should be passed."

JOHN M. PEFFERS [Rep., Aurora]—"Expect to give full support."

RAY C. CARROLL [Dem., Marion]—"I heartily approve this meritorious proposal."

MICHAEL F. HENNEBRY [Dem., Wilmington]—"Will gladly vote for and support such legislation for the benefit of all."

R. H. HUSCHLE [Rep., East St. Louis]—"Favor the reopening and will vote accordingly."

R. G. SODERSTROM [Rep., Streator]—"Will wholeheartedly support legislation necessary. Continuation means employment for untold thousands. Count on me to support it."

D. H. McCLUGAGE [Dem., Peoria]—"Favor any needed legislation."

W. M. CARROLL [Rep., Woodstock]—"Will support legislation necessary. I recognize the value to Illinois."

M. F. BROWNER [Rep., Mound City]—"I will vote for necessary legislation."

JOSEPH W. RUSSELL [Dem., Roberts]—"Believe legislature should pass necessary legislation."

JOSEPH H. DAVIS [Dem., Murphysboro]—"Reopening is a real part of our recovery program. Would mean much to Illinois."

FRANK HOLTEN [Dem., East St. Louis]—"Am in favor of legislation."

OLE E. BENSON [Rep., Ottawa]—"Reopening will stimulate business."

W. D. GAYLE [Dem., Lincoln]—"Will support legislation."

THOMAS P. SINNETT [Dem., Rock Island]—"Century of Progress of material benefit to my community, helping railroads and their employés. Favor an appropriation for continuation."

C. P. SCOTT [Rep., Peoria]—"Favor any kind of support without an increased tax."

T. J. ANDERSON [Dem., Monticello]—"Favorably inclined to such legislation, as seems to state using land to minimum."

H. D. SPARKS [Rep., Shelbyville]—"I certainly favor necessary legislation. Chicago deserves great credit."

LOTTIE HOLMAN O'NEILL [Rep., Downers Grove]—"Know of nothing to prevent my supporting this legislation."

DAVID HUNTER [Rep., Rockford]—"Favor legislation provided it does not mean additional expense to taxpayers."

THOMAS J. STACK [Rep., Peoria]—"See no reason why I cannot favor such legislation."

R. J. BRANSON [Rep., Centralia]—"Favor any reasonable legislation that will help Chicago pay back taxes and maintain schools."

Replies of legislators were still coming in last night. They will be published tomorrow.

First Picture of Indian Earthquake Disaster

A terrific earthquake shook many provinces in India on Jan. 15, destroying whole towns and causing deaths of more than 9,000 persons. This picture, one of the first to reach America, shows the ruins of the waiting room in the railway station at Jamalpur, in northern India. Part of the station collapsed on an incoming train, killing a large number of passengers. Natives attribute the earthquake to the wrath of the gods of the Himalayas over the recent flight of British airmen over Mount Everest.

U.S., RUSSIA PLAN WAR, JAPANESE GENERAL WARNS

Urges Nation to Maintain "Strong Pressure."

TOKIO, Feb. 7.—(AP)—Japan's neighbors, America, Russia and China, "knowing Japan is likely to be confronted with various international difficulties in November, 1935, are steadily preparing for war," was the statement attributed today to Maj. Gen. Eiki Tojo, chief of the war office's military investigation bureau.

The general was so quoted in an interview which appeared in the newspaper Yorozu. Gen. Tojo's bureau is in charge of the war office press contacts.

Advocates Strong Pressure.

"Japan's desire for expansion on the eastern Asiatic continent, manifested in her Manchurian policy, has been her unalterable policy since her foundation," the general was quoted as saying. "Japan should maintain strong pressure on the continent. Only thus can she keep at bay the soviets' attempts to advance into the orient.

"Japan's choice is whether she will be permanently shut up in these small islands or take the road to promising development.

Amplifies Statements.

Later the general said that by expansion he did not mean territorial aggrandizement, but general development.

By "strong pressure" he said he did not mean "armed force," and added his reference was broadly to the years 1934 and 1936 rather than to November, 1935, specifically.

GOEBBELS BARS JEWS FROM TAKING PART IN GERMAN ARTISTIC LIFE

BERLIN, Feb. 7.—(AP)—A new prohibition has been pronounced against the Jews in Germany. Paul Joseph Goebbels, minister of propaganda and enlightenment, announced today that Jews may not participate creatively in the nation's artistic life.

At an executive session of the new Nasi kultur chamber the minister said: "I note regretfully that the Jews, pushed out of the other professions, are seeking occupation in the cultural life because of the absence of the Aryan paragraph."

The Aryan paragraph of the new civil service law, which pushed the Jews out of the professions, did not apply to the work of kultur. Suggesting a method of barring the Jews notwithstanding, Goebbels said:

"If any one appears to be unreliable or unsuitable for membership in any cultural organization he can be refused. In my opinion, the Jewish contemporary is unsuited for administering the German cultural heritage. It must not be permitted to happen that all Jews who left the civil service and the legal, medical, and journalistic professions should reappear in the kultur professions."

HEAD OF AUSTRIA SEEKS HUNGARIAN POLITICAL PACT

Fascisti Grab Power During Absence.

BY DAVID DARRAH.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

VIENNA, Feb. 7.—Austria's dispute with Germany, which last week threatened Europe's peace, has been shelved and another European crisis has momentarily passed. Some time—it might be early next week—the Austrian government will send a 300 page document to the league of nations council describing how Germany is interfering with its internal affairs and menacing its independence.

Austria's appeal, it is expected, will be examined by the league council, which in turn will submit it to The Hague tribunal, which might take a long time to hand down a decision.

Communications from England are reported to be connected with this quick hushing up of the dispute.

Dollfuss Goes to Hungary.

Chancelor Dollfuss went to Budapest today to talk with Premier Goemboss about strengthening political relations with Hungary and putting into effect Premier Mussolini's scheme to form an Italo-Austro-Hungarian economic bloc, including rehabilitation of Danube valley agriculture.

As soon as Dollfuss returns he must attend to a serious situation in the Tyrol, where a rebellion of the Fascist heimwehr against the government might break out. Tyrol leaders will meet Dollfuss in Vienna Friday.

The Tyrol situation had a curious growth. The heimwehr was mobilized to prevent an expected Nasi coup. The heimwehr leaders felt their strength so acutely that they decided to challenge the Dollfuss government, which they thought soft and indecisive. They demanded the replacement of the Christian Social [Dollfuss party] provincial council by a special Fascist committee to "advise" the elected government and that all political parties in the Tyrol be dissolved.

Seize Five Professors.

Gov. Strumpf of the Tyrol organized a special directorate of six. Prince Ernst Rudiger von Starhemberg rushed from Vienna to Innsbruck to try to calm down his heimwehr. Further aggravation was provided by the arrest of five Innsbruck university professors as Nazis, as the arrest of judges who ruled it was no crime for Nazis to throw stench bombs.

Starhemberg, Strumpf and the Vienna government successfully stalled for time by saying the directive six could not take control until the provincial council voted itself out of existence. There the matter rests until the Vienna meeting Friday.

A new threat to the peace appeared when armed heimwehr forces of upper Austria concentrated around Linz. The Fascist leaders demanded that Gov. Schlegel dissolve all political parties and set up a heimwehr council. The governor stalled them off until Friday. The heimwehr demands are causing concern in Vienna. The question is raised whether Dollfuss will not find the whole country Fascistized before he can get his new reformed constitution and guild system into operation.

EVANSTON, DRYS' STRONGHOLD, MAY VOTE ON LIQUOR

Evanston, long the headquarters of the W. C. T. U., and traditionally a dry stronghold, may vote this spring on whether or not it will permit liquor selling.

Corporation Counsel William Lister said yesterday that the city was preparing for the circulation of petitions calling for a referendum on the subject. A study of the state liquor law, he asserted, seemed to indicate that the voters had the right to ballot on whether alcoholic beverage sales should be allowed. The earliest date for such a referendum would be May 10.

"There is a possibility," Mr. Lister added, "that the Northwestern university charter, which prohibits liquor sales in four miles of the campus, would fail to hold in the courts. In that event the city would be without any liquor regulation."

FREE STATE PLANS NEW VOLUNTEER ARMY OF 15,000

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

DUBLIN, Irish Free State, Feb. 7.—The Free State, which already has a standing army of 5,000 men, will set up a volunteer army of 15,000 to cost $500,000 annually, according to plans outlined by Minister of Defense Frank Aiken to the dail eireann today.

The proposal was heatedly criticised by the opposition. Ex-President William T. Cosgrave insisted that no power, internal or external, is menacing the country and that such an army is unnecessary. Other opposition deputies declared the new force will be President Eamon de Valera's private army. They charged it would create renewed bitterness, eventually leading to civil war.

All Whisky to Bear Stamps After Saturday

Washington, D. C., Feb. 7.—(AP)—On and after Feb. 10 every buyer will be able to tell whether his whisky was legally produced and tax paid. The treasury announced today that every bottle will be required to bear a red strip-stamp over its mouth, bearing the name of the distiller, wholesaler or importer, state that the whisky is tax paid, and indicate the quantity.

PATRICK BARRETT QUITS AS ILLINOIS HOLC APPRAISER

Henry G. Zander, Illinois manager for the Home Owners' Loan corporation, announced yesterday that Patrick William Barrett, state appraiser for the organization, had resigned to enter private business. It was recalled that in the federal investigation of the HOLC last fall considerable criticism was leveled at the appraisal work. Barrett's successor will be named soon.

HEIRESS NURSE DEFENDS WILL OF DOCTOR IN COURT

Relatives Seek Share of $500,000 Estate.

The trial of a suit to break the will of Dr. Joseph J. McGrory, chief surgeon at St. Anne's hospital, who left half of his $500,000 estate to his auburn haired secretary, nurse, and housekeeper, Miss Mary Margaret Brown, 39 years old, was begun yesterday before a jury in the court of Circuit Judge William V. Brothers.

The complainants are six Iowans, all relatives of the doctor, who were bequeathed $20,000. The remainder of the physician's estate was left in trust to the nurses at St. Anne's hospital.

Miss Brown in Court.

Miss Brown, attractively dressed in a brown ensemble, was in court yesterday. Opposite her sat John McGrory, a retired farmer of LeMars, Ia., a brother of Dr. McGrory, and one of the plaintiffs in the suit. He is representing four children of his brother, Patrick, who died a year ago, and Miss Mary Philomena McGrory of New Albin, Ia., a niece of Dr. McGrory, who was not mentioned in his will and who joined them in the suit.

According to the charges in the bill, Dr. McGrory was of "unsound mind and memory" at the time his will was executed on Aug. 1, 1931, seven days before his death. The bill also charges that he was under the influence of a "stupifying drug" at the time the will was made. The will was "a fabrication and the product of others," according to the bill, which alleges that Miss Brown had "poisoned the mind of Dr. McGrory against his relatives."

As soon as the jury was picked Michael Carmody, attorney for the complainants, explained that in his will Dr. McGrory had left $10,000 to each of his two brothers. The four children of Patrick McGrory entered the suit on behalf of their father, the lawyer explained.

Cared for Dr. McGrory Two Years.

J. E. Hayes, attorney for Miss Brown, informed the jurors that she had taken good care of Dr. McGrory for two years before his death. He said that Dr. McGrory had wanted one of his relatives, a daughter of Patrick McGrory, to stay with him as his housekeeper, but that she had refused.

By a special stipulation made possible under the new civil practice act, the defense was able to put on its first witnesses when Attorney Carmody said he did not have his witnesses ready.

John S. Amberg, president of the Pioneer Trust and Savings bank, where Dr. McGrory's last will was executed, and three employés of the bank, testified for the defense.

BANDIT'S DOCTOR REPORTED NAMED IN INDICTMENT

Dr. Sidney S. Wise, 42 years old, a physician with offices at 3200 Warren avenue, was reported named yesterday in a true bill charging him with being an accessory after the fact of robbery.

Dr. Wise was arrested Jan. 11 after he was identified as the physician who treated a wounded bandit for a gunshot wound. The arrest followed that of Frank Gallagher, 30 years old, and Joseph Lamont, 25 years old, who were identified as the men who took $150 in a robbery of the Holloway Candy company, 308 West Ontario street, in December, 1932.

Dr. Wise was pointed out by a woman companion of the robbers as the physician who operated on Gallagher, wounded as he fled, to remove a bullet from his abdomen. The physician did not report the operation to police.

Woman Hurt in Theater Gets $13,000 Settlement

Mrs. Lila Fein of Pittsburgh, wife of a broker, dismissed her $25,000 damage suit against the Chicago theater yesterday after receiving a $13,000 settlement of her claims. The case had been on trial before a jury in the court of Superior Judge Michael L. McKinley. Mrs. Fein, while attending the theater on May 30, last year, tripped over a chair and fractured a vertabrae in her neck. She was represented by Attorney William Wallace McCallum.

CLEAR UP 1931 KIDNAPING; NAB 3 IN ST. LOUIS

370 Pound Ex-Justice Tells Details.

St. Louis, Mo., Feb. 7.—(AP)—Three men and a woman were arrested today and placed in jail at Clayton on warrants charging them with complicity in the 2 year old kidnaping of Dr. Isaac D. Kelley.

Warrants also were issued for two other men, one of whom is serving a prison sentence.

The warrants were issued on affidavits made before Justice of the Peace Leslie Lewis of Clayton by Adolph Fiedler, 370 pound former St. Louis county justice.

The woman, the wife of a physician, is accused by Fiedler of aiding the kidnapers in selecting the socially prominent physician for a victim.

Three of the eight men named by Fiedler in his affidavits were killed in gang shootings.

Jailed today were Bart Davit, named by Fiedler as one of the men who seized the physician after luring him from his home by a fake sick call on the night of April 20, 1931; a Negro, who Fiedler said was the owner of a farm on which Dr. Kelley was held captive, and a man known as "The Dago," and the woman. Kelley was released unharmed.

Officers were searching tonight for Tommy Wilders, a Shelton gangster, although he was reported to be in Florida.

The fifth man named was Felix McDonald, who is serving a prison sentence in the attempted kidnaping of another wealthy St. Louisan.

Fiedler, in a copyrighted interview in the Post-Dispatch, said the kidnaping was planned in his presence in his recreation place. He said he had his own reasons for "turning up" the gang, but denied taking any part in the abduction.

FATHER EXTENDS DEADLINE FOR BREMER CONTACT

St. Paul, Minn., Feb. 7.—[Special.]—The deadline set by Adolf Bremer, wealthy St. Paul brewer, for a contact with the kidnapers of his banker son, Edward G. Bremer, today was extended until tomorrow.

He issued a statement which said: "In hopes of making a contact, the officials have agreed with me to extend the time until tomorrow night."

The deadline set in the elder Bremer's appeal to the kidnapers Sunday expired at noon today. In the statement which set the original deadline the brewer indicated that if the kidnapers who seized his son Jan. 17 for $200,000 ransom had not communicated with him by today he would turn the case wide open to the federal, state, and St. Paul authorities. These previously at Bremer's request, have been inactive in the case.

MRS. ANDERSON REPEATS STORY OF LOVE AFFAIR

Testimony of her "violent love affair" and financial dealings with Ernest R. Graham, prominent Chicago architect, was repeated yesterday by Mrs. Alma Newton Anderson of the Croydon hotel in a hearing before Master in Chancery Harry Smitz of the Superior court in the latter's office at 145 North Clark street.

Mrs. Anderson, who is a writer, is seeking an injunction to restrain Graham and his attorneys from changing the beneficiary or revoking an annuity bond which he gave her. Under the bond the Canada Life Assurance company is to pay her $300 a month for seventeen years, beginning next May 1.

In two previous suits against Graham, both of which were dismissed, Mrs. Anderson had testified to a romance with the architect before the death of his first wife, formerly Carlotta Hall, in 1923. Graham married the former Mrs. Ruby Leffingwell in 1925 and up to 1932 had paid Mrs. Anderson more than $100,000, it was revealed at the previous trials and repeated yesterday.

Graham's attorneys are fighting Mrs. Anderson's present action on the contention that she forfeited her right to the annuity, created in 1928, by filing the other two suits, one of which alleged conspiracy to harass her and the other libel.

CHICAGO WOMAN CLAIMS PART OF SANKEY REWARD

A request that Mrs. Carrie Fischer, manager of the Damen apartments at 4851 North Damen avenue, be granted a part of the reward offered for the arrest of Verne Sankey was received yesterday by the authorities in Denver, Colo. A total of $15,000 had been offered for Sankey, who has confessed the kidnaping for ransom of Charles Boettcher II. of Denver.

Mrs. Fischer's request was forwarded by her attorney, Leo L. Stone.

"Without her help the police and government agents could not have taken Sankey," said Mr. Stone last night. "He formerly lived in the building she manages. When a picture of the kidnaper was shown her she readily recognized the man. Later she voluntarily reported to the investigators that the fugitive had ordered his mail sent to a barber shop. A watch was set on the shop and Sankey was seized there."

Sankey and his accomplice, Gordon Alcorn, who also was arrested in Chicago, are awaiting trial for the kidnaping in the federal court at Sioux Falls, S. D.

Mrs. Greenwood asserts that she weighs only 119 pounds. She charges cruelty and asks for alimony.

QUIBBLE OVER JUDGES AS WAR ON CRIME WANES

Criminal Courts Falling Behind Grand Jury.

The campaign for additional judges to carry on the war against crime in the Criminal court found responsible officials at loggerheads yesterday. As the officials passed the blame back and forth judges in the Criminal court continued to fall behind the grand jury in their efforts to clean up the court's dockets.

Assignment of the required help is responsibility of the executive committees of the Circuit and Superior courts. The committees insisted yesterday that they have received no formal demand for help from Chief Justice Philip J. Finnegan of the Criminal court. Two additional judges were promised to Judge Finnegan two weeks ago, but they have not reported for duty.

Hiring of Downstate Judges.

The county board has appropriated $40,000 for the hiring of downstate judges to sit in the Circuit and Superior courts so as to release judges for duty in the Criminal court.

Acting Chief Justice Denis E. Sullivan of the Superior court, as spokesman of its executive committee, denounced what he termed "jokers" in this appropriation yesterday. The appropriation, he said, does not allow for traveling and other expenses of the downstate judges and has cut their compensation to $17 instead of the customary $20 a day.

"If the country judge has to pay his railroad fare, his hotel, food, and other bills, he would get little or no compensation," Judge Sullivan said. "I have spoken with several of them now working in our court and they cannot live within the alloted amount. Further, the board prohibits the court from paying what we already owe such judges."

Judge Sullivan explained that four country judges have been working in his court on promises that they would be compensated. The court owes these judges $15,000. The Circuit court owes its country judges about $10,000.

County Board's Reply.

Replying to Judge Sullivan, several county commissioners declared that the executive committees should pick country judges who live within driving distance of the city. Emmet Whealan, president of the county board, said such judges would have to pay only the cost of a few gallons of gasoline.

Chief Justice Denis Normoyle of the Circuit court said he had received no formal request from Judge Finnegan for another judge. In response to such request two weeks ago he said he assigned Judge Daniel P. Trude to duty on the west side and had not since heard from Judge Finnegan.

Judge Trude said he could not go to the Criminal court until he had disposed of several matters pending before him. Superior Judge Marcus Kavanagh, who was similarly assigned by the committee of his court, said he has been unable to report for the same reason. Both expect to take criminal calls at the end of the month.

PROPERTIES OWE $40,000 IN TAXES; RECEIVER ASKED

TAX COLLECTIONS.

Real estate tax collections yesterday were $146,400, making a total of $105,194,664 collected since enforcement of the Kerner-Skarda act began on April 28, 1933. The day's collections of real estate taxes and the uncollected taxes for four years follow:

	1928.	1929.
February 7.....$	8,573	$ 30,813
Uncollected	15,348,220	41,081,223
	1930.	1931.
February 7.....$	25,690	$ 81,324
Uncollected	64,955,102	62,934,214

The day's collections of 1931 personal property taxes totaled $5,778.

Tax receivership petitions against 20 properties were filed yesterday in the County court by County Treasurer McDonough. The properties owe an aggregate tax bill of $40,798 for 1928, 1929, and 1930 and the appointment of the treasurer as receiver is asked under the Kerner-Skarda act. Among the properties named are a building at 655-57 Belmont avenue, owing $5,176 in taxes, and a building at 541-49 Barry avenue, which owes $4,938.

BILL TO INCREASE U.S. INCOME TAXES IN HOUSE TUESDAY

Yield of 300 Millions a Year Expected.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 7.—[Special.]—Barring last minute complications, the Roosevelt administration's first major revenue bill will start its way through congress on Tuesday.

Chairman Robert L. Dougton [Dem., N. C.], of the ways and means committee, announced his intention of reporting the measure to the house not later than Monday. Democratic leaders are prepared to take it up the following day, probably under a drastic rule limiting the right of amendment.

Although originally intended as an effort to revise the existing tax laws, with a view to plugging loopholes, the bill will come into the house loaded down with excise and import levies written in by the ways and means committee at the behest of special interests.

Makes Last Minute Changes.

In all, the bill is expected by members of the committee to realize about 300 million dollars a year.

Putting finishing touches on the tax bill today, the ways and means committee voted to readjust the surtax brackets it had previously agreed upon in compromise with the treasury department. Under the earlier plan, members of the committee pointed out, incomes between $8,000 and $20,000 a year would be subjected to a slightly higher percentage of tax than other incomes. The readjustment effected today, will iron out this inequality.

There will be no change in the surtax rates, the committee pointed out, except as brought about by the alterations of surtax brackets. Nor will there be any change in the earlier plan for a normal income rate of a flat 4 per cent on all net incomes, with an exemption of earned income. The surtax rates as agreed on earlier, will begin at 4 per cent on incomes of $4,000 and graduate up to 59 per cent on incomes over a million dollars. But the rearrangement of the surtax brackets will result in lowering the tax to be paid on incomes between $8,000 and $20,000 a year, and slightly raise the tax paid on incomes over the latter amount.

Surtax Begins at $4,000.

Present surtaxes begin at 1 per cent on incomes of $6,000. Under the new plan adopted by the committee today, they will begin at 4 per cent on incomes of $4,000.

In addition to the readjustment of surtax schedules, the committee accepted a proposal to impose a new one half cent a gallon import duty on foreign petroleum, raising the present tariff from 21 to 42 cents a barrel. A domestic excise tax of one-fifth of a cent a barrel was levied on domestic oil, one-half to be collected at the well and one-half at the refinery.

PROPOSED INCOME TAX RATES

C., in behalf of the government to collect $2,231,156 in alleged back income taxes and penalties. The suit was filed two weeks ago under a law which allows a citizen to bring suit in behalf of the government and to collect half the money obtained in such an action. The motion questioned the right of Read to file the suit.

SONSTEBY SAYS EDELMAN BROKE RULES OF COURT

But Asserts He Cannot Act in Bail Case.

Chief Justice John Sonsteby of the Municipal court declared yesterday that Judge Leon Edelman had violated the court rules in approving a bond at his home at 1:30 o'clock in the morning. The bond in question, which later was found to be inadequately backed, won the release of Lester Weiss, a forger. However, Chief Justice Sonsteby said, his office can do nothing about a violation of rules by a judge.

The Municipal court adopted a set of rules "in relation to bail in criminal and quasi-criminal cases" which became effective on May 11, 1932, and these rules have since been approved by the Supreme court, Judge Sonsteby said. Under the rules no judge is authorized to accept bail in a felony case unless an assistant of the state's attorney is present to advise the court and to pass upon the adequacy of the sureties. But a judge has the inherent power to accept bail, rules or no rules, and whether or not the state's attorney is represented, Judge Sonsteby said.

False Statements Revealed.

An investigation by the state's attorney's office disclosed that the schedule approved by Judge Edelman contained many false statements and that the property offered was inadequate as surety, being heavily encumbered as well as of insufficient value. Weiss, who defrauded several banks by means of forged checks, failed to appear in court and is believed to have fled from the city.

"I shall be happy to coöperate with the state's attorney in the investigation of the Weiss bond and in all matters that will tend to eliminate the future acceptance of bonds with insufficient surety," said Chief Justice Sonsteby. "But I can do nothing about Judge Edelman. We have no provisions for punishing a judge who violates the rules of court."

It is reported that Robert Marcus, a professional bondsman who boasts of having the protection and political influence of William Skidmore, arranged for the straw bond. Marcus is to be one of those taken before the grand jury when that body investigates the affair, the state's attorney's office declared.

Sentenced in Bail Case.

Municipal Judge Harold P. O'Connell had a somewhat similar case before him yesterday. Mrs. Clara Radice, 39 years old, 1630 South 17th avenue, Maywood, the mother of six children, admitted she had sworn falsely in giving bail for an alleged robber, Jack Kaufman, on Dec. 6. She was induced to do so by a professional bondsman, she said, and was given $100.

Judge O'Connell sentenced her to 30 days' imprisonment, but granted her probation because she had aided the police in recapturing Kaufman.

SONSTEBY PLAN TO RAISE COURT FEES ATTACKED

Judge Jonas Assails Budget Increase.

Municipal Judge Edgar A. Jonas issued a statement yesterday in which he criticized Chief Justice Sonsteby for supporting a proposal to increase the Municipal court fees and for not curtailing court expenditures. An ordinance providing for the fee increase has been approved by 27 of the judges and now is pending before the city council.

Judge Jonas pointed out that for 1933 the council allotted $1,984,189 to the court, but for this year Judge Sonsteby has asked $2,475,471. Of this $491,282 increase the chief justice's office would use $83,495 and the remainder would go to the offices of the bailiff and clerks of the court. No salary reductions for judges or court employes are contemplated in the chief justice's appropriation request.

Jonas Assails Expenses.

"The proposed expenses for Sonsteby's office are beyond all reason," said Judge Jonas. "He now has seven assistants, while the law allows him only six. The aldermen know or should know that the outcry against pay cuts is plain political humbug.

"I am opposed to the increase in court fees. The proposal is merely a method of gouging money from the taxpayers and poor people of the city. The people who come to our court generally are poor. They seek redress in a poor man's court and they should not have to help pay for favored political henchmen."

Sonsteby Declines Debate.

Chief Justice Sonsteby refused to comment on Judge Jonas' charges other than to remark: "The appropriations are up to the city council and the corporation counsel has approved the legality of everything pertaining to my office."

In Springfield the state Supreme court yesterday granted judges of the Superior court of Cook county the right to file mandamus proceedings against the county board to compel payment of their back salaries. The judges allege that the county board reduced their pay illegally.

THE WEISS BOND AFFAIR.

Chief Justice Sonsteby's acceptance of the state's attorney's invitation to improve the safeguard against improper bail bond approvals is commendable and, it is to be hoped, will bring practical results. Conditions have improved of late, but the Weiss affair indicates that improvements are needed. What these are to be must be left to the authorities immediately concerned, at least until further legislation, if any is needed, is procured. The Weiss case seems to have been the result of a neglect of the rules established in the Municipal court for bond approvals; but while the law authorizes judges of all courts of the county to approve bonds, judges who ignore the rules should be within the restraint and discipline of the courts of which they are members.

Under the most favorable interpretation that can be placed upon the Weiss case, it is disgraceful. That a judge should get out of his bed at 1:30 a. m. to approve a bond in a serious criminal case, without inquiry or consultation with the prosecuting authorities, is difficult to explain or justify on any respectable grounds of judicial duty or procedure. The only credible implications are malodorous and should be thoroughly investigated. The community has been too well informed in recent years of the influences at work upon the administration of the criminal law for the defeat of justice to demand anything less than the fullest possible clarification of this incident.

SPEAKING OF FOOLISH EXPENDITURES.

The proposal to build a tower 2,000 feet high in connection with the World's Fair will probably be rejected by the PWA as outlandish, but as a matter of fact the chances that such a structure would pay for itself are pretty fair. A lot of people would pay good money to see what Chicago looks like from an elevation of 2,000 feet. A lot more might be willing to pay a price to get out of the noise, smoke and heat of the city. There is some chance, in short, that the taxpayers would get at least some of their money back from the tower. That's a lot more than they will ever get from Boulder dam and the Tennessee Valley extravagances which are going to cost vastly more.

THE BATTLE OF PARIS.

There is no disposition in America to minimize the importance of recent events in Paris.

Ordinarily, street demonstrations are of concern only to the police, the members of the mob and such innocent bystanders as happen to get their heads in the path of a flying brick. Every great city has known such incidents. They are generally picturesque, sometimes as bloody as this one, but seldom important.

This one appears to be tremendously important not only for Paris and France but for the western world. The wave of Fascism and absolutism, the cult of the state and its corollary, the degradation of the individual, have swept on western Europe from the east and south. Switzerland, France, Holland, Belgium, and the Scandinavian countries are on the frontier. If France, the largest and strongest of them, is taken by the mob and goes Fascist, the cause of human liberty may suffer a blow from which it will not recover for many years.

Perhaps what we are observing will come to be regarded as one of the decisive struggles of history. Attila is before Chalons. The Moslems are at Tours. The Turks are at Vienna. The events of the next few days may determine the high-water mark of the latest oriental invasion of the western world.

THE TREATY NAVY.

Before the Washington naval conference the American navy was on the way to becoming the most powerful in the world. As a consequence of the scrapping of the battleships and battle cruisers under construction or contemplated in 1921 our navy is a poor second. We have a far less efficient fleet than we would have had and we have by no means allayed the bitter rivalries which the treaty was intended to end for all time.

Candid apologists for the treaty admit all this, but assert that at any rate a great deal of money has been saved. Even this claim has now been effectively disproved in an analysis of naval costs by Capt. Charles Conard, to be found in the current number of the United States Naval Institute Proceedings. The American navy contemplated before the Washington conference, according to Capt. Conard's reckoning, would have cost some 356 million dollars to complete. The cost of the treaty navy will be close to 380 million dollars, based on a most conservative calculation, as the latest naval estimates plainly show. Two items in the bill are particularly interesting. It has cost 65 million dollars merely to modernize our old battleships. The fleet of 10,000 ton 8 inch cruisers is costing well over 200 million dollars, and to this figure might be added the cost of the fleet of 6 inch cruisers, for which Capt. Conard offers no estimates. Both cruiser types are exceedingly expensive ships to build precisely because of the artificial limitation on their size imposed by the treaty. The designers have been led to use the most expensive alloys and construction methods to achieve a maximum of speed and offensive and defensive power within the arbitrary tonnage limit. Even then the new cruisers are not especially well adapted to our peculiar requirements. The treaty ships are, at best, a compromise.

Capt. Conard thinks it would be better to limit by treaty the sums which each nation may spend upon new construction than to limit the numbers and physical characteristics of the ships. The suggestion is scarcely worth considering in a world in which the purchasing power of dollars, yen and pounds sterling is continually being changed.

GOVERNMENT AS IT IS NOT.

Students of politics can learn a great deal from the failure of the Democratic organization to nominate Mr. J. L. Jacobs to succeed himself as county assessor.

The successive breakdowns of the assessing machinery finally led to its complete reconstruction at the hands of the legislature. The board of assessors was abolished and replaced by a single assessor. Mr. Jacobs was appointed to the office by President Whealan of the county board, though it was never a secret that the late Mayor Cermak really dictated the appointment. Mr. Jacobs was to serve until the 1934 election of county officers, when his successor was to be chosen by vote of the people.

Mr. Jacobs was known to be an honest man before he became assessor and he is still known to be an honest man, a state of facts which is sufficiently unusual in the annals of property assessment in this community to merit mention. Mr. Jacobs is not only honest; he has also shown himself to be extraordinarily competent. There is not and never will be an assessment of a million parcels of real estate which perfectly reflects the relative values of all of them, but Cook county in our time has never had an assessment as accurate as Mr. Jacobs'. The accomplishment was the more praiseworthy in view of the fact that Mr. Jacobs' work was done in a period of almost unprecedented disorganization in the real estate market, when there were few transfers to serve as a guide to value and those were for much the most part distress sales.

The improvement in the quality of primary assessments in this community has had a number of important results. For one thing, it freed citizens, for the time at least, from a particularly vicious form of political blackmail. For another, it encouraged the payment of taxes by property owners who had been outraged to the point of nonpayment by inequalities in earlier assessments. Perhaps most important of all, from the short-term view at any rate, was the improvement which the assessor helped bring about in the credit of the local governments. As long as prospective lenders had reason to fear that a whole assessment would be thrown out for fraud, with the result that tax collections might be delayed for months or years, the credit of the local governments was all but destroyed. No banker or investor wants to lend money in times like these when he has any doubts about the time of repayment. Municipal credit is still far from what it should be, but the improvement resulting from a reduction in public expenditures has not been retarded by a tax roll which would not stand the test of the courts.

No one ever gave Mr. Jacobs a medal for tact, but he has minded the public's business with great fidelity. Politicians and property owners are therefore not indebted to him for favors. Neither has he blackmailed them with threats of extortionate assessments. Therefore politics has no use for him.

If government were what those who believe in its extension imagine it to be, Mr. Jacobs would have been the unanimous nominee of both party organizations to succeed himself.

PORTO RICO'S NEW GOVERNOR.

The new governor of Porto Rico, Maj. Gen. Blanton Winship, U. S. A., retired, has taken office. There was a distinctively military note in his inauguration. More soldiers than usual participated. The first man to be received by the new governor was the commanding officer of the troops stationed in the territory. The general's own bearing and words were soldierly.

The governor showed himself a stickler for order, discipline and precision, qualities which should prove useful in his new office. The fact that he is not only a military man but also a lawyer was not so apparent at the inauguration but will appear as his work progresses. He will be firm but he will also confine his acts within the sphere fixed for him by law. Few men in the country are as well qualified for the difficult post he has assumed.

FUTILE POLICY.

[The Dallas Morning News.]

The movement in congress to enact retaliatory legislation against foreign debt defaulters will meet with popular approval, but in the light of history it will probably prove to be poor policy.

In the first place, such retaliatory measures will not put sufficient pressure upon foreign defaulters to increase payments to this country. These defaulters are not expecting to borrow from us under present conditions, with some few exceptions where especial arrangements are being made. In the second place, there are so many degrees of blameworthiness among the defaulters and there are so many contingencies that may arise to hamper our own international policies in other matters that it is very doubtful whether an equitable and wise measure of reprisal can be framed. Even in the first draft of the bill the government has made an exception on the ground that the treasury must not be limited in the handling of the tentative $2,000,000,000 stabilization fund. Then, again, there is the question of whether countries now making token payments shall be placed under the ban, and whether countries owing private citizens of this country shall be excepted. When the bill has become a law, if it does, other embarrassing questions will arise.

Conditions are not normal. The whole world is in default. The congress that is passing the measure for retaliation against foreign defaulters is the same that has given the President power to confiscate half of the value of the privately held gold of this country; it is the same congress that has voided gold contracts. We might as well put these trying times down as the "Age of Spilled Milk" and quit crying. Constructive effort to collect foreign debts should be continued, but gestures toward petty reprisals will get us nothing.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

Here to the Line, let the quips fall where they may.

"I TOOK BASEBALL too seriously," said the great Ty Cobb at a dinner in San Francisco the other night. He was looking back at the days when he was the demon outfielder of the Detroit Tigers, and he lamented that he had been a little too rough and tough and missed some of the bigger and finer things that were around him in those days.

But don't we all? Don't we take whatever we're called on to do, writing books, politics, broadcasting, the law, beating the bass drum in the orchestra, society, the depression, NRA, CWA, home and fireside, don't we take them all too seriously? Must we go plunging and plowing and fighting and raging and tearing through the tasks and the duties we have to do and not until we get old and retire will recognize, as Ty Cobb did, that we took things too seriously and that we'd have been a lot happier and made others happier if we hadn't strained quite so hard? The answer is yes. Ty Cobb's words won't check us a particle. The only trouble is that we'll take retirement and old age seriously, too, and keep on snorting and charging around until we find ourselves in a boat on the river Styx and we hear old man Charon say: "Fares, please. Move forward in the boat; there's plenty of room up front."

CHICAGO DAWN.

These city cañons, emptied by the night
And echoless at dawn, emerge from sleep:
From coverlet of mist these towers creep
To stamp a silhouette on growing light.
The gently breathing lake stirs with the slight
Dawn wind; the first seagull patrols the deep
And circles to the pier where dim ships keep.
Another roaring city day asserts its might.

But I would rather watch the urgent dawn
Compel the shadows from the forest floor,
Or feel the first faint stir when night is gone
From wheat fields where the brown larks, singing, soar.

Chicago turrets are with beauty drawn,
But Phoebus brings first kiss to cottage door.

WHAT THE AMERICAN NEWSPAPERS really ought to do is to run a Fairbanks page every day. Then those who want to can read the thing forward and backward and gloat over the pretty pictures to their hearts' content, and those who absolutely refuse to get all het up over the doings of the Fairbankses could hold the nose firmly with the left hand while with the right hand they carried that page gently but firmly over to the fireplace.

A CHICAGO WOMAN is asking for divorce because she says that in 27 years her husband never relaxed enough to call her by her first name or ever address her except as "Mrs. Rowland." It's hard to please 'em! Most wives are addressed as "say," or, when the husband is more talkative, as "say, you." Or else they call her "mamma." In speaking of his wife it is generally customary to refer to her as "the missus," "the mamma," "my good wife," or "the little woman." The "little woman" thing seems to make 'em maddest, and it's strange that no lady has yet asked a divorce on those grounds.

LATEST NEWS FROM PARIS.

PARIS, France, Feb. 7.—[By Our Own Very Special Correspondent.]—All morning, since nine, there has been a cry everywhere: To the Chamber of Deputies! Woe to thee, Doumergue, if you do not, taking some firm decision, rule circumstances! Soft speech will not serve; machine guns are questionable; but hovering between the two is unquestionable. Ever wilder swells the tide of men; their infinite hum waxing ever louder into imprecations, perhaps into crackle of stray revolvers. A slight sputter; which has kindled the too combustible chaos; made it a roaring fire-chaos! Bursts forth insurrection at sight of its own blood (for there were deaths by that sputter of fire), into endless rolling explosions of rifles. On, then, all Frenchmen that have hearts in your bodies! Roar with all your throats, of cartilage and metal, ye Communists and Royalists! Stir spasmodically whatsoever of utmost faculty is in you, soul, body, or spirit; for it is the hour! Paris wholly has got to the acme of its frenzy; whirled, all ways, by panic madness. At every street barricade there whirls simmering a minor whirlpool,—strengthening the barricade, since God knows what is coming; and all minor whirlpools play distractedly around into that grand Fire-Maelstrom which is lashing around the Chamber of Deputies and the Place de la Concorde.

Very privately, our own special correspondent who wrote this thrilling description of the street fighting in Paris is an Englishman, Thomas Carlyle. As a matter of fact, he was describing the storming of the Bastille July 13 and 14, 1789. Naturally we had to change the Bastille to the Chamber of Deputies, and grapeshot and muskets to revolvers, rifles, and machine guns in order to bring Mr. Carlyle's story up to date. But one really gets a wonderful idea of what is happening right now in Paris by rereading Carlyle's "French Revolution." History is repeating itself, and you can't find a better reporter of what's going on in Paris than our very special correspondent, Thomas Carlyle.

WHY THE PROBLEM CHILD?

WHEN a parent tries to understand why his child behaves in a certain way he should always give thought to the personalities of the parents, including the one that is doing the thinking. In weighing the inherited peculiarities it is proper to go outside the immediate family and to consider the gift of a grandparent. Perhaps some trait that is not easily understood is more readily recognized in the mixture of traits found in some uncle, aunt, cousin, brother, or sister.

The weighing should go beyond questions of inheritance. It should include the influence of the home. What has been the effect of association between this child and the parents, and the brothers and sisters? Is it and has it been a wholesome home for children?

Nor should the influence of playmates outside the home be left out of consideration. If the child is a little older the great influence of school, playground, and the considerable influence of the schoolroom and teachers are to be weighed.

The term weighed is used because it is thought that nearly all parents know most of the facts and what is needed is to weigh them. The parent should do this with all the children—the satisfactory and those that present problems. If the inheritance and the home influence and training have resulted in a child with a good personality the parent has a right to the reward which follows weighing the influences responsible.

Dr. Arthur Berk and associates in the Massachusetts department of mental diseases undertook an investigation to discover just how much of the opinions such as those just given are founded on fact. They studied the parents and the homes of a large number of problem children. The general conclusion was that, in these children, some of the trouble lay with poor personalities of the parents, and some with bad home influences. If a child with such antecedents was removed from the home and kept elsewhere until his problem was solved for the time, he was quite apt to relapse when returned to his own home, or again put under the control of his parents.

In a series of 68 parents of problem children it was found that 21 had normal personalities, 9 were neurasthenics, 8 had psychopathic personalities, 7 were normal-dull, 5 were hysterics, 4 were maniacs, 1 was a paranoid, 1 was a schizoid, and 9 showed situational neurosis. Of the total number of parents investigated, 72 per cent revealed abnormal personalities. This caused Dr. Berk to recommend that when a child is brought into a personality clinic his parents come with him; that the study of the child's personality be supplemented by a study of the parents and of the home from which the child came; that the parents be given proper mental and social training and treatment at the same time the child is being straightened out.

DUE TO SOME WORRY.

H. B. writes: I am a normal, healthy girl of 16, but I have trouble with sleeping. I do not keep the steam on and I always have the window partly open. There is a large rubber plant in my room, but as that is near the open window I do not think that is the cause of my sleeplessness. I get to sleep all right, but then I wake up again in the middle of the night and, try as hard as I can, I can't fall asleep. This has been going on now for several weeks and it is very annoying. Only once or twice a week do I sleep the whole night through without waking up. In my recent school health examination I received 99 by the school doctor. I am seldom ill and I never have pains.

REPLY.

Why blame the rubber plant? You go to bed with some worry or some thoughts on your mind. You sleep until the edge is off your fatigue. Then your mind or your emotions drop into the rut where the trouble lies and the one or the other, whichever it is, awakens you.

It looks like your trouble is too much study. If so, let your lessons take care of themselves for a while. Learn to forget and to relax. That's all you need.

NOT DANGEROUS.

M. S. writes:

1. Is it dangerous to sleep on the left side? My brother did so and later complained of severe pain around the heart.
2. A beauty expert told me to keep finger nails in a point shape by squeezing the tips of fingers. Can something develop from this squeezing?

REPLY.

1. No.
2. No.

HIVES.

Mrs. A. L. M. writes: After a very trying experience with an obstinate case of hives a physician cured me with injections of pituitan, the kind used in labor cases. I had one injection daily for one week, then three times a week for a week, and then once a week for a month. I have never been bothered with hives since. I know of other cases cured by this method.

PARING CHEESE.

T. A. A. writes: My wife has the foolish idea that the rind on cheese, particularly Swiss, is poisonous. So she cuts away about an inch of it.

REPLY.

There is no reason for cutting away any part of the rind except it be the outer, say, one-eighth inch. The very outer part is liable to have picked up something unwholesome.

WART ON HAND.

D. W. writes: I am a girl 14 years of age and have a wart on my hand. I had two other warts and used iodine and got rid of them. I used iodine on this wart but it did not go away.

REPLY.

Burn it off with a hot needle or with caustic, or have your physician burn it off with an electric needle or electric spark.

FILING WILL.

Berwyn, Ill., Feb. 1.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—My father passed away and I am without funds and would like some advice. 1. How soon should a will be filed in Probate court? 2. Is there a penalty for delay over a certain time? 3. If the rest of the children agree not to file is there a penalty? 4. Can any one of the children file without letting the others know? 5. Would they be notified any way if one should file without telling the others? 6. What are the charges for filing and court costs? 7. Only a small improved property is involved. 8. It is kept up by three of the children through agreement. 9. Property involved is willed equally to all children. 10. What is the time allowed by law, if any? O. J.

1. The statute directs that it be filed at once, but we know of no cases in which the penalties have been assessed in absence of taking advantage of the beneficiaries.
2. See 1.
3. Probate can be dispensed with where all parties, including future purchasers of real estate, can be satisfied. The will can be filed without being probated.
4. Any one who has the will in his possession can file it.
5. There would not necessarily be any notice of the filing, but there would be notice if the filing is followed by probate proceedings.
6. Depends on facts that are not before us.
7. Probate proceedings are necessary in order to produce a technically merchantable title to real estate.
8 and 9. No question asked.
10. See preceding answers.

ADMINISTRATOR'S RIGHTS.

Milledgeville, Ill., Feb. 1. — [Legal Friend of the People.]—A leased a farm of B, who is administrator of an estate. Forty-nine acres of the farm was known as the homestead. Buildings were located on it. The widow had a life's use of same. After the widow's death [1] did the administrator have any right to lease the homestead? One of the heirs never signed away her right to the homestead. All of the heirs but one had signed their entire right to the 40 acres to their mother. 2. If I should pay the administrator rent for the homestead, could the heirs compel me to pay rent a second time? H. E. J.

1. An administrator as such would not have authority to lease, but we cannot give you advice of much value without knowing whether you are using the word administrator in its technical sense. If you mean an executor, his rights would depend on the wording of the will.
2. In substance, you would be buying something from the administrator. If it should later turn out that he did not have that thing to sell, you would be the loser just as if you had given money for a chattel to any other person who did not own the subject of the contract.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

From Across the Sea

BY JOHN STEELE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON.—Britain has called the gunman's bluff. The armed criminal is fast disappearing. Fewer motor car bandits, hold up men and burglars are carrying firearms today than at any time since the war.

This was brought about by the simple method of passing a law called the firearms and imitation firearms [criminal use] act. This act became law last November, and is the most powerful weapon ever placed in the hands of the police for their war on the criminals who were attempting to introduce gangster methods in this country.

Any criminal who uses, or attempts to use a firearm, or even an imitation, to threaten any one or to escape arrest is now liable to fourteen years' penal servitude. If he so much as has a firearm in his possession when he is arrested he may be sent to penal servitude for seven years.

Dangerous criminals who carried revolvers are now abandoning their weapons. It is the experience of detectives in London and every other big city that many of the most notorious "robbery with violence" men and other desperate characters are now going about unarmed rather than risk a sentence.

Meanwhile, chief constables are continuing their campaign to reduce to a minimum the number of firearms in the possession of private persons. The result of appeals to the public to hand over dangerous weapons was that more than 16,000 firearms were surrendered between April 12 and May 31 last. Many more have been given up since, but even so it is estimated that thousands have retained weapons who really do not need them for protection or any other purpose.

Still further safeguards against the use of dangerous weapons are likely. A bill may be passed during the next session to prevent the sale of "toy" pistols which can be used to take life. Some of these "toys," which can be purchased for a few shillings, are as dangerous as the "pencil pistols" used by American criminals.

HOW THE BARBERRY IS ERADICATED.

Somewhere, Wis., Feb. 2.—A reputable and intelligent farmer of southern Wisconsin is authority for the following:

Not long ago a large car containing seven stalwart men drove up to the farm and the farmer went out to see what they wanted. They had come, they said, to look for the deadly barberry bush. The farmer said that he did not think that there were any about the premises, but they looked, nevertheless, and after diligent searching discovered a small plant in a neglected corner. The car drove away. The next day it returned, still containing seven stalwart men bearing a small bag of salt which they proceeded to place about the roots of the offending plant and, having done their Boy Scout good deed for the day, went happily on their way.

I might be skeptical about this story did I not know the persons who related it, and had I not had a similar experience of my own, only in my case it took only two strong young men to discover the single barberry bush, and they also failed to bring any salt, but simply ordered the bush removed. I judged that they did not like to soil their hands.

These are only a couple of instances, but similar ones revealing almost unbelievable graft can be multiplied indefinitely. A lot of the people's money goes to indolent grafters, while persons who have by thrift and hard work accumulated a trifle toward the support of their old age are passed by in the distribution of relief jobs.

The favorite La Follette slogan, "Soak the rich," is outdated. There are no more rich to soak. Now the government is soaking the poor. The widow, the orphan, the man and woman too old to begin again are being taxed to death to support the horde of bureaucrats made necessary by the idea that one man, or a handful in Washington, can direct the intimate private affairs of a hundred and twenty millions of people.

The goose has already stopped laying the golden eggs, or, in fact, eggs of any kind, and it is in the stew; and a very thin stew it seems to be. F. E.

POEMS IN DIALECT.

Chicago, Feb. 1.—Permit me a few words in reply to the letter of Aldan Harold Wiley, who criticizes the Negro dialect poems of Edward F. Younger in your columns of this morning. Evidently Mr. Wiley's racial pride has been stung when he betrays himself by using insulting language in a critical article.

Any one who has spent much time in various sections of the south knows that Negro dialect varies widely in the different districts. In my early days I adventured in Mississippi, cut timber in the sunflower swamps and picked cotton not far from where Col. Younger owns a plantation. I served a term as foreman over a gang of Negroes in New Orleans, where the Creole patois prevails. Also I have had contact with the educated Negroes in Chicago, who speak English with no trace of dialect. So I speak with some slight assurance when I say that Col. Younger gives a fine example of the Negro dialect of the Mississippi cabins.

There is a difference in the Mississippi Negro's pronunciation of the word "mule" and the correct way, Col. Younger's "mewl" indicates the Negro's way, though it is not always possible to portray shades in our alphabet. The same is true of "around," which the Negro changes into something very like "erroun'." Also his rendition of "his" approximates the colonel's "he's"—which Mr. Wiley apparently mistakes for the possessive.

I have known Col. Younger for twenty years—intimately and with a deep appreciation of his fine qualities. And I am sure there is nothing "criminally inal entendu" in his dialect. There is no need—indeed no opportunity—for him to "make the Negro seem an ignoramus." The Negro—the Mississippi cabin Negro whom the colonel portrays—is an ignoramus so far as formal education is concerned. But that same Negro, to one who understands him as Col. Younger does—and as I do to a lesser degree—is observant, shrewd, philosophical, patient, faithful, and a lot more things. But to appreciate these you must also recognize his limitations.

I think THE TRIBUNE leaned over backward when it let its sense of impartiality lead it to print a letter so unjust to a man like Col. Younger, who has served it so long and so well; but I suppose that is one of the things that makes THE TRIBUNE what it is. And the colonel, I doubt not, will laugh it off as just one of the brickbats which are always thrown along with bouquets.

CHARLES LEE BRYSON.

SPEAKING OF CARTOONS.

Libertyville, Ill., Feb. 2.—I would like to compliment THE TRIBUNE on the number of excellent and admirable cartoons which it has been printing lately. THE TRIBUNE seems to be the only great newspaper which has the courage and fearlessness to truthfully portray the great injustices which are now taking place. Only time will reveal the true costs of this absurd experiment and when that day arrives THE TRIBUNE alone will be able to go back through its archives and say, "See, I told you so."

Keep up the good work and let us have some more of those excellent cartoons as well as your staunch, revealing editorials.

TELL OF STRIKES AND SABOTAGE IN CLEANERS' WAR

Witnesses Accuse Racket Trial Defendants.

BY JOSEPH ATOR.

How the entry of dry cleaning plants into the overall cleaning business was followed by strikes and sabotage was detailed by two witnesses yesterday in the racket conspiracy trial. Eighteen defendants are on trial in the case, which is the outgrowth of troubles in the cleaning and dyeing industry.

The witnesses were Edward Wheeler, 1446 Estes avenue, and John R. Ross, 1212 Central street, Evanston. The story which they told the jury before Chief Justice Phill. J. Finnegan of the Criminal court dovetailed with the description of other troubles given earlier in the day by Harry Alpert, owner of the International Cleaners and Dyers, 2810 South State street.

In his testimony Alpert told how he purchased freedom from strikes, fires, and bombings for about six months by paying $25 a week, which he was told went to the Capone gang. He also described threats made to him in regard to Benjamin Rosenberg, manager of his plant, who had obtained the overall cleaning business. Rosenberg was murdered in January, 1932.

Witnesses Name Defendants.

Among the defendants whose names were brought into the picture of the alleged conspiracy by the three witnesses were Morris I. Kaplan, attorney for the Cleaners and Dyers institute, in which Dr. Benjamin Squires, University of Chicago economist, was given dictatorial powers in ruling the industry; Joseph Bush Iwaniec, president of the Laundry and Dye House Drivers union; Jean Franks, business agent of the union, and James P. Gorman, president of the Retail Cleaners and Dyers union and labor commissioner of the cleaners' institute.

Ross charged that when he, his partner, and other overall cleaning contractors tried to make their peace with the drivers' union they were told that they would have first to see Attorney Kaplan. Kaplan, he charged, told him that he would have to join the Chicago Linen Supply association, of which Kaplan was an official.

It is the contention of the prosecution that the strikes and sabotage against cleaning plants which handled overalls were for the purpose of forcing that business into the hands of the Linen Supply laundries with which Kaplan was affiliated.

Wheeler and Ross sold an overall business which they had worked up in Chicago at the beginning of 1930, and in the middle of that year started a similar business in the suburbs, which they still operate. Rosenberg arranged to clean the overalls which they collected at the International plant.

Find Strike in Progress.

In January or February of 1931, Wheeler testified, he arrived at the International plant to find a strike in progress. He said Iwaniec, to whom both he and Ross referred as "Joe Bush," told him:

"There'll be no more overalls cleaned in this plant."

The partners took their business to the plant of the Michigan Cleaners, they said. Rosenberg arranged this transfer, according to Ross. A month or so later, however, there was a strike at the Michigan plant and they took the overalls business back to the International plant.

When they sought peace with the union, both partners said, they were told that they must first make peace with the Linen Supply association. That was in November, 1931. Wheeler then described an acid throwing incident a month later at the International plant.

"I was just leaving the plant when three men carrying guns entered," he said. "They forced me to the back of the plant. Then they sprinkled acid over all the clothing in the place. Before they left they asked the employés if they had missed anything."

"Ordered to Make Transfer."

In his testimony Ross added that the transfer of his business from the Michigan cleaners back to the International had been at the bidding of Franks, who told him that a strike was to be called at the Michigan plant. Regarding his conference with Attorney Kaplan, which followed one with the union officials, Ross said:

"I told Kaplan Franks sent me to see him about joining the Linen Supply association. He said it would cost us $50 to join, and $18 a week for each of our trucks. I said I would take it up with the boys."

He called Kaplan on the telephone later with his reply, but defense objections prevented his telling the answer to the jury. He had been unable to identify Kaplan in the courtroom, having explained that he had only one meeting with him.

Alpert, who spent most of the day on direct and cross examination, told of a series of threats which Gorman made to him in an effort to persuade him to give up the overall cleaning and other parts of his business.

Murray Humphries, current public enemy No. 1, who is under indictment in the racket conspiracy case, but is a fugitive, also threatened him with trouble if he did not discharge Rosenberg, Alpert said. Eventually, he testified, he turned his regular garment cleaning business over for a period to the New Drexel Cleaners, in which he afterwards learned Humphries was interested, for a flat consideration of $200 a week.

The threats which he received were followed by strikes or sabotage, Alpert said. He made reference to the destruction of four of his trucks by Philip Mangano and Louis Clementi, Capone gangsters, who were later convicted of vandalism and sent to Joliet penitentiary.

LORD ASHLEY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Feb. 7.—Douglas Fairbanks Sr. was not in London today. The American movie star, who was served notice yesterday of his citation as co-respondent in Lord Ashley's divorce suit against his actress wife, Lady Ashley, is taking a short holiday in the country. Douglas Fairbanks Jr. also left town today.

Attorneys for the 33 year old Lord Ashley, who is the heir of the ninth earl of Shaftesbury, refused to reveal whether any damages are being claimed against Fairbanks, who is 17 years older than Lord Ashley. So far there has been no mention of damages, but it is hinted in certain quarters that a big surprise may be expected in this direction, although, of course, it is possible to settle such matters out of court.

An intimate acquaintance of Lord Ashley tonight said:

"Lord Ashley is nothing like a rich man or he would, I feel certain, have divorced his wife long ago. It looks on the face of things as if he has awaited a favorable opportunity."

Two Caught in Effort to Break Forgery Ring

Charles J. Rieb, 22 years old, 5820 Kenmore avenue, and James Doyle, 26 years old, 6019 Winthrop avenue, were arrested yesterday by Evanston police on a charge of operating a confidence game. It is charged that they are members of a forgery ring which has taken thousands of dollars from Chicago and suburban banks. The gang operates, it is said, by opening a bank account and leaving a bank official certify a small check. The forger members of the band, according to the police, would then raise the check to a large amount and get cash for it.

U. S. TRADE WITH CHILE SUFFERS 90 PER CENT DROP

New Pacts Leave Wedge for Americans.

BY NORMAN INGREY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SANTIAGO, Chile, Feb. 7.—During 1929 Chile bought $56,000,000 worth of goods from the United States, and in return sold $103,000,000 worth of exports. During 1933, according to the latest reckoning, imports totaled $5,000,000 and exports $11,000,000.

Washington and Geneva statisticians agree that this was the most catastrophic decline in any two countries' commercial interchange in the history of the depression.

The United States suffered more than Chile from this collapse, because she had $700,000,000 invested in this country—her biggest economic stake south of Panama. One-third of that sum is in defaulted public bonds; little of the remaining two-thirds, tied up in nitrate, copper, iron, and public utilities, is on an interest yielding basis.

Accept 1934 as Normal Year.

In THE TRIBUNE'S export trade drive it is impossible to accept 1929 as a normal year. Like many other South American countries, Chile was overfed with loans at the time and much of the foreign money was used as current revenue.

American and Chilean economists accept 1924 as a normal year for trade analysis. There was no perceptible overtrading and just that average inflow of foreign loan and investment money which is mutually recognised as necessary for young and semi-developed countries.

In 1924 Chile bought $31,384,000 worth of goods from the United States and sold $38,000,000. The visible balance against the United States was more than covered by profit and debt interest remittances. It is necessary, then, to make this the criterion year in surveying the Chilean field and assessing opportunities for increased American participation.

Will Barter Only Nitrate.

There is no specific line of imports which is held by foreign countries to the exclusion of the United States except where, under recent compensation agreements, Chile is forced to take some particular brand in return for nitrate, the only product Chile will barter. Compensation pacts, however, are aimed primarily for the liquidation of frozen credits and when these are paid trade once more will be subjected to normal market factors.

Chile exports prime commodities and imports all classes of manufactures. On this basis and in normal conditions the United States has led and will continue to lead among her principal suppliers.

Since 1929 Chile has intensified national manufacturing, or what is more correctly termed national finishing—conditions to which European importers readily adapted themselves. This is perhaps the only trade which is not shared by the United States equally with other powers, though it is well to remember that every importing country has suffered proportionately with the United States in Chile's foreign trade misfortunes.

Labeled "Made in Chile."

To remedy this deficiency, Americans must export many old established lines of manufactures in pieces, to be assembled and finished in Chile. Tooth paste, for instance, must be sent in liquid form and mixed, tubed and packed with the label "Made in Chile" in the local market. Even refrigerators and electric cooking utensils must be "national" products—conceived and constructed in the United States but put together and encased here by Chilean workers.

However absurd the policy may appear, it has come to stay. The Germans and British readily accepted the new conditions and rushed in to acquire local factories to monopolize this new trend of import trade. Americans must show equal versatility and adaptability to wrest it from them.

In the domain of reciprocal tariffs, much can be achieved with the minimum of prejudice to capital and labor in the United States and achievements will be commensurate with the degree of American diplomatic effort. Washington already is conducting trade talks with South American powers and to expedite their translation into business-producing agreements the commercial attachés have been asked to report on conditions in their respective territories.

Japanese Leaders Pave Way for Economic Deal with U. S.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

TOKIO, Feb. 7.—Convinced that economic nationalism, on which most nations seem to be depending to stoke the machinery of business revival, will actually retard worldwide trade recovery, many of Japan's leading statesmen, politicians, and business men are voicing grave warnings against the pursuance of such a policy by Nippon.

Determinedly, but without shouting and tumult, these men are setting the processes of economic revival through international trade reciprocity into fruitful motion. Supported by the government, they are studying means whereby reciprocal tariff agreements may be entered into with some of the principal nations of the world.

Pave Way to Pact with U. S.

In line with this policy, an American-Japanese trade council has recently been organized in New York. This is considered a preliminary step to the opening of an official trade conference between the United States and Japan. That considerable importance is attached even to the preliminary talks is evident from the manner in which the newspapers are displaying all news pertaining to this question.

Discussions with other countries, notably Great Britain, have already been inaugurated and have borne much fruit. But it is with the United States that Japan expects to enter into the closest trade relations in 1934. Leading business men liken the plight of Japan to that of America, which also is confronting a world that is doing everything possible to restrict foreign imports. Fortunately, say these men, Japanese and American trade are not, on the whole, competitive, but complementary. They thus see much room for closer commercial ties through reciprocal tariff agreements.

Fear World Opinion.

Behind the apparent Japanese change of mind lies the fear of further antagonizing the world, particularly Great Britain. The threat made by Sir Walter Runciman, president of the British Board of Trade, in the house of commons late last year that Great Britain would be compelled to sacrifice even the Anglo-Japanese commercial treaty to protect its own trade interests and his remark that "that is why we are trying to impress the Japanese mind that it is well to live on a friendly footing rather than to carry their movement so far as to arouse not only here but elsewhere feelings of enmity," have made a deep impression on thinking Japanese.

The Japanese, ultra-nationalistic by nature, have had to depend on other countries for their raw materials ever since the doors of the nation were opened to foreign intercourse. This has irked them to a degree greater than is generally realized and the desire for economic self-sufficiency has been paramount in the minds of most Japanese. Undoubtedly one of the reasons why the Manchuria campaign was launched was the desire to attain self-sufficiency in raw materials.

Two Courses Open.

With the world moving towards economic nationalism long before Manchuria is able to supply Japan with the raw materials it requires, Japan, as much as it desires to place itself on a self-sufficient basis, is obliged to harp on a different tune. This is why, although the Japanese realize that Manchuria will be worthless to them in a world of free trade, they are advocating trade reciprocity.

Two courses seem open to Japan in its endeavors to regain the good will of the world and dissipate the charges of unfair trade methods. First is regulating the price of its exports at this end, something that is extremely difficult of accomplishment, but which, nevertheless, is being attempted with a certain degree of success.

Second, is the initiating of conferences with the various nations concerned for the purpose of entering into reciprocal tariff agreements and other understandings.

Plan Meets Opposition.

Of course, there are responsible businessmen who point out that this country need not fear the world, that it is not having recourse to unfair trade methods and that it would be the height of unwisdom to curtail Japan's exports of its own volition.

But on the whole the adherents of a policy of reciprocity are in the ascendancy. Already, it is pointed out by these men, twenty-six nations have adopted various measures to restrict Japanese trade.

RONGETTI, FREED BY U. S., GOES TO JOLIET PRISON

Dr. Amante Rongetti, who was returned yesterday from Leavenworth penitentiary after serving a three year sentence for violation of the narcotic laws, was taken to Joliet penitentiary to start serving a sentence of one to 14 years for manslaughter. The manslaughter charge grew out of the death of Loretta Enders after an illegal operation performed by Rongetti. The doctor was first sentenced to death in the electric chair on a charge of murder by abortion. Later he was granted a new trial and convicted of manslaughter. The federal case was completed before the manslaughter appeal had been ruled on.

TURKS WILL PAY CASH ON ORDERS UNDER $650,000

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Feb. 7.—The Turkish government is prepared to pay cash for all foreign purchase orders not exceeding $650,000, it was learned today.

Orders for which British, Belgian and German firms at the present are tendering bids are chiefly for hydraulic gear, minor iron and steel plants and machinery for the coal mining industry.

The Turkish government has decided to establish a new naval base on the Gulf of Ismid where Turkish warships will be reconditioned by the Turks themselves. The government also intends to employ two foreign financial experts with the object of reducing the enormous expenditure of the state departments.

SOVIETS MODIFY 5 YEAR PLAN; TO CUT PRODUCTION

MOSCOW, Feb. 7. — (AP) — Soviet Russia has modified its second five year plan to slow up somewhat the general rate of production in the last three years of the plan, it was revealed today.

A reduction from 18.9 per cent to 16.5 per cent in the planned annual increase of industrial production beginning with 1935 was approved. Thus the soviet hopes to be producing 16,000,000 tons of pig iron annually by the end of 1937, instead of 18,000,000 as originally planned, and will make a corresponding reduction in the proposed output of steel.

Plans for a 906 per cent increase in production of the food industry by the end of 1937 were trimmed to 270 per cent.

SURVEYED with an Eagle Eye

Have you ever seen a city from above?

Volumes of close-massed statistics cannot give you the living reality as it appears to the eye of our sky reporter, looking down from THE DETROIT NEWS plane. Here's a city THAT RATES FOURTH AMONG THE MARKETS OF AMERICA.

Who are the people giving it life and vitality?

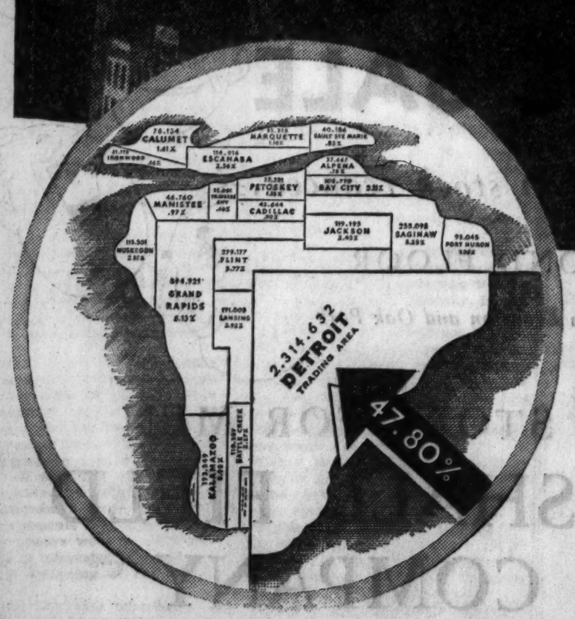
Come down to earth with us and we can tell you, because every day we enter the homes of most of them. We are the chief means of transmitting to them knowledge of today's happenings and tomorrow's possibilities. We enter into their thoughts and influence their actions. We know what they earn, what they eat, what they wear. They are our people. And we are their composite voice and mentor,

In the central area there, defined as Greater Detroit, are 963,071 men and boys; and 874,984 girls and women, a total of 1,838,055 human beings. They constitute a group with great and manifold activities. Selling to all the world, buying from all the world.

In order to reach these people promptly each day, we distribute bundled copies of THE DETROIT NEWS to 2000 city news-stands; more than 500 street salesmen; and 147 sub-stations. The sub-stations in turn distribute to 4500 bonded carriers, delivering no other paper. 76% OF THE ENTIRE CITY CIRCULATION OF THE NEWS IS DELIVERED TO THE DOORS OF DETROIT'S HOMES BY CARRIER. It reaches nearly three-quarters of the homes with above-average incomes. But the circulation of THE NEWS is not limited to the municipal limits. 68 Motor Truck Rural Carriers travel 5000 miles daily, distributing THE NEWS throughout the Detroit Trading Area, with a population of approximately 2,300,000, or almost half of the entire state of Michigan.

CHARACTER AND COVERAGE combined make THE DETROIT NEWS one of the most powerful tools in all America for getting business. In 1933, as in previous years, THE DETROIT NEWS was the overwhelming first choice of each of the five largest retail advertisers in Detroit. These five largest department stores used 132% more space in THE DETROIT NEWS than in the second paper—32% more in THE NEWS than in the other two papers combined. They use THE NEWS to advertise their wares, because they know by profitable experience that it is the most effective means of entering the homes of Detroit and influencing the buying habits of the people of Detroit.

The circulation of THE NEWS is a natural demand. No subscription contests are used to promote it.



Here in the Detroit trading area is concentrated 47.80% of Michigan's total population; 57% of Michigan's wage earners; 65% of Michigan's income tax returns; and 59% of Michigan's assessed valuation. "THE DETROIT NEWS" HAS BETTER THAN 84% OF ITS SUNDAY AND 94% OF ITS WEEK-DAY CIRCULATION CONCENTRATED IN THIS AREA—THE LARGEST CIRCULATION OF ANY DETROIT NEWSPAPER!

In advertising volume—fifth in America in 1933.

Society Women Tell Why They Enter Business

Some Seek to Maintain "Certain Standards."

This is the first of a series of articles dealing with society women who have entered business.

BY VIRGINIA GARDNER.

In a series of interviews with a group of society women, members of what one of them described as "us upper ten per cent," who have gone into business within the last year or two, various reasons were ascribed for their entering what several called "the commercial world."

A majority of them declared they were in business not for a thrill but to make money. They pointed out how their husbands' incomes and their own had been impaired in recent years. Some of them explained that the businesses they had opened did not yield a large return at present, but unfailingly they looked forward with optimism to the future.

Others expressed the opinion that working at something gave them a feeling of being useful, gave them an outlet for energies sated with the pleasures and duties entailed by society and offered an escape from "sitting at home and thinking of all the money we've lost."

While waiting to interview one woman owner of a dress and millinery establishment a reporter overheard the following conversation between the owner, whose place in Chicago society long has been undisputed, and a woman customer and friend:

WOMAN CUSTOMER [looking at a dress]: And what are you doing these days?

SHOP OWNER: Nothing, my dear, absolutely nothing, except work. You know, when I went into this thing I had no idea what I was getting into. I did it as a release from boredom. Now that I've started, however, I feel it's only sporting to see it through, don't you know. And what are you doing?

WOMAN CUSTOMER: O, my dear, I do nothing, simply nothing, except stay home and receive my family at the end of the day.

SHOP OWNER: But really, my dear, what a perfectly charming thing to do, after all. To receive her family graciously when they come home tired at the end of a day—what more charming thing can a woman do?

Two of the reputedly successful women who recently went into business, who are well known to Chicago society, declare frankly that they have become business women "because we need the money." They are Mrs. Augustus Eddy and Mrs. Walter B. Wolf, who is known in politics as well as society. They together own and operate a dress shop, the Rae-Mar, Inc., at 68 East Walton place. The name is from the first syllables of their names, Mrs. Wolf's being Marguerite, and Mrs. Eddy's being Rachel.

"Of course we aren't exactly out on the street," Mrs. Eddy laughed, "but we do actually need the money. I have cut down on living expenses. I've gotten down to bedrock. I've rented my house and moved to an apartment. I have gotten rid of all my servants except one maid. As I have a 5 year old boy, I have to have a maid. He's in kindergarten at the Latin school. My 14 year old boy is at boarding school in the east."

Mrs. Eddy was dressed smartly in one of the new off the face hats of black which brought out her blue eyes and short curly hair tinged with gray, and a black dress showing the new high neckline. She wore low heeled black shoes.

"My feet hurt now; it's good to sit down and rest them," she said smilingly. "I've had to take to sensible shoes like these, being on my feet most of the day from about 9 o'clock to 5 o'clock, and often later. One of us is always here, both of us most of the time."

"Wouldn't it be easier for you to do your own work at home, than to work hard and steadily away from your home?" she was asked.

"Of course it would be easier, just to let down and give up," she replied. "I'm not doing this for fun. It isn't fun, it's work. I certainly believe a woman's place is in the home, first, last and always. It is a sacrifice for me to leave mine. But I feel that I may as well use my brains and ability and keep up certain standards of living, and meanwhile build for the future.

"It would be fine to become a home body and all that, but it would mean I'd have to give up sending my children to private school. Of course I do think boys should be educated in public schools. But you can't send your children to the Chicago public schools—that's out of the question.

"I was brought up in what might be called luxury, I suppose. I've never worked, except working on hospital boards and other charitable things. It isn't easy to work now, and it's much harder in many ways than we thought it would be before our opening last May.

"You know, the persons who have suffered most in this depression are the upper ten per cent. But there's no use in going around with a long face and wearing your troubles on your sleeve, and I don't. After all, we have to be good sports, don't we?"

Mrs. Wolf, whose husband is an attorney, is active in Republican politics, and is considered one of Chicago's most beautiful women. Like Mrs. Eddy, she works full time in the shop, being driven in from Winnetka early each morning, by her chauffeur.

Mrs. Wolf said that clothes had always interested her, that Chanel and other designers in Paris always kept her measurements and that when in Paris she always went to their openings. She is interested in fabrics and does some designing of clothes, she said.

"I really love this business," she said. "We feel that we're in some ways enabled to give unusual service. For instance, we know what people should wear for all occasions, and often we're asked for advice along that line.

"Then, too," she continued, "I've always been interested in the different angles of life, don't you know. I'm interested in everything around us, all types of people and so on. Of course it's a great satisfaction to have women come in and tell us how much they've enjoyed their clothes.

"I'm not in business temporarily. I mean to go right on. I'm thinking of the future. Most of us are hard pressed financially. And it's much harder for people who've been used to everything to do without. Of course I still have investments, but even my bank stocks aren't paying dividends, most of them.

"I have leased the apartment I own at 209 Lake Shore drive. The persons who took it could have gotten others cheaper, but liked my old French furniture. We're living in my country place in Winnetka. And I've cut down even there. Always before I've had four gardeners. Now I have only two.

"My two youngest children [Hathaway Watson Jr., and Walter J. Watson, sons by a former marriage] are away at college, of course."

The large number of society women going into business is "part of the great stride of American women in getting ahead, in proving they have as much business ability as men," according to Mrs. Wolf.

"I couldn't just sit by the fireside," she said laughingly. "I've always been busy with my philanthropies and politics, always worked hard. And now that I really need the money, I enjoy being in business for myself.

"Mr. Wolf didn't like it very well at first. But I think he now feels quite definitly proud of me."

Mrs. Roosevelt Visits Crippled Child of 14 She Sent to Hospital

New York, Feb. 7.—(AP)—Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt bestowed her attentions today on a crippled girl in a hospital, on workers in the millinery industry, and on a group of university women.

Arriving in New York for one of her brief, busy visits, the President's wife went late this afternoon to visit 14 year old Bertha Brodsky in the Orthopedic hospital.

Shortly before Christmas Bertha, who lives in a Brooklyn tenement, wrote Mrs. Roosevelt saying she was afraid of becoming a cripple for life. The first lady wrote back directing her to Dr. Allan Smith at the hospital, and three weeks ago Bertha went there as a patient.

Today Mrs. Roosevelt, carrying a bunch of flowers, stood beside the bed where Bertha lay, all smiles in spite of her twisted figure.

Earlier Mrs. Roosevelt stitched the first NRA label into a hat at a luncheon given by the millinery code, the International Millinery Workers' union, and manufacturers.

Tonight Mrs. Roosevelt was the guest at a dinner given by the Women's University club to welcome her as an honorary member.

Good Morning!

Here's a spy picture that wears its scutcheon with a difference!

The story harks back to the world war. The locale is Belgium during the invasion and occupation of the German troops. And the secret service folk are simple peasants—not the usual suave, intellectual and devious operatives discovered precariously serving their countries. Therein lies the difference.

The heroine is a young Belgian girl, daughter of a café owner. Though constantly in the grip of consuming terror, she valiantly does her bit for the allies while working as a nurse in a German hospital.

The tale is worked out in terse, compelling fashion, and the film has a terrible verity. There have been more sensational spy photoplays — more glamorous ones—but never a cinema strip that brought home more forcefully the pitiful waste of war. You meet its unhonored armies—the beaten down unsuspected citizenry, who, like the French of their class during the revolution, in quaint ways of their own devising, carry messages and build up reports entirely comprehensible to those for whom they are intended. The seething hatred of the masses for the invaders erupts occasionally in terrific local rebellions—and there is nothing, NOTHING these people will not do to bring dismay to the enemy.

Madeleine Carroll as the nurse contributes to screen history a magnificent characterization. She is beautiful and she is real. Herbert Marshall as a German hospital orderly who, it develops, is attached to the allied armies and under whose orders Martha finds herself working is splendid. Conrad Veidt as the German commandant and Gerald Du Maurier as a German doctor do brilliant and believable work.

Sets and scenery seem the last word in authenticity and direction was marvelously intelligent. Photography and sound are excellent.

A sadly hopeful finale succeeds scenes of blistering tragedy.

To my way of thinking "I Am a Spy" is the best picture the English studios have turned out.

The production cost, they say, exceeded that of any previous British film. A case of money well spent. Hollywood—take notice!

A Pleasant View in the Jungle

A talented young artist herself, Miss Janet Busby, the golden haired daughter of Mrs. Leonard A. Busby, is lending her time and effort this week to the completion of plans for the Jungle ball to be held Saturday evening at the Hotel Sherman for the support of the Chicago Artists' Equity. Miss Busby's artistic accomplishments are well known in society circles. Not only has she had "one man" exhibits both here and in Paris but she also has created some of the most stunning covers for two of Chicago's smartest magazines. [TRIBUNE Studio Photo.]

Front Views and Profiles

By June Provines

THE wife of a prominent criminal lawyer was calling on a family on the northwest side, and during her stay the 7 year old daughter of the house was pretty unruly. Finally the caller commented that the next time the rag man passed she would just give her to the rag man to take away, since she was being such a bad girl. At this point the child's mother laughed gayly.

Threat—Guardian—Colloquy—Simile.

"You can't scare her that way; the rag man is her grandfather," she said.

READING Montaigne's essays in bed last evening, pleased at having got to bed early, and pleased also with the white hyacinths blooming on the night table in an antique white china pot, we came upon his discussion of animals and whether they have the power to reason. We were pleased to find he believed definitly that dogs can reason, as we have seen innumerable evidences in our own terriers. Then in the mail this morning was a letter giving further light on the matter. We enclose the letter:

"A short distance from my home is an apartment building with an empty lot next to it. A fenced inclosure without a gate has been built on the lot just opposite the rear entrance of the building. Several small children play in the inclosure during the morning and it is always a delight to watch them because of the dog who is their constant playmate. The dog appears to be a mixture of collie and mongrel, and is not only a playmate but a good caretaker who shows not only human intelligence but frequently superhuman inspiration.

"It sits in the entrance to the inclosure and will not permit a youngster to leave unless the parent calls the child or the child gets the attention of the mother upstairs first. It doesn't participate in the activities of the children unless the children become tired of their games or begin to quarrel among themselves. Then it starts a game of its own in the most frolicksome manner imaginable. The game is a sort of tag. The dog starts a circular course around the inclosure and the children do likewise. Each has the idea, it appears, that it is the one being chased by the others, and they all run like fury to prevent being tagged. After a few mad dashes around the inclosure the dog lets them catch up with it, and the youngsters have a grand time. Then the dog goes back to his post at the entrance, the children having either picked up their previous games or forgotten what caused the quarrel. There he placidly stays, keeping a watchful eye on his small charges."

DICK AAR relays the conversation he overheard in a loop grocery store:

"Clerk, I'd like to get some wild rice. I don't know much about this kind of thing, but would like to serve twelve. How much would you suggest?"

The clerk, holding up a package of wild rice:

"Well, this is enough to stuff three ducks."

"Thanks, but I'm having people for dinner, not ducks."

Lelong Cancels Night Fashion Show; Buyers Are Wary of Rioters

PARIS, Feb. 7.—(AP)—A sculptured silhouette designed with fullness in front and seeming to "float" behind was launched today as the latest note in spring fashions.

It was presented by Lelong who, because of political disturbances, canceled a gala night show and rushed an afternoon display.

Afterward, buyers generally hurried to hotels and remained indoors to avoid trouble.

The new silhouette was based on youthful and slender lines with an oblique waistline higher in front than in back.

Evening frocks of pastel tinted starched chiffon and black, brown, and blue net were designed with front fullness and a misty, ethereal effect.

They frequently had front bodice bows and rever effects caught with diamond arrows and stars.

They were worn with waist length capes trimmed with shimmering sequins or a short, irridescent fringe.

There were numerous tailored evening gowns of white and mauve crêpes and dark lame taffetas, designed with the same tendency to fullness in front.

French Troubles Make Cruises More Popular

Safety in Staying on Boat Appeals to Many.

BY JUDITH CASS.

PERHAPS the general unrest in Europe has something to do with the popularity of cruising this winter, for on a cruise boat one can always head for neutrality and safety in the middle of the Mediterranean or the Atlantic. Unrest or not, however, several Europe lovers undauntedly are carrying out their plans for accustomed sojourns in Latin countries and trusting to luck that the firing will be over by the time they arrive.

Mrs. Paul Healy expects to leave tomorrow for New York, where she will complete plans for her annual jaunt to Europe—she hasn't missed a spring in Paris for a number of years.

Mrs. Healy wants to sail March 7 on the Aquitania for a cruise through the Mediterranean to Cannes and Monte Carlo, where she plans to stay until it is spring in Paris. She will not return to Chicago until next fall.

Mrs. Hugh Johnston McBirney, another inveterate traveler, is going to France more directly and speedily, for she leaves Chicago tomorrow and sails on the 15th on the Conte di Savoia to spend at least two months in France.

Robert Carr May Stay in London.

Robert F. Carr sails Saturday for London—he is in New York now visiting his daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Marston II.—and he will spend two or three weeks in the English capital. He may or may not return directly to Chicago. The Howard W. Fentons are also going to England, sailing tomorrow for London where they will be for a fortnight. They and their daughter, Miss Honoré White, left Chicago yesterday for New York. Miss White is going on a cruise through the Panama canal with the junior Edwin M. Ashcrafts and their daughter, Virginia, sailing Feb. 17, and she will remain in the east until sailing time.

The Freeman Hinckleys and Mrs. Hinckley's daughters, Barbara and Eleanor McClurg, and their governess are among several Chicagoans sailing today on the Statendam on a Mediterranean cruise. They are all leaving the cruise abroad to spend a few months in Paris and London before returning to their summer home in Prouts Lake, Me., early in June.

Others on the Statendam include Mrs. Francis N. Bard of Highland Park, the Misses Peggy and Virginia Wiley, who also are planning to leave the cruise in Europe to spend some time traveling in Austria, Italy, France, and England.

Edgar J. Uihlein to Stay on Boat.

Edgar J. Uihlein and his daughter, Miss Paula Uihlein, are not trusting foreign shores so much, for they are sailing Saturday on a cruise of the Mediterranean and have not planned to leave the boat at any point. They are returning April 6. The junior Caleb H. Canbys, who have one of the most charming houses in Barrington, are sailing Saturday also, on a Mediterranean cruise, and are taking with them their son, Caleb III., to give him a chance to find his sea legs. The Canbys will spend a fortnight in Italy before returning home.

A congenial quartet that will be sailing from New York on the 16th for a shorter cruise than those mentioned above are the Taylor Strawns and the Henry C. Bartholomays. They are going to be away for a month, spending some time in California after their boat has navigated the Panama canal, and returning to Chicago by train. Mrs. Allan M. Clement will be on the same boat, heading for Huntington, Cal., where Mr. Clement will join her, taking the train in a few weeks.

Mrs. Horace E. Newcomet and her daughter, Miss Marion Newcomet, are reversing the order a bit in cruises, for they left last night for San Francisco and plan to sail right out through the Golden Gate around the Panama canal to New York and home. They will be away a month.

Evans-Brown Wedding Tonight.

Gen. Preston Brown and Mrs. Brown are in Panama for the marriage tonight of their son, Dorrance Brown, and Miss Jane Arden Evans, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Heard Evans of Balboa Heights.

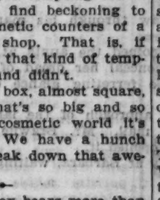
CONQUERING CONTRACT

By P. HAL SIMS

Mr. Sims is universally acclaimed the greatest living contract and auction player. He was captain of the renowned "Four Horsemen" team of four, now disbanded, and has won twenty-four national championships since 1924. These articles are based on the Sims system, which includes the one-over-one principle which the Sims group of players was the first to employ and develop.

THE OPENING BID.

IT'S your turn to bid. Perhaps you hesitate. Manifestly, if your hand consists of a nice collection of deuces and treys, you are going to pass. The equally obvious opposite, a hand bristling with aces and kings, definitly warrants a bid. But what of the prevalent fair to middling hand? Whether you shift the brunt of opening on to the next player or take the bull by the horns yourself depends on one or more factors.



P. HAL SIMS.

Don't misunderstand me. I shall lay down very few hard and fast rules: mostly you will see me tacking up sign posts along the road to better contract. The first sign points in two directions—AGGRESSIVE and DEFENSIVE. Ask yourself the following questions:

First. Does my hand consist of one or two long suits which I can rebid, even into a sacrifice, if necessary, despite my partner's persistent and unenthusiastic passing? If the answer is "Yes," then you have an aggressive type of hand. Your distribution invites a bid, even though your primary trick strength may be negligible. The old story of the man who passed thirteen spades because he didn't have two and a half primary tricks springs to mind. Your hand might look something like this:

Sp. K J 10 x x x x Di. A x
Hs. x x Cl. x x

Or this:

Sp. K Q 10 x x Di. x x
Hs. A J x x x Cl. x

With those types of hands, you are reasonably certain to be the eventual declarer. If you aren't, there's a good chance of pushing the opponents into an unmakable contract or causing them to stop short of game.

Second. Or is my hand a short suited hand—one that is almost sure to take tricks defensively, but lacks rebid values. If so, I have a DEFENSIVE hand and may be severely penalized at a low contract if my partner's hand fails to fit with mine.

EXAMPLE.

Sp. A x x x Di. A K x x
Hs. Q x x Cl. x x x

Third. In view of my holding, would it be better to bid or pass:

[a] If my partner is strong enough to bid?

[b] If he has some strength, but not enough to open the bidding?

[c] If he is so weak that the opponents are likely to take control of the bidding?

Fourth. How should my position with reference to the deal [dealer, second hand, third hand, fourth hand] affect my decision about the hand?

The question of position is a very important part of the strategy of the opening bid. Remember this! The future of more than half the hands you play is determined by your decision to bid or pass the first round. I can't stress this point too strongly.

And now for a final plea! Since you are about to learn my system, please call it by its rightful name: THE SIMS SYSTEM. The all too common designation is, alas, "The Sims One-Over-One." I don't want you to be misled. The "One-Over-One" is only one of several responses which I use constantly, but which I also refrain from using when many players would employ it automatically; but now we are concerning ourselves with a fine point of bidding which will be dealt with more fully in subsequent articles.

[Copyright: By Public Ledger.]

Mr. Sims will answer all inquiries on contract that are addressed to this newspaper and inclose a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

THROUGH THE LOOKING GLASS

When you come to the line in your daily prayers where you plead with Providence to help you resist temptation it might be a good idea, if you're weak for such things, as we are, to mention specifically a tempting box of beauty aids you'll find beckoning to you from the cosmetic counters of a Michigan avenue shop. That is, if you want to resist that kind of temptation; we don't, and didn't.

It's a trim white box, almost square, bearing a name that's so big and so exclusive in the cosmetic world it's almost awesome. We have a hunch this teaser will break down that awesomeness.

The top of the box bears more than a name; also on it is one of the trickiest setups you ever saw—an oval box of powder, with a container of rouge set cunningly in its top, and nestling next to this combine a plump little lipstick. You can use your shades, too; a choice of five elegant ones in powder and three in lipstick.

But the inside of the box is something to sing about! A bottle of skin tonic, a bottle of liquid skin cleanser, a skin food and an astringent. And the whole shooting match just a trifle more than what you'd pay for a box of grand face powder! You think you're hearing things.

These preparations are normally priced at a figure that isn't exactly low as such things go, although their quality and their prestige are consistent with their cost. In this package, specially boxed for the shop, each item is in slightly smaller amount than in the usual sizes, but the whole kit will serve a girl's needs, unless she positively eats such things, for a couple of weeks. It's a grand opportunity to get acquainted with some things you may have longed to try. The things themselves are delightful. We couldn't choose, but we'll confess to a weakness for the tonic. First it feels cool, refreshing, then you're conscious of a slight tingling, and when the job is done you're feeling too radiant for words.

Take a look at them, anyway. And if you can pass them up you're a stronger woman than we are.

ELEANOR NANGLE.

THE WILD BIRD

By OWEN JOHNSON

SYNOPSIS.

Barbara Brawne, aged 22, is completely dominated by an adoring though jealous father, who is against every modern idea and improvement. Lynwood, their home, is in the prim and proper village of Oxbridge, a place of intellectual sanctity. Barbara seems predestined to join the ranks of the village spinsters. Her father scares away any would-be suitors. She contemplates rebellion. Gregory Rance, popular novelist, is visiting her cousin, Laurie Chiswick. They are mutually attracted. Barbara overhears Rance asking Laurie about her. He says she is the sort of girl he'd want to marry. Barbara proposes to Rance. But Rance is divorced and her father hates divorce. Barbara invites him to a small dinner party and introduces him to her father as a casual acquaintance. Her father suspects Barbara's interest in Rance. He won't have him in the house again. Then relents, fearing she will meet him outside. Even tells her to buy an automobile.

INSTALLMENT XXII.

A FRIGHTENING SHOCK.

Barbara slid her hand into her father's and pressed it.

"Father, I so desperately don't want anything to come between us."

"Only—only at first—to make it easier—use the backway! You understand. There's another thing, though—no telephone. I couldn't stand the telephone. Humph! Humph!"

The tensity was broken, she could not repress a smile.

"No, daddy—no telephone!"

"He must be sincere this time—or has he guessed and is frightened?" she thought, amazed at this unexpected surrender. "Is it a real change of front or only a change of tactics?"

"You'll have to learn to drive."

"I've known for a long time."

"What—you?"

She nodded.

"Well, well! You women! Humph! Humph!"

He began to chuckle, delighted that the incident was over, that the old intimacy had been restored, pleased with his diplomacy.

He rose and she took his arm, troubled and turning many things over in her mind. She had yielded to Gregory's insistence that her father should be told openly. He had written him a letter that would arrive any moment now. Should she prepare her father for it? Was this the moment?

"We're a lot of old people here," he said, patting her hand. "Been rather dull for you, I'm afraid. Getting in a rut myself."

The words that were on her tongue were never uttered. She looked at him with a sudden anxiety.

"I've been looking forward—for a long time—to a real holiday. A trip around the world. We'll start next month. How would you like to invite a friend or two?"

Yes, I am going to marry him, father.

All the elation left her. She saw through his maneuvers. He suspected and was in a panic.

They went into the house and joined the aunts at tea. She strove bravely to appear unconcerned, to conceal her dread of the crisis which was approaching, feeling always the ferreting glance of the father on her.

Outside there came the jingling approach of the landau. A moment and old Thomas came in with the mail. Mr. Brawne glanced through it carelessly, saw Rance's letter and opened it.

He frowned and looked up sharply at Barbara, waiting tensely.

"You know of this letter?"

"Yes."

"Why does Mr. Gregory Rance request an interview with me?" he said, in a cold staccato.

Barbara went up to him.

"Because Mr. Rance does not wish to come here under false pretenses," she said in a low voice.

The letter crumpled in his convulsive grip.

"Does this mean——"

"Yes. I am going to marry him, father!"

The aunts, half divining the scene, sprang up fluttering and frightened. Thomas stumbled out of the room. Barbara stood still and straight, looking into her father's eyes.

"You have told——" The words came incredulously. "You have promised. You have given him a promise, to marry him?"

"Yes."

"A man I met last night for the first time?"

"I am going to marry him," she said without flinching.

He turned and marched into the hall.

"Thomas, send away the carriage! I am not going down tonight."

He went stiffly to the library, turned and saw Barbara.

"I want to talk to you, father."

"When I am ready to say what I shall say to you," he said coldly, "I shall send for you!"

He opened the door and turned, with that instinct for the grandiloquent that mastered him in his rages.

"If you had stuck a knife into me, you could not have done a crueler thing than this."

He closed the door and locked it.

Dinner was funereal. Her father had retired to his room. The aunts, faintly aware of some impending catastrophe, were agitated, as they were when the slightest deviation of their tranquil routine occurred. She answered their questions evasively and, the meal ended, went into the library and hunted up a book. The aunts hovered about like distracted insects whose cells had been destroyed.

"You don't think he'll be down for his rubber, Barbara?"

"No, Aunt Abbie, he's really not feeling well."

"Not feeling well? What do you think can be the matter? He seemed quite bright this morning."

"He's got a bad headache, Aunt Abbie," said Barbara in the ear trumpet.

"So?" She nodded satisfied. "You must make him take castor oil, Barbara. He doesn't like to take castor oil, but you must make him do it."

"All right, auntie. Will you play casino?"

She brought out the card table and sat down with them.

At half past ten, having waited an interminable hour, Barabara went up to her room and began to undress. The light was shining under the crack of her father's door. She began to hum to let him know of her presence, wavering between different impulses. The wound to his pride must have been terrific. She knew his capacity for dramatized suffering. Should she knock? She listened and thought she heard him moving about the room. Finally she said:

"Good night, father."

She waited but no answer coming, she went to her bed and lay there heavily, staring at the thin white line under his door.

She would have to explain, and the explanation would be difficult. How much of the truth could she disclose, if she were to keep her father from being the implacable enemy of her lover? Much would depend on tomorrow. She went over in her mind a dozen ways to handle the situation, satisfied with none, incessantly seeking a new start until from sheer weariness she fell asleep.

The next morning, she hoped against hope that her father would come to her room but he did not. She went down to breakfast to find that he had already had his cup of coffee and gone off for a walk by the river. She ate hastily and set off in search.

She found him in the rock garden that overlooked the winding river and a view of the eastern ridges. He was standing as though he had not moved for hours, in a stiff broadcloth cutaway, stiff collar and white tie, stiff squared brown derby; his feet apart, his hands sunk deep in his pockets which in the old fashioned manner were cut in the front of the trousers. He saw her coming without recognition. The cadaverous horned rimmed glasses exaggerated the drawn expression as though there were marks of suffering.

Barbara came swiftly, and then all that she had intended to say forgotten, burst into tears and flung herself into his arms.

This impetuous and unpremediated action swept away in the instant all the prepared defenses of each. With the soft clinging body of his daughter in his arms, all anger vanished immediately. The night had exhausted their capacity for suffering. The one impulsive movement had melted them.

Canal Zone, formerly of Chicago. The service will be read at half after eight o'clock in the Cathedral of St. Luke at Ancon and will be followed by a reception at the Evans residence.

Gen. Brown, who succeeded Gen. Frank Parker in command of the 6th corps area, and Mrs. Brown, who did not accompany her husband to Chicago when he came here last fall, are expected in Chicago on March 5. Gen. and Mrs. Parker have gone to the Philippines.

Among the April brides will be Miss Anne Robinson, the charming and attractive daughter of the Harry Ives Robinsons, who has chosen April 18 for the date of her marriage to Frank Green Osborne, son of Mrs. W. Irving Osborne. Their engagement was announced last October.

The ceremony will be read in St. Chrysostom's church at 4:30 o'clock and a small reception will follow at the home of the bride's parents, 229 Lake Shore drive. At present the only member of the bridal party that Miss Robinson is certain of is her matron of honor, a cousin, Mrs. Joseph A. Vance of Detroit. Mr. Osborne and his bride will make their home in Chicago.

Two Clubs Will Enjoy Musical.

Mrs. Frederic W. Upham of 1260 Astor street will have both her guest rooms occupied by Friday, for Miss Marion Kerby arrived yesterday to visit her and Mrs. Frederick H. Smith III. [Mrs. Upham's sister] of South Orange, N. J., comes tomorrow for a visit. Miss Kerby and Hamilton Forrest are giving a program of Negro spirituals and Kentucky mountain tunes at the Fortnightly Sunday night at a party the Fortnightly and Friday clubs are giving together. Preceding the program supper will be served.

Mrs. Wilhelm L. Baum, president of the Fortnightly, will be back in the city in time for the supper and musical Sunday, for she expects to return from her farm near St. Joseph, Mich., the last of this week. Mrs. Baum is recovering from a severe shaking up received in an auto accident last Saturday as she and her son, Mervyn Baum, were on their way to the farm.

Miss Beatrice Borland, who presided at the tea table yesterday at the "conversazione" the Italy America society held at the residence of Miss Borland's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Chauncey B. Borland, received the good wishes of many of those to whom she handed cups of tea or coffee, for some of the guests were seeing her for the first time since her engagement to Barton F. Plimpton of Boston was announced on Feb. 1.

Miss Lucy Martin talked in a delightful way about Italy, in which she has traveled often and about which she has written much in her weekly "Cousin Eve" articles in the Sunday TRIBUNE.

Miss Gwethalyn Jones, who is the mistress of three homes, one in Lake Forest, one on Astor street in the city, and another in Montecito, has gone to the last named to spend the rest of the winter.

Combine Brown and Dusty Pink in New Outfits

BY RHEA SEEGER.

Dusty pink and brown.

A new color combination that will revive your interest in contrasts! The pink is that dusky, creamy, flattering shade that practically any one can wear. The brown a warm tobacco brown that dramatizes this pink shade better than any other brown to be found. Some of the most exciting new dresses and costumes of this effective color combination are now available.

Slender youthful models—with short snappy separate jackets made with perky lapels and snug fitted belts . . . one with the V neckline filled with spicy brown, sheer organdy flowers, another with a dropped shoulder line and yoke of brown crêpe with two perky lapels sticking out over the brown lapels of the matching jacket.

Still another has a clever cut brown jacket with an oblong slit just above the waistline that reveals the pink of the under frock . . . and what they have done with beige and brown striped organdy used as a ruffled front collar atop a plain pink frock is something to rave about.

Even the mature figure can be appareled in this fascinating new pink . . . a stunning two piece suit fashioned with a long, expertly slenderized dress and a long coat made with an inverted pleat at the back is all of pink. The coat is sufficiently long to assure the long lines necessary for the mature figure and the brown contrast is introduced on the cascading jabot, faced with brown and beige dotted silk.

This same well browned effect has been achieved with a lively turquoise blue, another combination that will make fashion headlines in spring. Lovely turquoise blue crêpe makes the dresses and spicy deep brown does the eye filling contrast.

One heart breaker is made with a deep swinging cape completely lined with the brown and the big flat blue buttons descending at the back are outlined with rims of brown.

WASHINGTON SOCIETY

Washington, D. C., Feb. 7.—[Special.]—The secretary of the interior and Mrs. Ickes of Chicago were entertained at dinner tonight by Mr. and Mrs. Jouett Shouse in their Georgetown home, who had a large company to meet them.

Mrs. Ickes was at home this afternoon for the last time until after Lent, which begins next Wednesday.

Black and White Is Back Again in Spring Ensembles

BY BETTINA BEDWELL.

PARIS.—[Special.]—Let the dressmakers propose what they will in the matter of new and gorgeous color schemes, the smart Parisienne holds out for her favorite black and white ensemble. She's going to get it again this spring to the great relief of women who haven't the time to run about days on end matching colors.

Black ensembles, done in wool and in satin, are generously represented in Paris advance spring showings and they are usually jazzed up with white. This kind of ensemble is particularly offered for dressy daytime wear.

The pictured black and white ensemble is from Lucile Paray and she calls it "Spring 1934." It's a "don't dress" ensemble, good for day and evening.

The knee length coat is made of black mossy wool with short sleeves that are wide at the bottom and bordered with silver fox fur. The coat has a small collar stitched with white lines.

Church Choir Will Sing at Stadium Opera

Picked Group to Appear at Easter Scene.

BY EDWARD MOORE.

Twenty-three picked members of the Ambrosian Choristers, the choral group of St. Ambrose church, will be added to the chorus of the People's Opera company in "Cavalleria Rusticana" at the Stadium on Saturday night. They will assist in the singing of "Regina Coeli" during the elaborate Easter scene of that opera. It is said to be the first time in opera that the hymn has been sung by an actual church choir.

A further report from the Stadium tells that acoustic tests have been made, and that every sound from the stage can be clearly heard in all parts of the vast building. The company has adopted the slogan "Opera for the People," and there will be accommodations for no less than 18,000 persons at prices the highest of which is $1.50 and the lowest 40 cents.

John Charles Thomas will be the Tonio of "Pagliacci," which will be presented in a double bill with "Cavalleria Rusticana." With him will be Anne Roselle as Nedda, Giuseppe Radaelli as Canio, Mario Fiorella as Silvio, and Carlo Hatvary as Beppo.

In "Cavalleria Rusticana" Carmela Ponselle will appear as Santuzza, and the others in the cast will be Pasquale Ferrara, Mari Bareva, Frederic Jencks, and Ocie Higgins. Jacques Samossoud will conduct. Bernard Cantor will be the stage manager, and Harry Beatty the technical director.

Thirty Chicago sopranos will compete this afternoon for the rôle of the unseen priestess in "Aïda," announced for performance two weeks from Saturday. The place is the Joseph Urban room in the Congress hotel; the time, 2 o'clock; the judges, Felix Borowski, Karleton Hackett, and Rudolph Ganz.

The Freiburg Passion Play, featuring the International Passion Players, will be presented six times in the theater of the Rogers Park Masonic temple on the afternoons and evenings of Friday, Saturday, and Sunday. A musical program by Gounod, Maunder, Smith, and Downing will be sung by a male choir of fifty under the direction of Albert J. Strohm, choirmaster of St. Paul's Church by the Lake.

The accompaniment will be played by organ, piano, and vibra-harp. Edward Kuester and Gerard de Vries Jr. will be the boy soloists in alternating performances, and Madison S. Jordon will sing the tenor solos at all performances.

Christian Bergesen Flagg, pianist, appeared in an all-Chopin recital at Kimball hall last night.

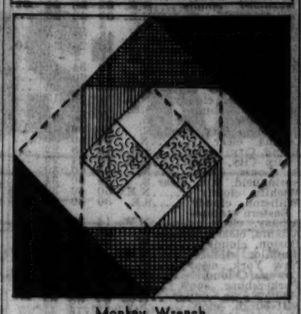
Versatile Quilt Lends Itself to Various Effects



Monkey Wrench

BY NANCY CABOT.

Here is a simple but widely used quilt block, that is one of the old reliables of quiltdom. It is so simple to piece that one may have all sorts of fun, and create all manner of effects by use of a variety of color and materials. It may be pieced in combinations of print and plain materials, all print, or all plain colors. The "Monkey Wrench" is made decidedly gay by the use of blue, rose, yellow, and lavender.

For a quilt pattern in this design send 5 cents in coin or stamps to Nancy Cabot, Chicago Tribune, printing your name and address clearly. Or call at the Tribune Public Service office, One South Dearborn.

Theater Society Selects Third Play of Series

BY CHARLES COLLINS.

The American Theater society, which is sponsoring a subscription season of plays at the Erlanger theater, has finally decided upon the third offering in its promised series of six. This will be "Ten Minute Alibi," and is scheduled to start a two weeks' engagement on Feb. 19. The 2,783 subscribers of the organization, who have been patiently waiting for information, will receive the tickets that they have reserved next week.

"Ten Minute Alibi" will come to these faithful supporters of the drama as a surprise. Another mystery play, "Double Door," has been favored in the betting, and a billboard in the lobby of the Erlanger during Walter Hampden's engagement favored the latter entry. The Theater Guild's production of Molière's "School for Husbands" has also figured in the expectations.

England was the source of the new booking, and Broadway welcomed it as a hit early this season. "Ten Minute Alibi" was, in fact, one of the first signs of theatrical revival in New York, and early last October the dramatic critics of Manhattan began to dance in the streets—a quaint custom of the Gotham literati—over this melodrama about a barrister who dreamed a murder story and then carried it out in real life in a way that almost baffled the detectives.

Crosby Gaige and Lee Shubert are the producing managers.

Here Are Those Recipes You've Been Desiring

Editor Answers Requests of Eager Cooks.

Economical tips for week-end food shoppers—a weekly radio feature—will be presented tomorrow by Mary Meade over station W-G-N. Tune in at 2 o'clock for Meade's market chat.

BY MARY MEADE.

Seems to be a mad rush this week for recipes. Is it the weather that's so stimulating to cooks or are the old ones all wearing out together? The trick which took us the longest to run down we'll print first off, lest it escape again. It answers a question from Mrs. T. R. G., who has been looking up and down for something you do to crackers which makes them crisp, puffy, and spiced, but starts off by soaking them! If this isn't just what you have in mind, Lady G., we'll hunt some more. They're called:

CURRY CRACKER PUFFS.

1½ dozen salted crackers
Ice water
3 tablespoons melted butter
½ teaspoon salt
¾ teaspoon curry powder
¼ teaspoon paprika

Drop the crackers in ice water, soaking them ten minutes if quite firm and eight minutes if flaky. Take them out carefully and drain, without tearing, on paper towels. Now, using a flexible pancake turner, transfer the crackers to greased baking sheets and brush over each one with the butter, salt, paprika, and curry powder, mixed together. Bake the crackers ten minutes in a hot oven (450 degrees F.), then lower the heat and continue baking about twenty minutes in moderate heat (350 degrees F.) until light brown and crisp. For a change sprinkle the crackers with finely ground cheese, ground nuts, or some savory flavoring seed.

Mrs. L. K. is the next recipe applicant and we're most glad to be able to present her with a whole recipe of Duck Chop Suey and invite you all in to enjoy it likewise:

DUCK CHOP SUEY.

[Four medium portions.]

3 tablespoons fat
1 cup diced duck meat
½ teaspoon salt
½ cup finely shaved onions
½ cup water
1 2-3 cups chopped celery
1 can assorted Chinese vegetables, drained and sliced

SAUCE.

3 tablespoons cornstarch, level
Salt and pepper to taste
1 teaspoon brown sugar
3 tablespoons soy sauce

Melt the fat in a skillet and, when hot, add the duck meat, salt, and onions. Cook quickly until the meat is well seared, a matter of about four minutes. Now add the water and celery and continue simmering until the celery is done, about four more minutes. Place the ingredients for the sauce all in one bowl and mix. Stir into this two tablespoons of the skillet cooking water, using a fork to prevent or beat out lumps. Turn this sauce back into the skillet, stirring vigorously. Add Chinese vegetables and serve with rice or, if you would make it into a chow mein, offer it up with crisp piles of toasted noodles.

And speaking of rice (likely why I mentioned it!) there's a great deal to be said for a sort of rice of which few of us think in connection with Chinese dishes. However, it's quite proper and is called:

FRIED RICE.

1 cup minced lobster, shrimp, or roasted ham
2 cups cooked rice
2 tablespoons minced onion
2 eggs
¼ teaspoon pepper
1 teaspoon salt
¼ cup soy sauce

Smoked, uncooked ham or bacon may be used in place of the meats suggested. Before using, however, cut fine and dry. Other meats need not be heated. So to prepare the dish break the eggs into a very hot, well greased skillet. Fry just slightly on both sides, then add the other ingredients except the sauce, stirring them in and cooking three minutes longer, stirring often. Now out with the fire and stir in the soy sauce. Serve at once.

LINCOLN EXHIBIT WILL BE SHOWN ON ANNIVERSARY

Historical Society Plans Celebration.

BY KATHERINE KELLEY.

Objects intimately associated with the life of Abraham Lincoln will be viewed by the martyred President's admirers at the Chicago Historical society on Monday, the 125th anniversary of his birth. The collection is considered by the society the most complete in existence.

Because of the anniversary the society has dedicated the entire month to the Lincoln exhibit, and has planned special programs to open the event. On Sunday afternoon an address on the "Basis of Lincoln's Greatness" will be delivered by Paul M. Angle, librarian of the Illinois State Historical society. Mr. Angle was former secretary of the Lincoln Centennial association and is an authority on the works and life of Lincoln.

Film to Be Shown.

The more extensive celebration will be on Monday when Charles B. Pike, the society's president, will be host to the school children and their parents at a free showing of D. W. Griffith's film, "Abraham Lincoln," starring Walter Huston. Four performances will be shown, starting at 11 a. m. and continuing until 9 p. m.

The guests will be conducted through the Lincoln rooms, which include reproductions of the room where Lincoln died and the room in his Springfield home where he was notified of his nomination for President, the hall where the mementoes are kept, and a corridor containing a collection of Lincoln etchings, photographs, and prints.

At the head of the broad walnut staircase leading to the second floor those in search of objects that may reflect the character of Lincoln will find many such keepsakes in glass cases. A crude square and gauge used by Lincoln at Goose Neck Prairie in Coles county, Ill., when he helped his father build their cabin, his hunting gun bearing the signs of long use, the bootjack he fashioned, the small desk and chair he once used, the exercise in mathematics he worked when a boy, and the letters penned in his firm, rather smallish hand, so composed as to waste no words, may be found here.

Letters in Exhibition.

Among the letters is one dated May 17, 1861 approving Col. Mulligan's Irish Brigade from Chicago for civil war service and a dispatch to Gen. Grant written at City Point during Lincoln's visit to the Virginian front shortly before Gen. Lee's surrender. Two or three letters are to be placed on exhibit for the first time.

Other relics to be viewed in Lincoln hall are his coat worn on the night of the assassination, the pen used to sign the emancipation proclamation, his high silk hat, the gray shawl worn while visiting the battlefields, and the table from Tremont house used by the committee which nominated him. In this room, too, is a case containing Mrs. Lincoln's gloves and fans and in an adjoining room the black and white taffeta gown she wore in mourning, and the white bonnet and black velvet cloak worn the night of the assassination.

Passing to the right from the east end of Lincoln hall, one enters a corridor lined with the James Rosenthal collection of Lincoln pictures. Another smaller corridor branches off from this, leading to the two Lincoln rooms, the shrine of many a Lincoln follower. To the left is the Springfield room, a quaint parlor with gray floral wall paper and brown floral carpet, two walnut whatnots, a horsehair sofa, an uncomfortable horsehair chair, three walnut straight chairs in faded rose plush, a table with wax flowers under glass, and a walnut secretary. This furniture was used in the Springfield parlor by Lincoln.

Books of Lincoln's Time.

In the secretary are books of the same editions used by Lincoln. There is Gibbon's "Rome," the constitution of the United States, Cooper's "The Pathfinder," Bailey's English dictionary published in 1772, Robinson Crusoe, Voltaire's "Toleration," Scott's "Poetical Works," "Essay on Elocution," "The Life of Edmund Burke," and Shakespeare.

The other room is a replica of the room in the Petersen house where he died and contains the original Jenny Lind bed, chest of drawers, and rocking chair. The wall paper and carpet have been reproduced faithfully.

Today and continuing through Lincoln's birthday, an exhibit of Lincoln articles will be on display at the Fred Harvey restaurant in the Straus building.

STATE TO START DRIVE ON TARDY AUTO LICENSES

BY HAL FOUST.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., Feb. 7.—[Special.]—Secretary of State Hughes' office announced this afternoon that the constabularies of Illinois may begin at their own discretion the arrest of motorists still without 1934 license plates. In other years, for the first two or three months after Jan. 1, police have refrained from making arrests on the request of the secretary of state.

"We're not suggesting that the tardy license buyers should be taken into court without first receiving a warning," said John Nash, chief of the secretary's license bureau, "but we are suggesting that this warning should be followed within a few days by prosecutions."

State Police Told to Act.

Director Kingery of the department of public works ordered the state highway police to follow the advice of the secretary of state's office. Commissioner Allman of Chicago also received this word from Mr. Nash.

Only about a third of the motor vehicles in Illinois are now wearing their 1934 plates, although the statute specifies that no car shall be driven after Jan. 1 without the license for the new year.

On Feb. 1 341,167 plates had been issued to passenger cars and 55,393 had been issued for trucks. The applications are being received at the rate of about 10,000 a day. This is a much better record than last year at this date, when the banking crisis was delaying collection, but it is still a long way from adherence to the statute. There were 1,276,864 passenger cars and 186,186 trucks registered in Illinois for 1933.

No Delay in Issuance.

"For the first time in the history of this office," said Mr. Nash, "there is no delay in issuing the plates after the applications are received. The cash and carry bureau at 120 South Ashland avenue on Feb. 1 had sold 103,904 plates to Cook county automobile owners."

George Barton, director of the Chicago Motor club, commended Secretary Hughes for his decision to enforce the license laws earlier this year.

"All cars should be required to wear 1934 numbers for the sake of efficient policing," said the club official.

WISCONSIN FARMER DIES.

Darlington, Wis., Feb. 7.—[Special.]—Edward Flannigan, 58, Green county farmer, fell dead here today following a heart attack.

UNCLE SAM NOW OFFICIALLY IS IN POWER BUSINESS

Mississippi Town First to Participate.

Tupelo, Miss., Feb. 7.—(AP)—Faces were wreathed in smiles here today as electricity from Muscle Shoals surged through transmission lines into the city.

There was no celebration. At one minute past midnight the turn of a switch sent the Tennessee Valley Authority into the power business and fulfilled the first T. V. A. contract for cheap hydro electric power.

Tupelo was the first municipality to apply for electrification on the scale conceived by engineers under the New Deal and became the starting point for the social and industrial experiment of the T. V. A.

The turn of the switch provided power for Tupelo at the cheapest rates ever available in the south for electrical energy, according to T. V. A. officials who estimate that the contract will effect a savings of 60 per cent on the whole cost of power and that householders, commercial lighting users and farmers will receive rates on resale at a savings of about 50 per cent.

Knoxville Dickers for Plant.

Knoxville, Tenn., Feb. 7.—[Special.]—Knoxville's city council last night took another step towards buying outright the existing facilities of Tennessee Public Service company, for the proposed city owned electric power distribution system.

City Manager W. W. Mynatt was instructed to employ a firm of engineers to make a survey of the company's properties and an estimate of a fair price the city should pay for them.

Tennessee Public Service company in the meantime is preparing an offer it will make to sell its properties to the city.

The city has authority to issue $3,225,000 bonds. If a deal with the private concern is made, the city plans to pay off with the city's general mortgage bonds. Knoxville's bonds now sell for 80 cents on the dollar.

ILLINOIS GRAIN CROP IMPERILED BY CHINCH BUGS

BY PAUL POTTER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Bloomington, Ill., Feb. 7.—[Special.]—The forces of nature are running a merry race with the brain trusters of the Agricultural Adjustment administration down here in the heart of the corn belt to see that no surplus corn is grown in 1934.

The farmers who sign, and not all of them are signing, will be handed some of Uncle Sam's processing tax money as a premium for reducing the size of their corn fields and the number of pigs they grow.

Nature Does Some Controling.

But out along the fence rows, under the brush and wood piles, and in the straw stacks exists a greater menace to corn production than most farmers have reckoned with. Hordes of adult chinch bugs, each one capable of producing as high as 300 eggs next spring, lie dormant ready to fly to wheat, barley, and corn fields with the warm winds of spring.

Under one board a foot square a nearby farmer found by count more than 4,800 of these bugs. The fence rows of weeds and tall grass are harboring more billions of them than the wildest inflationist could count. According to W. P. Flint, state entomologist, in some areas the farmers alive to the situation are organizing into squads making a systematic cleanup of the winter havens of these avaricious little bugs.

Urge Neighborhood Units.

Recommendations are being made that all such areas be burned or plowed up completely. Since the adult bugs can fly ten or more miles next spring seeking a place to lay their eggs for the late summer hatch that eats whole fields of corn almost over night, the experts are urging that neighborhoods operate as units.

Another threat in the offing to corn belt farmers in seen by many Illinois agriculturists in the relaxation of efforts to destroy the corn borer.

FOUR AMERICANS ARE FREED FROM MALLORCA JAIL

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PALMA, Mallorca, Feb. 7.—Mr. and Mrs. Clinton B. Lockwood of West Springfield, Mass.; Roderick F. Mead of New York, and Edmund W. Blodgett of Stamford, Conn., were released from the Palma jail today. They were pardoned last week by the Spanish Supreme court after having been held in jail much of the time since last June as a result of a clash with a civil guard.

The Americans went to their homes to await the arrival tomorrow or the next day of the official Gazette, which makes their pardon authentic. The final condition of the pardon is that they leave the island. Oddly, the Lockwoods want to remain here. Mead is going to Paris to get married.

The four have spent a total of nine weeks in jail since their arrest following their tangle with the austere "guardia civile," an affair which their prosecutors termed an "insult against the armed forces of Spain."

Most of us are far more familiar with broadcloth, but back in the good old days (that are back and getting better) this was the shirt that was worn for Sunday and other times when being dressed up was important. It's come back in this era of tail coats and toppers to take its proper place among the fine shirtings. And, because we've been working on the idea for several months and made some very special arrangements, the price of this shirt is far less expensive than you are likely to see it elsewhere.

WORLD IS STILL BADLY LIGHTED, EXPERT ASSERTS

Finds Offices, Homes Deficient.

Despite the progress made in the science of lighting in the last twenty years the civilized world is still groping through inadequately lighted interiors with eyes strained and weakened because of poor illumination.

This was the assertion yesterday of Dr. Matthew Luckeish, director of the lighting research laboratory of the General Electric company, who spoke before members of the Chicago Association of Commerce at a luncheon in the Palmer house.

Deficiency in Offices.

Hundreds of experiments have demonstrated, Dr. Luckeish said, that human beings in the home, office, shop, and school are reading, working, and studying under the handicap of insufficient light. Most office workers, he asserted, need at least 500 times as much light as they are getting.

Using as a measure the footcandle [the amount of illumination furnished by an ordinary candle at a distance of one foot], the ideal reading light has been found to be approximately 1,000 footcandles, the degree of light which is found in the shade during a sunny day in summertime, he said. Yet much of our reading at home, he declared, is done under only one, two, or three footcandles of light.

"You probably read last evening under less than five footcandles," said Dr. Luckeish, "and you will go back to offices today where 5 footcandles will be the exception. An office with ten footcandles of light available would probably be deemed exceptionally well lighted, yet 5,000 footcandles would be justified. Do not be afraid of too much light. Nobody can give you too much.

WELKER COCHRAN.

New York, Feb. 7.—[Special.]—Turning in the most spectacular exhibition thus far in the world's three cushion billiard championship, the 27 year old star, Jay N. Bozeman Jr. of Vallejo, Cal., overwhelmed the veteran Philadelphia player, Otto Reiselt, 50 to 19, in 34 innings tonight at the Capitol academy.

By his victory the Californian entered into a tie for first place with Allen Hall of Chicago. Each has won two matches and lost none.

Cochran Beats Denton.

Welker Cochran, the defending titleholder, triumphed over Tiff Denton of Kansas City in the other night game, 50 to 31, in 49 innings.

Bozeman, who was runner-up for the crown last year brought his play to an end with an unfinished run of 8 to record the shortest match of the tourney.

In his two victories he has scored 100 points in 76 innings, his 42 inning contest with Len Kenney previously being the best game of any of the 12 cueists taking part.

Hardly had the spectators taken their seats before Bozeman began clicking off points in rapid fashion. At the first trip to the table, after winning the lag, Bozeman scored 5.

In his easy, natural style, he then proceeded to tally consistently, while Reiselt was unable to retaliate.

Bozeman Takes Lead.

Bozeman had a run of 4 to take the lead at 16 to 9 in the 14th, and later he added a 6 in the 23d to bring his count to 28. This he followed with a 4 in the 26th and another 6 in the 27th.

Two more points in the 29th brought him to 40, with Reiselt 25 points behind. Bozeman then failed to score in his next two attempts, but he added two more points for 42 in the 32d.

Reiselt came back to get 2 in the thirty-third and then Bozeman closed with his high run of 8, finishing the match in 50 minutes.

Hall accounted for his second victory of the tourney when he scored by 50 to 36 over Len Kenney, also of Chicago, in an afternoon match.

Hall Wins in 48th.

Hall played in impressive fashion and appeared to be on the way to an excellent average. He faltered in the closing innings, however, and finished the match in the forty-eighth after eight scoreless innings from the thirty-ninth to the forty-seventh.

Hall, with a run of 5 in the fourth, played so consistently that he had 38 in the twenty-eighth, which gave him a margin of 18 points over Kenney. He had a high run of 6 in the eighth.

Augie Kieckhefer of Chicago, in the other afternoon contest, turned back the veteran, Alfredo De Oro, who caused something of a sensation on the opening night of the championship by defeating Cochran. Kieckhefer won, 50 to 39, in 59 innings.

PURDUE WHIPS WABASH IN LAST PRACTICE GAME

Lafayette, Ind., Feb. 7.—[Special.]—Purdue's basketball team tonight defeated Wabash, 38 to 27 in its final non-conference game of the season. While it's passing lacked the precision of early January games, Purdue took command after the first few minutes. The Boilermakers led at the half, 17 to 11. Score:

Rothier piled up points in every round to win the unanimous decision of the officials. Miller won the Southern Wisconsin Golden Gloves title last year.

ARLINGTON PARK FUTURITY TO BE WORTH $60,000

Second Richest Race on 1934 Schedule.

BY FRENCH LANE.

The second richest horse race of the year will be decided in Chicago at the Arlington Park course during its midsummer meeting.

This was made evident yesterday when it was revealed at the Arlington Park Jockey club offices that 280 two year olds remained eligible for the Arlington Futurity after the second payment on entries had been made on Jan. 15.

The entries also reveal that there are 99 more eligibles after the second payment this year than there were a year ago. This is an increase of nearly 50 per cent.

The richest race to be run this year will be another futurity, the one decided at Belmont Park in September. Reports indicate it will gross about $90,000, while the futurity at Arlington will carry a gross value of approximately $60,000.

Other Stakes Reduced.

Slicing of the values of such famous stakes as the Kentucky Derby, Arlington Classic, Preakness stakes, Pimlico Futurity and American Derby have left the Belmont Futurity and Arlington Futurity as the outstanding big money races of the year.

Chicago owners have played a big part in swelling the Arlington Futurity entries this year. F. C. Mars, Chicago candy manufacturer who has established an elaborate breeding place in Tennessee, which is known as Milky Way farm, has 15 eligibles to the race.

This is Mr. Mars' first appearance in racing, although he started to assemble his breeding stock and young thoroughbreds a couple of years ago. At one time he purchased more than 30 young horses from A. B. Hancock, noted Kentucky and Virginia breeder. These are now among the most fashionably bred 2 year olds in the country, and it is from this list that he has selected its futurity eligibles.

Marsch Has 13 Eligibles.

John Marsch, Chicago contractor, is another who has an eye on the rich Futurity prize. He has 13 eligibles to the race. Warren Wright has nominated nine, while Mrs. John Hertz has made seven of the young sons of Reigh Count eligible for the contest.

The most liberal patron of the race was Willis Sharpe Kilmer of Binghamton, N. Y., with 18 eligibles. The Audley farm stable has ten eligibles; Mrs. Dodge Sloan is represented by 12 costly youngsters, and Charles T. Fisher has named nine colts and fillies. Mr. Fisher's Far Star, a filly, won the Futurity last year, while his Mata Hari captured the Lassie stakes and was fourth in the Futurity. Mata Hari is the future book favorite to win the Kentucky Derby.

Others who have made liberal nomination to the Futurity are Mrs. Payne Whitney, Mr. and Mrs. John Hay Whitney, Alfred Gwynne Vanderbilt, Joseph E. Widener, Cornelius Vanderbilt Whitney, and Edward R. Bradley.

The third payment on Futurity eligibles is due on May 15. The starting fee on the morning of the race is $1,000. The race carries an added money prize of $25,000.

Connie Mack Is Mum on Foxx's 1934 Salary Kick

Orlando, Fla., Feb. 7.—(AP)—Connie Mack, manager of the Philadelphia Athletics, was non-committal tonight when informed that his home run king, Jimmy Foxx, was reported dissatisfied with the salary terms offered him for the 1934 baseball season.

"I haven't heard from Jimmy," Mack said. "I understand that he intends to come to see me at Mount Plymouth in a few days. I'll be glad to talk with him."

When informed that Foxx was quoted as saying that the salary the Athletics offer him for the coming season is a 25 per cent reduction from the $10,000 to $15,000 he was reputed to have drawn under a three year contract that expired at the close of the 1933 season, Mack refused to comment.

"I have nothing to say on the amount of salary we offered Foxx."

Orsatti, Card Outfielder, Files Suit for Divorce

Los Angeles, Cal., Feb. 7.—(AP)—Ernie Orsatti, St. Louis Cardinal outfielder, filed suit today for divorce from Mrs. Martha Orsatti, 23, charging her with impairing his baseball efficiency by her "constant nagging and quarrelsome nature."

O'Doul Becomes No. 25 Among Signed Giants

New York, Feb. 7.—(AP)—The New York Giants today received the signed contract of Outfielder Frank O'Doul. Twenty-five players now have agreed to terms for 1934.

200 More Boxers Take Tests for Golden Gloves Tourney

Two hundred amateur boxers reported at Trafton's gymnasium last night for physical examinations, the last of a series which will qualify them for the four Chicago sectional Golden Gloves tournaments. Fifteen were unable to meet the physical requirements and were rejected by the physicians, Dr. Thomas Dwyer, Dr. Clarence Plaut, Dr. E. R. Stoehr, Dr. Edward Rategan, Dr. William Rothman, and Dr. E. L. Spangler.

Every boy who reported, whether he passed the physical examiantion or not, received tickets to the sectional tournament which he selected. James Spearson, 4422 Emerald avenue, who will be 11 years of age in March, was one of the disappointed fifteen. He was escorted by his mother, Mrs. Mary Spearson, who came with a babe in arms to consent to James' entering the tourney. She was unaware of the 16 year old age minimum.

Twenty-eight year old John Jubeck, a real estate clerk at 3921 Fullerton avenue, attracted more than passing attention because of a tendency toward baldness. John has been prompted to enter this year's tournament by his uncle, Jack Lester, who as a heavyweight boxer in 1911 whipped Bill Lang, British empire champion, in Australia.

Morris Biner, welterweight, who defaulted his semi-final bout in the Jewish Organized Youths' tournament by reporting two hours too late, beat the deadline of 8:30 by 10 minutes last night to be eligible for his first Golden

SHORE IS NAMED ON TEAM TO PLAY FOR BAILEY FUND

Gardiner and Conacher Picked from Chicago.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MONTREAL, Que., Feb. 7.—President Frank Calder of the National Hocky league today announced the all-star team which will meet the Toronto Maple Leafs, high scoring sextet of the league, in a benefit game at Toronto Feb. 14. The proceeds of the contest will be turned over to Irwin [Ace] Bailey, who was injured in a game against Boston Dec. 12.

The all-star team will include Eddie Shore, husky Boston defense man. His presence in the lineup was doubted because of his part in the collision which caused Bailey's injuries. Shore was handed a 16 game suspension, one of the longest in the history of the league, following the accident.

Gardiner at Goal.

Bailey was near death and underwent two delicate brain operations. He is recuperating now at his home in Toronto. However, physicians doubt if he will ever be able to play hocky again.

The squad which will face the Maple Leafs, selected by the board of directors, and their clubs follow:

Chicago—Chuck Gardiner and Lionel Conacher.
Boston—Shore and Stewart.
Canadiens—Morens and Joliat.
Maroons—Smith and Ward.
Detroit—Lewis and Aurie.
Americans—Dutton and Himes.
Rangers—Bill Cook and Johnson.
Ottawa—Finnegan and Shields.

The team will be managed by Lester Patrick of the New York Rangers. The directors named Rodden and Hewitson to officiate in the contest, which is expected to attract one of the largest crowds of the season in Toronto.

Conacher at Defense.

The team is one of the strongest ever brought together. Chuck Gardiner, who is enjoying one of his best seasons, will be at goal in the starting lineup. Lionel Conacher and Ching Johnson probably will start at the defense positions.

The first forward line probably will consist of Smith of Montreal Maroons; Bill Cook of the New York Rangers and Aurel Joliat of the Montreal Canadiens.

HAWKS MEET DETROIT

A hocky battle royal is promised Chicago fans tonight when the Detroit Red Wings and the Blackhawks clash at the Stadium.

Because of the peculiarities of the National Hocky league schedule, it is almost two months since the Red Wings last played at the Stadium.

However, despite their long absence, they have been doing things and going places. Jack Adams, manager of the Wings, has moulded a consistent winner this season without changing the Wings' personnel in any marked degree.

Graham Now a Red Wing.

Since their last appearance here Dec. 14 they made a deal with the Montreal Maroons which brought Teddy Graham, long a member of the Blackhawks, to the Wings and sent Stew Evans to Montreal.

A surprising deal, which came almost as a shock to the rest of the league was the sudden dropping of Goalie John Ross Roach, generally considered as the player mainly responsible for making the team a Stanley cup contender last season. Two severe head injuries sustained at the start of the present schedule impaired his net tending efficiency to such an extent that Wilf Cude, subgoalie of the Montreal Canadiens, who was playing the nets for the Syracuse team, was borrowed for the season and Roach was sent to the minor organization.

Cude Stars at Goal.

Cude's record since joining the Red Wings has been impressive. In 14 games played the opposition made only 22 goals, an average of 1½ per game, and that against Toronto, Montreal Maroons, New York Rangers and Boston. On two occasions Cude stopped the fast stepping Toronto team.

As a scoring club the Wings are topped in the present race only by two teams, the Maple Leafs and the world champion Rangers. Laurie Aurie, right wing, leads the invaders in the scoring list.

Talking it Over

BY ARCH WARD.

MR. AND MRS. BILL MEHLHORN, traveling the winter golf circuit, take with them their two cats, Harold and Gertrude . . . Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Guldahl, also on the winter swing, are accompanied by their family of four Pekingese pooches . . . Opening day customers at Hialeah must have been holding, because program hustlers who asked a dollar a copy for scorecards got it without much argument . . . Jim Londos wrestled before 16,500 in Detroit Jan. 26 . . . He drew 20,200 at Chicago Stadium five days later . . . Last Friday there were 17,000 at his match in St. Louis . . . That's more than 53,000 in eight days . . . Major league ball clubs would be satisfied with pulling power like that.

You needn't wonder longer why Jimmy McLarnin, welterweight champion, waits so long between bouts . . . He and his manager, Pop Foster, have cut their expenses to such a point a layoff doesn't seriously reduce the old bankroll . . . Pop does all the cooking when they are in training and prefers amateurs for sparring partners . . . He is said to have paid off a pair of them in New York with medals, telling them if they accepted expense money they would be pros . . . They have given up trying to beat Dutch Lonborg, Northwestern basketball coach, at ping-pong . . . Too much spin on the ball, they say . . .

Leo Diegel, after serving as golf instructor of Hollywood beauties for six years, will marry a home girl this spring . . . Mique Malloy, who presented Primo Carnera in his Chicago debut four years ago, made a profit on a boxing show for the first time in a year at his last program in Arcadia Gardens . . . Just to spoil the evening some meanie tossed a stench bomb through a rear window during the third preliminary . . . Altawood, noted route runner in his day and now a sire, has arrived from Kentucky at his new barn on Stuyvesant Peabody's thoroughbred nursery farm near Chicago . . . Altawood has been leased for the season by Charley Bidwill . . .

Mike Layden, brother of Elmer, Notre Dame's new athletic chief, is one of the best students on the football squad, averaging well over 85 . . . A midwestern basketball coach was irked recently when a flashlight bulb boomed every time one of his players got set for a shot in a game on the opponent's floor . . . The offender turned out to be equipped with bulbs and a flash gun but had no camera . . . George Sauer and Bernard Masterson, senior backfield players on the University of Nebraska eleven, have passed up offers to join professional teams and will remain as assistant coaches while working toward master's degrees . . .

Three Minnesota basketball regulars had little or no previous experience . . . George Svendsen played only four games in high school. Gordie Norman played only one game at Rochester, and Chuck Wallbloom less than a season in St. Paul . . . Harry Oliver of the Boston Bruins is said to be the only victim of mistaken identity in big league hocky . . . A few years ago Boston was playing Ottawa, which had in its lineup Hooley Smith, now with the Montreal Maroons . . . Fans were puzzled when Smith suddenly smashed Oliver's nose with the butt end of his stick . . . Smith, suspended for a month, explained his action by saying he thought Oliver was Eddie Shore, with whom he had been waging a personal war . . . Shore is harder than ever to recognize now, what with the new Bruin headgear . . . Notre Dame has defeated the first and second place teams in Big Ten basketball, Purdue and Minnesota . . .

Ed Lewis, who was a star pitcher for the Red Sox years ago, is now president of the University of New Hampshire . . . Michigan has lost the services of Louis Lemak, breast stroke swimmer, because in 1931 he swam on a relay team in a meet against a small school . . . Football interest has increased so much at the University of Cincinnati that the school plans to boost the capacity of its stadium from 15,000 to 30,000 . . .

Ten Years Ago Today—Edward G. Barrow, business manager and secretary of the New York Yankees, turned down an offer to manage the Washington Senators . . . Sybil Bauer of the I. A. C. broke the 100 meters back stroke record at Miami . . . The Chicago Athletic association swimmers defeated the Chicago Maroons, 40 to 28 . . . Chicago's Olympic soccer fund of $1,000 was assured by Peter Peel. . .

CHAMPION IS BOTHERED BY FOE'S LEFT JAB

Davey Day Loses in Preliminary.

Kansas City, Mo., Feb. 7.—[Special.]—Barney Ross of Chicago, lightweight and junior welterweight champion, whipped Pete Nebo of Key West, Fla., tonight in a 12 round bout. Only Ross' junior welterweight title was at stake.

BARNEY ROSS.

Although Ross won ten of the twelve rounds, Nebo bothered the champion with a left punch that connected repeatedly with Ross' face, and Barney's advantage in the rounds he won was exceedingly slim.

A crowd of 4,000 saw the fight.

Nebo's showing was a surprise to those at the ringside, despite the fact that he has beaten a number of good fighters in his seven years in the ring and earned a draw with Tony Canzoneri when the former champion was fighting as a featherweight. In his last few fights Nebo had shown very little ability.

Ross Misses Frequently.

Those who saw the champion hook and rip both hands into Johnny Farr in his last fight here agreed that he either was off his stride or Nebo's style was difficult for him to solve.

The champion missed frequently, even with his left hook, one of his best weapons.

Using a crouching, weaving style, Nebo took the fourth and eleventh rounds by a forceful attack, in which he landed smashing head blows with his looping left. In the fourth round he smashed across one of these lefts and Ross' mouthpiece was knocked from his mouth into the lap of a ringsider. Sensing he had stung the champion, Nebo stormed into Ross with an infuriated attack that had the crowd cheering.

This ather unexpected attack failed to upset the champion. Barney came back strong in the following rounds and was in complete charge until the eleventh, when Nebo again staged a rally to earn a shade for the round.

Nebo Fights Till Final Bell.

Nebo still was trying hard at the final bell despite the steady tattoo of blows Ross was raining on him and was still worrying Barney with his left jab. There were no knockdowns. Ross weighed 136 pounds and Nebo 139.

In the semi-windup, Bus Breese, 134½, of Manhattan, Kas., and Joie Alcander, 136½, of Kansas City, fought eight rounds to a draw.

Tommy Corbett, 137, of Omaha, won a decision over Davey Day, 136½, of Chicago, in a six round fight.

DEMPSEY IN OIL CASE

Tyler, Tex., Feb. 7.—(AP)—The federal government's drive against overproduction of oil from the rich east Texas field reached out today to include Jack Dempsey and his partner, Bobby Manziel, former pugilist.

The former heavyweight boxing champion was charged with overproduction, Manziel was termed "one of the most chronic violators in the field," and a receiver was appointed for their well.

Penalty Is $500.

The usual federal court penalty upon conviction for overproduction is a $500 fine or six months in jail, or both. Charles I. Francis, assistant United States attorney general, filed complaint charging Dempsey with overproduction of oil since Dec. 1 and with operating bypasses. He asked a temporary and permanent injunction and prohibition of interference with federal agents. He did not list specific instances of abnormal production.

"Manziel is one of the most chronic violators in the field," said Travis Golay, investigator for the state railroad commission, which fixes allowable production figures. "We have obtained a number of injunctions against him over a period of months."

At the request of the railroad commission and the attorney general, Will C. Hurst, district judge, named C. L. Norton of Longview receiver for the partnership well.

Dempsey Not Active.

Although Manziel owns eight wells in his own name and others in partnership, he and Dempsey are connected with only the one producer, which is near Gladewater.

Manziel, an operator in the field about two years, gave part interest in the No. 1 Victory to Dempsey, but the former champion has not been an active operator. He visited the producer last fall with his wife and refereed a fight on the derrick floor.

The partnership well blew in Oct. 21 with a daily potential of 35,000 barrels of oil.

WORKMAN GETS FIRST DOUBLE OF YEAR AT HIALEAH

Rides Love Sick and General A. to Victories.

Miami, Fla., Feb. 7.—[Special.]—Raymond Workman, contract rider for C. V. Whitney, got his first double of the year at Hialeah Park this afternoon when he scored with Mr. Whitney's Love Sick in the second and then came back with James Kelley's General A. in the featured Naples purse.

General A. had to be given one of Workman's strongest finishes in order to make the grade, as the margin at the end of the six furlongs was just a nose. The winner was timed in 1:11 2-5 for the distance and carried top weight of 117 pounds. Croon was second, getting the place by half a length over Minton.

The races were run over a fast track. Eight races made up the program. The mutuel return in the second race, approximately $1,500, was donated to charity. It is the plan to hold eight races each Wednesday.

The victory for General A. was his third in four Florida starts. On each occasion he won by a narrow margin. For much of the race he appeared rather out of things as Croon and Ladogan ran along head and head in the lead.

They alternated on the front end, but Workman was working hard to keep General A. within striking distance. In the stretch Ladogan faltered and it appeared as if Croon would win. However, the judges saw General A.'s nose first as the two flashed past the post almost on a line.

Shamrocks, 124th Artillery Clash Saturday

One of the hardest fought games of the season is in prospect Saturday night, when the Chicago Shamrocks and 124th Field Artillery Cardinals clash at the Artillery armory, Cottage Grove avenue and 52d street.

The Shamrocks, led by Capt. Leo B. Callahan, have proved the surprise of the Metropolitan Polo league. This trio and the 122d Field Artillery are the only undefeated teams in the title race. The Shamrocks' record is all the more noteworthy in view of their failure to win a game last year in the league tournament.

The reversal in form is attributed to a revamped lineup which includes Capt. Leslie R. Ireland and Lieut. J. G. McNulty in addition to Capt. Callahan. The Shamrocks are given a good chance of winning in the junior division this season.

CHICAGO TENNIS LEADERS GO TO U. S. L. T. A. MEET

A delegation of six Chicago tennis leaders will leave tonight to attend the annual meeting of the United States Lawn Tennis association, which will be held at Pittsburgh, Pa., tomorrow and Saturday. The party includes Ralph Westcott, president of the Chicago association, who will be elected secretary of the U. S. L. T. A. Others who will attend the meeting are Chester C. Johnson, James C. Stewart, Charles S. Garland, Frank Fulton, and Harry S. Walsh. The Chicago group is expected to repeat its demands for a revision of the national ranking position of George Lott.

MOVIES FATIGUE BEARS; THEY GO NORTH FOR GAME

Nagurski Quits Squad for Wrestling Match.

BY GEORGE SHAFFER.

Los Angeles, Cal., Feb. 7.—[Special.]—Playing in the movies makes members of the Chicago Bears too tired to play on the gridiron. Therefore Manager George Halas tonight speeded the departure of his squad to San Francisco for a game on Sunday, with the athletes' venture in films unfinished.

"Why," said Halas, "they get us up at 7 o'clock in the morning, and keep the boys at work for nine hours a day. The boys were thoroughly fatigued when they played at San Diego last Sunday and were lucky to win by 7 to 0."

All-Stars Get Receipts.

The net proceeds from the San Diego game also made Halas tired. Fewer than 5,000 paid their way in, a great bulk being blue jackets from the U. S. cruiser and destroyer fleet, who were admitted at half price. As a result, after splitting the gate with Ernie Pinckert's All-Star team, there was less than $1,000 for the Bears.

A fortified team will oppose the Bears in San Francisco Sunday. Reb Russell of Northwestern, who has been pursuing movie fame in small parts, will be in the lineup, supplemented by Angel Brovelli, full back, and Fred Canrinus, end, former St. Mary's stars; Al Norgard, Stanford, end; Al Ruffo of Santa Clara, and Harry Field, Oregon, tackle.

Nagurski Quits Squad.

Bronko Nagurski, Bear full back, quit the squad today, hurrying back to Minneapolis to keep a professional wrestling engagement. He may rejoin the team later, when it goes to New Orleans for a game there a week from Sunday, proceeds of which will be split for charity. Nagurski left still mourning the loss of a wallet, filched in San Francisco during the Bears' appearance there Jan. 21. It contained $300 worth of wrestling licenses, which Bronko was wont to flash as proof of his versatility. It also contained $5 in cash.

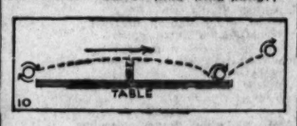
Winning Ping-Pong

BY COLEMAN CLARK.
[National Champion 1933.]

[This is the tenth of a series of articles on how to play ping-pong.]



SPIN ON THE BALL.

SPIN is nothing more than "english" on the ball. Topspin and underspin strokes in ping-pong act much like the topped drive in golf which will roll and roll because of the overspin, while the backspin mashie, which corresponds to the chop, will bite the grass and stop.

The effect of spin is this: When a chop strikes your opponent's racket the underspin on the ball will cause it to shoot downwards. Conversely, a topspin ball striking his racket will crawl or climb up it.

How to handle spin? Watch your adversary and note carefully what he is putting on every shot. If he swings down on the ball you will know it is a chop. Offset the underspin by aiming higher above the net than usual. On the other hand, if he strokes up on the ball allow for this by stroking your return lower than you normally do.

Tomorrow—the serve.

Maroons See Real Chance to Stop N. U.

Although Chicago and Northwestern are out of the running for the Big Ten basketball championship, there will be no lessening of rivalry when the two teams meet at Patten gymnasium Saturday night.

The fact that the squads will meet on more even terms than at any time in the last five years has served to increase the interest in Saturday's encounter. The Wildcats have won the last eight games from the Maroons, but this year the Midway five entertains well founded hopes of halting Northwestern's supremacy.

Haarlow May Start.

The Maroons expect to have the services of Bill Haarlow, sophomore forward, who has been out for two weeks with an injured foot. Haarlow has resumed practice and probably will start. Northwestern, however, will be without Red Kopecky, regular forward, who became ineligible as a result of the semester examinations now in progress. His place will be filled by Ed Spoerer, a reserve for the last two seasons.

Both teams recently lost one point decisions to Minnesota. The Wildcats were upset 31 to 30 and the Maroons 23 to 22.

Purple Teams Busy.

Two other Northwestern teams will compete against conference teams over the week-end. The wrestling team will meet Wisconsin at Patten gymnasium Saturday afternoon and the swimming team goes to Indiana for meets against the Crimson at Bloomington tomorrow night and against De Pauw Saturday afternoon, and against the Hoosier A. C. at Indianapolis Saturday night.

Chilly Sutton and Stan Mondala, two football men, will be in Northwestern's lineup against Wisconsin wrestlers. Sutton will compete in the heavyweight division and Mondala in the light heavyweight class. Both were full backs on the football team.

HERB FLACK WINS NORTH AMERICAN SKATING CROWN

TORONTO, Ont., Feb. 7.—(AP)—Herb Flack of Toronto won the North American indoor speed skating championship tonight with a total of 100 points scored in the two day meet at Maple Leaf gardens. Lamar Ottsen of St. Louis took second place with 80 points, and Ray Darmstadt of Astoria, N. Y., finished in third place with 70.

Flack won the half mile and 220 yard events last night and the three-quarter mile race tonight, and finished third in tonight's 440 yard event. He failed to place in only one of tonight's three men's events, the three mile race. That event went to Willie Logan of St. John, N. B., in 9:53 2-5, with Darmstadt second and Moffatt of Toronto third.

Ottsen won only one race, the mile, but took second places in the 440 and three-quarter mile races tonight to double the 40 point total he gained last night. Darmstadt failed to gain a victory, piling up his points on second and third places. Allen Potts, the title winner in 1928, took tonight's other final, the 440.

Nesting Horned Owl First Sign Spring Is Near

BY BOB BECKER.

Although February may be the "hunger month" for some of our wild birds due to sleet storms which cover food supplies, it also is the month when the first nesting bird gives us an intimation that we are coasting down to spring. The great horned owl is the bird which gets a running start on spring by incubating its eggs during February. This big predator often is found on the nest huddled over a clutch of eggs to keep them warm during a snowstorm.

Just why a bird of this type should choose to start housekeeping and raise a family so early in the year always has been a puzzle to us. The job of bringing up a family would be so much simpler if Mr. and Mrs. Owl would wait until pleasant, warm weather arrived in the central states. However, winter temperatures and snows seem to make no difference to the great horned owl.

A few years ago we had an opportunity to check the growth of young horned owls between the early season hatching date and the first week in May. The occasion was a crow hunt along the Fox river. We had set out a live horned owl at the edge of a patch of woods overlooking the river below Yorkville. After hiding ourselves in the woods we called with our crow call and immediately five or six crows responded. They swooped down in a mock attack against the owl. After dropping three of the birds, we became conscious of a big hullabaloo in the woods about a quarter of a mile from us. It sounded as if every crow for miles around was on the job, calling and complaining about something.

We quickly picked up our decoy and hurried over to the scene of the bird riot. Such a demonstration usually means that the crows have located an owl or a hawk.

In this case it was not one owl, but three; an adult great horned owl and two young birds hatched that spring. Although we knew that the great horned hatches its young when it still is winter, nevertheless we were surprised to see how large the young birds had grown. Many a mouse or bird must have been fed those young owls in order for them to have developed so rapidly.

The secret of the great horned owl's success in hatching a clutch of eggs when the weather still is wintry is found partly in the fact that the male bird helps incubate the eggs. In fact, the male and the female must alternate at the task of keeping the eggs warm, each taking some time away from the bulky nest to go hunting for food.

J. O. Y. Boxing Tourney to Close Tonight

The first annual amateur boxing tournament of the Jewish Organized Youth will come to a close tonight at the Jewish People's institute, 3500 Douglas boulevard, with semi-final and final bouts in the novice division. Semi-final and final matches in the open class were decided Tuesday.

In addition to the novice contests Milt Aranson, Dubuque, Ia., lightweight, and Phil Rosenberg will meet again in an open class encounter. Rosenberg won a hairline decision over Aranson in the preliminary rounds Monday.

Maurice Chavin beat Bill Robbins and George Figler whipped Bernie Bockal in novice semi-finals Tuesday, so Chavin and Figler will meet tonight for the 135 pound title.

The first of the semi-final matches in the seven other weight classes will start at 7:30 p. m.

AMATEUR HOCKY SERIES FOR TITLE OPENS TONIGHT

The Chicago Amateur Hocky association city championship series starts tonight at the Coliseum, bringing together a much strengthened Blue Ribbon team and the Baby Ruth squad, winners of the first half. The championship series is to be decided on a three out of five game basis.

The Blue Ribbon team has just returned from a tour of Minnesota and Wisconsin, where it won six out of seven games, scoring 36 goals against 11 for the opposition. Since the Blue Ribbons won their last league fixture against the Butterfinger Yellow Jackets, 3 to 1, they are expected to furnish strong opposition.

On the road trip two of the Ribbons' stars each scored four goals in a single game, while McFarland, goalie, had three shutouts.

With the exception of the workout the Baby Ruths had against the Chicago Blackhawks ten days ago they have been idle, but their front line of Samec, Deacon, and Saxburg is strong.

St. Philip Boxers Whip Immaculate Conception, 6-3

St. Philip High school's amateur boxing team defeated a squad representing Immaculate Conception parish at Immaculate Conception gymnasium, Schiller avenue and North Park, last night, six bouts to three. One ended in a draw. The six St. Philip victories were scored by knockouts.

GEORGE KERSTEN, NOTED CRIMINAL JUDGE, DIES AT 80

On the Bench for Many Famous Trials.

Former Judge George Kersten, who for 47 years was a member of the Cook county judiciary, spending nearly 24 years of this time in the Criminal courts, died yesterday in his home at 3740 North Harding avenue. He presided at many famous trials during the first two decades of the century.

Judge Kersten became ill last Friday, when he suffered a sudden heart attack. Pneumonia developed Sunday and physicians announced yesterday morning that he was dying. The end came at 11:30 a. m. Judge Kersten would have been 81 years old on March 22.

First Kidnapers Sentenced.

Lawyers, fellow judges, and court attachés said yesterday that Judge Kersten, before his retirement from the bench in 1926, was considered to have more knowledge of the habitual criminal than any other jurist in the United States. During his service as a justice of the peace on Chicago's north side between 1883 and 1903, and his subsequent terms on the Circuit court bench, he tried more than 100,000 criminal cases.

It was before Judge Kersten that William Jones and Alzina Jones were convicted of kidnaping 25 years ago. Their convictions were the first ever obtained for this crime in the United States. Judge Kersten sentenced the men respectively to 30 and 25 years in the penitentiary.

It was in Judge Kersten's court that the "car barn bandits" were tried in 1904. The street car barn robberies, during one of which a policeman was murdered, were the sensations of their day. The robbers were tried and sentenced to death. Johann Hoch, the bigamist who poisoned one of his wives, was also sentenced to death by Judge Kersten.

Loses Race for Sheriff.

Judge Kersten was a Democrat. At one time just prior to the turn of the century he was his party's candidate for sheriff of Cook county, but was defeated in the election. When he retired from the bench his record disclosed as few reversals as any judge sitting at that time.

Judge Kersten is survived by his widow, Mrs. Minnie Starr Kersten, and a daughter, Mrs. Lillian Borkenhagen of Kenosha, Wis. Funeral services will be held from his home on Saturday morning after a requiem mass in St. Clement's church.

Born in the "Smoky Hollow" section of old Chicago just north of the river in 1853, the judge received his education in the public schools of the city and later studied at Standau & Wiedinger's German-American institute. In 1883 he was appointed a justice of the peace by the elder Carter H. Harrison. Three years later he was admitted to the bar.

Elected to Bench.

In 1903 the judge was elected to the Circuit bench and began his long service in the Criminal court. While there the judge began a simplification of the criminal statutes which culminated recently in the passage of the new civil practice act and simplification of many sections of the criminal code.

In 1925, following a physical breakdown, the judge remained in a sanitarium for more than a year. At the end of this time he made arrangements to return to his duties, but because of continued poor health announced his formal retirement.

CHARGE BRITTEN VIOLATED LAW IN LAST CAMPAIGN

Washington, D. C., Feb. 7.—[Special.]—Representative Fred A. Britten, Republican congressman from the Ninth Chicago district, was charged today with having violated the federal corrupt practices act in his recent campaign against James McAndrews, Democratic aspirant to Britten's seat.

The charge was one of several McAndrews brought today before the house elections committee. Britten was elected by a majority of approximately 3,000 votes.

David Stansbury of Chicago, attorney for McAndrews, told the committee that Britten offered a first prize of $250 to the precinct captain who brought in most votes for him in the recent election. A second award of $100 was also offered, he declared.

The mere fact that these offers of monetary compensation for votes were made, Stansbury argued, constituted a violation of the corrupt practices act.

Attorneys John J. Gorman and Harry W. Starr, appearing in behalf of Mr. Britten, replied that the practice of offering such prizes is a common one in Chicago.

TWO BOYS TIE UP TELEGRAPH LINES TO SEE A MOVIE

Casimir Postelnik, 16 years old, 1459 Cornell street, and George Papak, 18 years old, 737 Ayres court, wanted to take two girls to a movie yesterday. The drawback was that they didn't have the price of tickets.

In order to remedy the lack the youths took an ax, went over to the right of way of the North Western railroad, and chopped off 120 feet of cable belonging to the Western Union Telegraph company. This interrupted communications from Chicago to the northwest, but the cable brought $1.25 and the lads took the girls to a show.

The police were close on their trail, however, and both were arrested last evening as they left a theater near Division and Noble streets. Shortly afterward Sam Schoenberg, 4928 Winthrop avenue,, junk dealer, who purchased the stolen cable, also was arrested.

BOY, 9, INJURED HITCHING A RIDE, DIES IN HOSPITAL

Joseph Cromwell, 9 years old, 10749 South Michigan avenue, died yesterday in the Roseland Community hospital of a skull fracture incurred Sunday when he fell from the rear end of a truck on which he had hitched a ride near his home. The driver of the truck, who drove away apparently unaware of the accident, was being sought by the Kensington police.

This death increased the 1934 motor toll in Cook county to 142.

W. E. Watt, Pioneer Air Appliance Dealer, Dead

William E. Watt, who was a pioneer in the introduction of air conditioning apparatus into Chicago, died yesterday in his home, 1930 Sheridan road, Evanston. He suffered a stroke of paralysis some months ago and had been an invalid since. Mr. Watt was 74 years old. He was active in the sale of air appliances until a few years ago. Surviving are his widow and four daughters. Funeral services will be held at the residence today at 2:30 p. m.

Funeral Service Today for Mrs. Fred A. Rogers

Funeral services for Mrs. Fred A. Rogers, wife of the dean of English at Lewis institute, will be held from her home at 618 North Elmwood avenue, Oak Park, at 2:30 p. m. today. Mrs. Rogers died in the Lutheran Deaconess hospital Tuesday morning after having become suddenly ill at home on Monday. She is survived by her husband and a son Frederick. Burial will be in the Forest Home cemetery. Mrs. Rogers was a member of the Century club of Oak Park, and of the Daughters of the American Revolution.

Dr. I. Kaufman Funeral to Be Held Tomorrow

Board of Trade Guard 40 Years Dies at 82

Funeral services will be held Saturday for Irving E. Wright, 82 years old, 3240 Warren avenue, retired policeman who was a guard at the exchange door of the Chicago Board of Trade for more than 40 years. He died Tuesday after a long illness. His wife died only a month ago. Wright was pensioned by the Board of Trade several years ago. Interment will be in Rosehill cemetery.

Mrs. Alice Bracken Lyons Dead; Relative of Judge

Mrs. Alice Bracken Lyons, 659 West 47th street, wife of John P. Lyons and a sister-in-law of Judge Harold P. O'Connell, died last week at the German Deaconess hospital of pleurisy. She was 59 years old. Funeral services are to be held from the O'Connell home, 1118 West Garfield boulevard, to Visitation church at 9:30 a. m. Saturday.

JERSEY TAX ON ESTATE OF SOUP MAKER UPHELD

Trenton, N. J., Feb. 7.—(AP)—New Jersey's assessment of $16,768,477 inheritance taxes against the estate of the late Dr. John T. Dorrance, Camden soup manufacurer, was upheld in the state's Prerogative court today by Vice Ordinary Malcolm G. Buchanan.

An assessment of approximately $17,000,000 against the estate was made by Pennsylvania and upheld by that state's Supreme court. Pennsylvania has already collected more than $14,000,000 of the assessment.

Pennsylvania contended Dr. Dorrance lived at Radnor, Pa., where he died Sept. 21, 1930. But New Jersey argued his legal residence was at Cinnaminson township, New Jersey, where he maintained a home after purchase of the Radnor property.

Dr. Dorrance left an estate estimated at the time of his death at $115,000,000.

Today's ruling laid the groundwork for a final battle before the United States Supreme court to determine which state had the right to impose inheritance taxes upon the estate.

HENRICK HANSEN, PALMER HOUSE MANAGER, DIES

Henrick V. Hansen, general manager of the Palmer house since Oct. 15, 1932, died last evening in St. Luke's hospital of agranulocytosis, a rare disease that destroys the white blood corpuscles. He was taken to the hospital on Monday and a conference of six physicians was called on the case. The disease grew worse, however, and efforts to aid the patient were unavailing.

Mr. Hansen was 43 years old. He lived when a youth in Racine, Wis. Later he moved to New York, where he rose to the business managership of the New York Tribune, which was incorporated into the Herald-Tribune. He had been a vice president of the Canadian Biscuit corporation and Christy-Brown, Ltd., and general manager of the American Lithographing company before succeeding Walter Gregory as operating head of the Palmer house. He represented the hotel on the State Street council and was chairman of the Chicago hotel code committee.

Surviving Mr. Hansen is his widow, Mrs. Helen Hansen.

WILLIAM P. REED, HEAD OF CANDY CONCERN, DIES

William Phelps Reed, 52 years old, 1075 Pelham road, Winnetka, died yesterday at the Ravenswood hospital. He was president of the Reed Candy company, 1245 Fletcher street, which he founded in 1894.

He was also a member of the Union League club, the Shawnee Country club, the Chicago Historical society, Field Museum of Natural History, Society of Colonial Wars, Sons of the American Revolution, and the Illinois Order of Founders and Patriots.

INHERITANCE TAX ON CLOW ESTATE IS PUT AT $1,832

The inheritance tax on the estate of Harry Beach Clow, president of Rand, McNally & Co., who died in his Lake Bluff home last Aug. 4, was placed at $1,832.62 yesterday in a return filed in the County court of Lake county by Harry Beach Clow Jr., executor of his father's estate. The fair market value of the estate was set at $121,931. The return stated that the tax on the $79,700 portion of the estate bequeathed to the widow, Mrs. Elizabeth Francis Clow, has been fixed at $1,338. The balance of the tax is assessed against the residue of the estate.

QUICK RELIEF FROM CONSTIPATION

That is the joyful cry of thousands since Dr. Edwards produced Olive Tablets the substitute for calomel.

Dr. Edwards, a practicing physician for 20 years, and calomel's old-time enemy, discovered the formula for Olive Tablets while treating patients for chronic constipation and torpid livers.

Olive Tablets do not contain calomel just a healing, soothing vegetable laxative safe and pleasant.

No griping is the "keynote" of these little sugar-coated, olive-colored tablets. They help cause the bowels and liver to act normally. They never force them to unnatural action.

If you have a "dark brown mouth"—bad breath—a dull, tired feeling—sick headache—torpid liver—constipation, you should find quick, sure and pleasant results from one or two of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets.

Thousands take them every night to keep right. Try them: 15c, 30c, 60c.

In every neighborhood, Chicago families realize the nearness, the remarkable promptness and superiority of Hursen service in directing funerals.

They know that Hursen elegance, Hursen unmatchable equipment, and the use of Hursen Organ-Chapels, always free, cannot be matched in their own neighborhood.

They know, too, that Hursen funerals cost less!

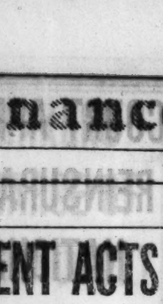
PRESIDENT ACTS TO CONTROL ALL STOCK MARKETS

Congress to Get Bill Tomorrow.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 7.—President Roosevelt today launched the legislative drive to bring the nation's stock markets under federal control before midsummer.



REPRESENTATIVE SAM RAYBURN. [A. P. Photo.]

Calling congressional leaders to the White House for a lengthy conference, President Roosevelt whipped into final shape the bills which are to be introduced in congress on Friday and which are to hand over to the federal trade commission broad powers to investigate and regulate the markets.

The bill, it is believed, will follow the recommendations of the report on stock exchanges made by the President's inter-departmental committee, providing wide discretionary authority over exchanges and legislating against only a few specific abuses.

Commodity Markets to Wait.

Regulation of the commodity markets, it is believed, is not included in the President's present move, but will be left over for subsequent legislation.

President Roosevelt said at his press conference this morning that he expected the legislation enacted before congress adjourns. He pointed out that it is one of the Democratic campaign planks as yet unredeemed.

Final details of a bill or bills to be introduced Friday were worked out with the President by Senator Duncan Fletcher [Dem., Fla.], chairman of the senate banking and currency committee; Representative Sam Rayburn [Dem., Tex.], chairman of the house interstate commerce committee; Secretary of Commerce Daniel Roper, and Ferdinand J. Pecora, special counsel of the senate banking and currency committee.

Introduce Bill Tomorrow.

Senator Fletcher will introduce the bill in the senate on Friday, it was said, and it was assumed that Representative Rayburn will introduce it in the house at the same time. Mr. Rayburn said that hearings would be held on the measure.

Mr. Pecora said that Senator Fletcher would issue a statement at the time of the introduction of the bill explaining its provisions in detail.

He said that the bill would deal with short selling, marginal trading, specialists, pool operations and manipulation.

Administrative details of the legislation may be confided to the federal trade commission, which is already empowered to administer the securities act, Mr. Pecora said. It will deal with exchanges only and not with investment houses, he said.

There will be no effort made to include in the legislation compulsory incorporation of exchanges, according to Mr. Pecora. The legislation may include commodity exchanges or it may be covered in a separate bill, he said.

BENDIX ELECTED CHAIRMAN OF AUTO. PRODUCTS

Vincent Bendix has been elected chairman and John R. Dillon, partner of Hayden, Stone & Co., has been added to the board of the Automatic Products company of Chicago, it was learned yesterday.

The changes, it was said, mark the entrance of Bendix into more complete control of the company. He has been interested in the concern for some time. It was also announced that Automatic Products has acquired a 40 per cent interest in the Permutit company of New York, a leading unit in the water softening and water treatment industry for many years and controler of important basic patents.

The acquisition marks a broadening of activities by Automatic Products. Another subsidiary, Elite Manufacturing company, has entered a contract to sell its automatic jack manufacturing business to a new firm, the Reliable Jack company. The latter concern is owned jointly by Automatic Products and Dayton Malleable Iron company.

Elect Sargent, Avery to Board of Nash Motors Co.

Fred W. Sargent, president of the Chicago and North Western railway, and Sewell L. Avery, president of Montgomery Ward & Co., were added to the board of the Nash Motors company at the annual meeting of stockholders held yesterday in Baltimore. All other directors, including Chairman C. W. Nash, were reelected.

Dollar Drops, Due to Reserve Buying Francs

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Feb. 7.—A brisk rally of the franc in the face of the growing political crisis in France was the feature of the trading in the foreign exchange market today. The turnabout in the franc was engineered by the Federal Reserve bank of New York, according to reports here, which said that the bank had stepped into the Paris market and began purchasing francs in order to hold down the dollar quotation.

The final quotation on the franc was 6.34½ cents, a rise of 3½ cents over last night's last price. As measured by the franc the indicated exchange gold value dollar was 61.74, as compared with 62.09 cents yesterday, a drop of a little over a quarter of a cent. In terms of the new par of the franc as set by the United States price for gold, the French unit closed at 4.3 discount against the dollar, compared with 4.8 per cent discount yesterday.

Pound Also Advances.

The dollar also retreated against the British pound, which closed 2 cents higher at $4.99. Earlier in the London trading the pound had reached a price of $5.08½, the highest quotation in American funds since President Roosevelt proclaimed the dollar devaluation.

Reports that the reserve bank here was buying francs was received with derision in some quarters, where it was asserted that the strength in French funds was merely the result of covering by speculative operators who had gone short when the political crisis first got under way. These observers were equally skeptical about the possibility that France would be forced off the gold standard. The fact remained, however, that while there is no official gold embargo in France, the government is doing all it can to prevent an outflow of the yellow metal.

Other Currencies Rise.

With the exception of the Canadian dollar other currencies also gained against the dollar today. Canadian currency closed at 99.12½ in American funds against 99.18¾ yesterday. The German mark, Dutch guilder, and the Italian lira, however, all turned in gains against the dollar.

The gain in sterling was due partly to the further reduction of the price of gold in London to 136 shillings 6 pence an ounce for gold, compared with 139 shillings 8 pence yesterday. Converted into dollars at the closing rate today's London gold price was equal to $34.06. Gold purchases in London and Bombay of unspecified amounts were reported, but so far as could be learned no new engagements of gold for export from Paris were arranged today. Rioting in the streets had made movements of gold hazardous.

The United States treasury, it was revealed, is hastening to carry home the gold which it still holds abroad. Today the Federal Reserve bank of New York announced a further release from earmark of $22,116,600 gold, reflecting an exchange of gold held abroad for gold earmarked here for foreign account. It brought the total of such "swaps" since Dec. 27, to $62,499,977 after giving effect to the revaluation of the dollar.

There remains under earmark here for foreign account $36,835,106 on the revalued basis. Allowing for the change in the value of gold that has taken place this is the smallest total under earmark for foreign account since August, 1924, when the total was $42,984,000 on the old basis.

Gold Premium Big Aid to Alaska Juneau Mining

Alaska Juneau Gold Mining company reported January profit of $202,600, including the estimated premium on gold compared with $56,600 in the same month last year. Estimated profit, not including the gold premium, was $49,600 for January.

AM. WOOLEN PAYS 1ST DIVIDEND SINCE 1927; HOMESTAKE AN EXTRA

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Feb. 7. — American Woolen company today declared a dividend of $1.25 a share on the 7 per cent cumulative preferred stock, the first payment since April 15, 1927, when $1.75 a share was paid.

The company reported net income of $7,053,933 after taxes and charges, compared with net loss of $7,269,821 in 1932. Outstanding are 399,815 shares of 7 per cent first preferred on which are $47.25 accumulated unpaid dividends after allowing the full $7 for the preferred, the balance equals $10.63 on the common.

Profits of the company, which is the largest manufacturer of woolen goods, were the largest reported since the period of wartime prosperity.

That stockholders of gold mining companies are reaping the benefits of the President's dollar devaluation and consequent higher gold price was reflected in the action of the Homestake Mining company in continuing an extra dividend of $1 a share in addition to the regular monthly dividend of $1. The company has been paying extras for several months.

Holland Land company declared a liquidating dividend of $1. The last previous liquidating dividend was 50 cents on Dec. 23, 1932.

Wilcox-Rich corporation declared a dividend of 20 cents on the class B stock. The last previous payment was 7½ cents on April 30, 1932.

HEAVY SELLING BREAKS STOCKS 1 TO 5 POINTS

Liquidation from Abroad Factor.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Feb. 7.—Nervousness over the French situation and the impending congressional bill for stock exchange regulation today cost the share market its worst setback since late November. Selling was persistent and heavy in nearly all departments and net losses ranged from 1 to more than 5 points.

Outstanding victims of the reaction included Allied Chemical, which closed 5¼ points lower; Case Threshing Machine, 5¾; Central Railroad of New Jersey, 5; Wright Aero, 5; Union Pacific railroad, 4; Texas and Pacific railway, 5½, and McKeesport Tin, 4 points. United States Steel closed at 57, off 2; Western Union at 68⅜, off 2⅝; American Can at 101¼, down 1, and American Telephone at 122⅞, off 1⅜ points.

Trading at Heavy Rate.

Trading was at a million shares an hour clip most of the session, the total mounting to more than 4½ million shares.

The market's weakened technical condition brought about by the sharp advances of the last week or so contributed strongly to the selling movement. Much of the liquidation was for foreign account. London and Paris had contributed heavy cable orders to the bull movement for weeks.

One of the weakest spots of the entire market was the aircraft group, which has been riding on the crest of popularity lately on anticipation of large government airplane orders under the naval improvement program. The threat against existing air mail contracts arising out of the inquiry into the letting of mail contracts at Washington was their chief worry today.

Other Weak Aviation Issues.

In addition to Wright Aero, the weak issues of the group included United Aircraft, which sold off more than 3 points; Douglass, which dropped 2⅜; Bendix, and some of the Allied Equipment shares. Wright has been a star performer in this section of the market for some time, kiting to a high of 75 on a "corner" about two weeks ago. The stock closed today at 51. Its 1933-'34 low was 6.

Another volatile medium of speculation, Case Threshing, kept traders on the anxious seat for a half hour or so around midday. Opening at 86¼, up ⅛ point net, it moved erratically, eventually slumping to a low of 80¼ in the final hour and then edging back to 81⅝, where it closed. Other farm issues were weak.

Rails, Utilities Sag.

Rails and utilities dropped 1 to 4 points, the decline being commensurate with the recent one day gains in those departments. Rail equipment followed the carriers down.

Oils, tobaccos, foods, and motors retreated a point or so on the average, but were somewhat more difficult to press down than some other groups.

A few stocks ran against the trend, including the gold shares, the silver issues, and a few specialties like Coca-Cola, Chrysler, and Westvaco Chemical. American Woolen preferred sold at the best price since 1924 on announcement of a dividend payment but receded to a 3 point net loss later.

U. S. GOLD STOCK RISES ANOTHER HALF MILLION

Washington, D. C., Feb. 7.—(AP)—The United States gold stock continued to grow today, reaching a new high of $7,950,146,124.

This half million increase over the preceding day's figure also was reflected in a gain of the government's profit on dollar devaluation from $2,805,730,469 to $2,806,955,014. The profit increase indicated that most of the new gold received was that coming from hoarded metal.

Treasury officials were interested but would not comment on developments in Paris and what effect they may have on world money conditions. The prevailing opinion was that disturbances there might cause demand for gold for hoarding and create a condition similar to that which existed in the United States a year ago.

Fix Rock Island Trustees' Salaries at $66,000 Yearly

Washington, D. C., Feb. 7.—(AP)—The interstate commerce commission fixed the salaries of trustees of the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific Railroad company, which is in bankruptcy for reorganization, directing that Frank O. Lowden be paid $15,000 a year, James E. Gorman, $36,000 a year, and Joseph B. Fleming, $15,000.

Spiegel, May, Stern Sales 189% Above Year Ago

Sales of the Spiegel, May, Stern company, Chicago mail order house, for January made a gain of about 189 per cent over January, 1933, the company reported yesterday. Sales totaled $927,916, compared with $320,710 a year ago.

'Street' Boosts MacLean for Treasury Post

Satisfaction was expressed in La Salle street yesterday over the possibility that M. Haddon MacLean, vice president of the Harris Trust and Savings bank, may be given an important position in the treasury department. Washington dispatches discussed the possibility that Mr. MacLean, who is now in the capital, may be named either to the office of undersecretary or assistant secretary in charge of fiscal affairs.

M. HADDON MACLEAN. [© De Guedre].

Colleagues of Mr. MacLean at the Harris Trust said that they had not heard whether he had been offered a position or whether he would accept one if he was.

Cite Cummings' Friendship.

It was pointed out in banking circles that Mr. MacLean for a number of years has been very close to Walter J. Cummings, who gave up his position as head of the Federal Deposit Insurance corporation to become chairman of the Continental Illinois National Bank and Trust company. The suggestion was made that possibly Mr. Cummings recommended Mr. MacLean for a post before leaving Washington.

Mr. MacLean is one of the executive vice presidents of the Harris Trust and was described as possessed of exceptional ability. His first position in the bank was in the trust department which he later managed. Later he went to the corporation department where a part of his duties was to handle the financing of large corporations with fixed capital requirements.

In the trust department he supervised the purchase of large amounts of securities and as an executive officer of the bank he sat in on committee meetings passing on large loans.

Republican Affiliations.

Associates at the Harris Trust said they did not know the political affiliation of Mr. MacLean, but a biographical sketch gives him as a Republican. He was born in Prince Edward island on Dec. 27, 1872, his father being a minister. He attended Acadia college in Nova Scotia and later took up postgraduate work at the University of Chicago. In 1910 Mr. MacLean married Pearl Harris, daughter of N. W. Harris. They have three children. Their home is in Evanston.

If he accepts a position at Washington Mr. MacLean will be one of many Chicagoans who have held important fiscal positions. Among the others were Lyman J. Gage, who served as secretary of the treasury from 1897 to 1902; Frank Vanderlip, Charles S. Dewey, James H. Douglas Jr., and Charles G. Dawes.

THREE MORE FEDERAL RESERVE BANKS CUT REDISCOUNT RATES

Three more federal reserve banks yesterday followed the lead of the New York reserve institution and cut their rediscount rates apparently in an effort to aid the flotation of the billions of government bonds which the treasury will market in the next few months. The rediscount rate is the figure at which member banks may borrow and is traditionally a signal of easier credit conditions.

Banks cutting their rates were the Boston, St. Louis, and Dallas institutions. The Boston bank slashed its 2½ per cent rate which has been in effect since June 8, 1933, to 2 per cent and the St. Louis bank cut from 3 to 2½ per cent. The Dallas rate was reduced from 3½ to 3 per cent.

Meanwhile directors of the Chicago reserve bank gave no indication that the present 2½ per cent rate will be disturbed. The next scheduled meeting of directors is Feb. 23. Directors met last week following the New York bank's action, but made no announcement on the rate.

21 ARE APPOINTED TO ADMINISTER INVESTMENT CODE

After a conference with officers of the NRA, Robert E. Christie Jr., president of the Investment Bankers Association of America, announced yesterday the twenty-one members of the investment bankers code committee, which is to administer the investment banking code under the NRA. The group comprises both members and non-members of the association.

The committee follows: Francis A. Bonner and Frank McNair of Chicago; George Whitney, Sidney J. Weinberg, Joseph H. Swan, Lawrence H. Marks, George W. Bovenizer, and Mr. Christie of New York; Arthur H. Bosworth, Denver; Sydney P. Clark, Philadelphia; Edward J. Costigan, St. Louis; Harry S. Grande, Seattle; B. Howell Griswold, Baltimore; Edward H. Hilliard, Louisville; W. Hubert Kennedy, Minneapolis; Lamartine V. Lamar, New Orleans; Robert H. Moulton, Los Angeles; Daniel W. Myers, Cleveland; Henry B. Tompkins, Atlanta; Frank Weeden, San Francisco, and Orrin G. Wood, Boston.

A meeting of the board of governors of the Investment Bankers' association has been called for Saturday and Sunday in Chicago.

Sears-Roebuck President Favors Monetary Authority

Washington, D. C., Feb. 7.—(AP)—Declaring that solving the monetary problem means more to the people's happiness than the emergency agencies, President Robert E. Wood of Sears-Roebuck company, Chicago, told a house committee today there had been a "steady upward movement" since the country went off the gold standard. He approved the Steagall bill to create a federal monetary authority with sole power to issue currency.

Rail Officials to Meet Soon on Wage Pact

Members of the railroad general managers' committee will meet in Chicago between now and Feb. 15 to consider whether the present wage scale of railroad employes shall be continued, W. H. Thiehoff, chairman, said last night. Wages of members of the big railroad brotherhoods are now 19 per cent under the basic scale.

At a meeting last June the unions and the managements agreed to continue the 10 per cent wage cut from Oct. 31—the date of the expiration under a previous agreement—to June 30, 1934. It was provided that either party to the wage pact could submit a notice indicating a desire to change the basic rates of pay in accordance with the provisions of the railway labor act, on Feb. 15, 1934, or after.

Course Undecided.

Members of the managers' committee will now decide whether they desire to ask for a change or not. They declined to discuss the present attitude of the roads with respect to wages. Last June the lines sought a reduction of 12½ per cent in addition to the 10 per cent cut already in effect, which would have made a total reduction of 22½ per cent.

The unions flatly refused to accept the additional 12½ per cent cut, and for a time it appeared there might be labor trouble. However, Joseph B. Eastman, federal railroad coördinator, at the behest of President Roosevelt, prevailed upon the managements to withdraw their demands for the additional reduction and the 10 per cent cut remained in force.

Position of Many Better.

Since last June the earnings of the railroads have shown a marked increase, and the position of many of them has improved substantially.

Members of the managers' committee who will plot the future wage course include the following: Mr. Thiehoff, Burlington; W. M. Jeffers, Union Pacific; John T. Gillick, Milwaukee; John Walber, New York Central; Herbert Enoch, Pennsylvania; C. A. Galloway, Baltimore and Ohio; C. W. Mackay, Southern; Mr. Allbright of the Seaboard, and C. W. Jenks of the Norfolk and Western.

TRADE IN COTTON FUTURES HERE UP 500% IN JANUARY

Trading in cotton futures on the Chicago Board of Trade was 500 per cent heavier in January than in the same period a year ago and has reflected an even faster pace during the first week of February, it was announced yesterday by Gale Smart, cotton committee chairman.

"Practicaly all the increase has been in domestic trade and there are many cases in which cash has been converted to cotton holdings to avoid shrinkage in the dollar," Mr. Smart commented.

Power Output Shows 12½ Pct. Gain Over '33

Expanding to the largest total in three weeks, national production of electric power for last week increased its margin over that of the like week of 1933 to 12.9 per cent, the most substantial since September, the Edison Electric Institute reports. The gain over output in the preceding week was a reversal of the trend for corresponding periods in the last four years.

Industrial expansion and the severe weather over a large section of the country accounted for the improvement last week, according to utilities executives.

In the Chicago district, comprising a region within a radius of 50 miles of the city, electric power output also rose considerably.

Big Gain for Week.

The national production amounted to 1,636,276,000 kilowatt hours, or about twenty-six million in excess of the total of 1,610,542,000 for the preceding week. In the corresponding period of last year production totaled 1,454,913,000 kilowatt hours.

In every major territorial district the consumption of power augmented its margin over that in the same week of 1933.

The gain for last week in manufacturing New England was 11.6 per cent, against 3.6 in the week ended Jan. 27; in the middle Atlantic states 12.3, against 9.9; in the central industrial region, 16.6, against 13.1; on the Pacific coast, 8.6, against 2.8; in the southern states, 10.8, against 7.9; in the west central area, 8.2, against 5.2; and in the Rocky mountains, 17.8, against 17.5.

Weather Proves Aid.

More nearly normal weather conditions encouraged the increase in local output to the largest total so far this year, amounting to 104,900,000 kilowatt hours, against 99,029,000 in the same week last year. The gain rose from 4.8 per cent for the week ended Jan. 27 to 10.4 per cent, or the same as that for the week ended Jan. 13. In the period ended Jan. 27 output in the Chicago district totaled 99,293,000 kilowatt hours.

Following are the output in kilowatt hours and percentage comparisons with last year for the Chicago district [last 3 ciphers omitted]:

Week ended	1934.	1933.	Per cent increase.
Feb. 3	104,900	93,000	10.4
Jan. 27	99,293	94,700	4.8

U. S. DEPARTMENT FOR REGULATING BUILDING URGED

Creation of a federal department of building under a secretary of building was advocated yesterday before the forty-fourth annual convention of the Illinois Lumber and Material Dealers' association at the Stevens hotel by Paul E. Kendall, advertising manager of Long-Bell Lumber Sales corporation of Kansas City.

"The interests of our industry are so diversified that it will be impossible for them ever to get together in a national association," he said. "What we need is to have a U. S. department with a representative in the President's cabinet."

The problem of unemployment could be more effectively attacked through the construction of small private homes than through public works or slum clearing projects, Mr. Kendall declared.

Food Index Rises to $2.08, 38 Per Cent Over Year Ago

The Dun and Bradstreet food index rose to $2.08 in the week ended Feb. 6 from $2.03 on Jan. 30, its largest gain this year. The index equaled the high of 1933, made last July 18, and with that exception was the highest since Nov. 14, 1931. The increase over a year ago is 38 per cent.

STEEL ACTIVITY HITS HIGH FOR YEAR AT 38 PCT.

Operations Up Three Points Last Week.

Last week's steel works operations, impelled by the current demand for light rolled products and maturing business from railroads, set the highest rate this year, reported Iron Age yesterday. Production rose to 38 per cent of capacity, against 35 in the preceding week.

In Chicago, where rail mills have at last started producing, though on light schedules, operations rose 5½ points to 36 per cent during the week. The output at all main producing centers save Pittsburgh either improved or held steady. At Pittsburgh, where inactivity in heavy rolled products is especially evident, the rate fell one point to 20 per cent.

Safeguard Delivery Delays.

That automotive business is more widely distributed "has nothing to do with the disgruntled attitude of certain motor car builders toward the steel code," claims the Iron Age. "It is now clear," says the journal, "that the real reason the automobile industry has been spreading its orders among a larger number of mills is that it wishes to guard against delays in delivery. Certain strip and sheet mills are already solidly booked for the quarter and others are rapidly reaching the same condition."

Last week Iron Age announced a "large automobile manufacturer" had reduced the tonnage it gave to larger producers and was distributing its requirements among a number of smaller mills in protest against not only the prohibition of preferential prices in the industry's code but also the increases contemplated for next quarter. According to reports from other sources General Motors corporation was following such a line of action.

Rail Orders Bolster Activity.

Possibility that the influx of business in light rolled products may delay deliveries at the close of this quarter persuaded some consumers last week to place protective orders, according to the Iron Age. Others have also allocated requirements, disquieted lest labor difficulties arise in the steel industry.

A guarantee that heavy rolled products will resume activity is seen in the orders from railroads for rails, rolling stock, and steel for car building.

Structural steel awards amounted to only 9,550 tons, compared with 13,800 a week ago, according to the Iron Age. The journal's scrap composite is unchanged at $11.92 a gross ton, with pig iron at $16.90 a gross ton, and finished steel at 2.28 cents a pound.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Feb. 7.—The listed bond market suffered a severe sinking spell today and loans of all classifications averaged lower for the day. Domestic corporation bonds which had been run up sharply for more than a week lost the most ground. Foreign loans were irregularly lower despite the rise in the leading foreign exchanges against the dollar.

United States government bonds were marked down 3-32ds to 10-32ds point with the exceptions of the first Liberty 4¼s and the called fourth Liberty 4¼s, up 1-32d and unchanged, respectively.

Turnover Is Smaller.

Transactions in bonds on the exchange dropped to $20,988,000, compared with $26,123,000 on the previous day. Of today's total, dealings in domestic corporation bonds aggregated $15,793,000.

Losses in the domestic issues ranged from fractions to more than 4 points. Profit taking was in increased volume.

The market for French government and municipal loans was watched closely today. The government 7½s eased 1¾ points, while the 7s remained unchanged. The municipal issues were up ⅝ to 1½ points.

German Loans Lower.

German loans were irregularly lower despite the news that scrip and cash for the back interest on foreign debts would be available in about ten days. United Kingdom bonds were firm. Most of the Latin American loans closed lower on the day.

Domestic bonds on the Curb exchange were reactionary in heavy dealings and many issues lost 1 to 7 points, including some of the most active liens. Advances and declines in the foreign group were about evenly distributed in comparatively quiet trading.

Cord Corp.

Investors' Guide: Will you kindly give me a report on Cord corporation stock?—A. L.

Answer: Cord corporation was incorporated in 1929 as a holding company and a trading corporation. It holds substantial interests in the automobile field (Auburn Automobile, Columbia Axle, Lycoming), aviation (Aviation corporation, Thompson Aeronautical), shipbuilding (New York Shipbuilding), and taxicab manufacturing field (Checker Cab Manufacturing). Its most important holding is generally conceded to be in Auburn Automobile, in which it holds a working control.

Holdings in Auburn have dropped considerably in the last two years. On Nov. 30, 1933, it held 3,879 shares, against 24,784 the year before and 83,821 shares on Nov. 30, 1931. The stock was valued on the company's books at $139,000 on Nov. 30, 1933. Market value was $174,000.

Consolidated income account for the year ended Nov. 30, 1933, showed sales of $1,773,000 and net income, including $1,918,000 profit from transfer of securities and $371,000 profit from investments in securities and commodities, of $1,380,000, or 61 cents per share. For the preceding year sales were $2,174,000 and net income, after $1,897,000 profit from trading in securities, was $1,524,000, or 67 cents per share.

Sales for the 1931 year were $2,174,000, against $3,517,000 for the 1930 year. Net income was $583,000, or 26 cents per share, against $1,477,000, or 65 cents per share.

Current assets on Nov. 30, 1933, totaled $8,865,000 and current liabilities were $711,000. Investments in marketable securities of affiliated companies representing investments of a permanent nature, were carried on the books at $5,297,000. Market value was $8,336,000, or $3,039,000 above cost. Earned surplus was $4,516,000 and capital surplus was $1,049,000.

Capitalization is represented by 2,260,000 shares of $5 par stock. A dividend of 20 cents per share was paid on Sept. 15, 1933. Nothing has been paid since. The previous dividend, 10 cents a share, was paid March 15, 1933.

Hudson Manhattan.

Investors' Guide: Are income bonds such as Hudson Manhattan income 5s, due 1957, quoted at a flat rate; that is, without figuring accrued interest on the coupons and charging it to the buyer?—M. E. I.

Answer: Yes. Income bonds are generally quoted flat because the return on the bonds is not fixed. Interest is payable only if earned.

This practice is restricted to those bonds which are either in default or on which interest does not necessarily a fixed charge.

RAYON MAKERS FACE CHARGE OF PRICE MONOPOLY

1st Action Against Group Under NRA Code.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 7.—(AP)—The ten companies that produce the bulk of rayon manufactured in this country were formally charged by the federal trade commission today with having formed a price fixing monopoly.

This was the first charge of monopoly against an industry operating under an NRA code, but since the rayon code does not yet contain unfair trade practice provisions it was said that the code constituted no protection and that NRA could not be considered as having approved or overlooked any such practices as those alleged.

Eliminate Price Competition.

The commission charged that the ten companies agreed in October, 1931, to eliminate price competition among themselves and "have since carried out and are still carrying out this agreement."

The commission charged that not only did the companies fix prices so as to form a monopoly, but they also forced the fixing of prices of rayon cloth by knitters who had purchased the yarn from the ten respondent companies.

Respondents with the ten companies were 22 members of Price, Waterhouse & Co. of New York, who were retained by the rayon companies, according to the complaint, to assist in maintaining fixed prices of rayon yarn by auditing the books of each company so as to detect variations in price.

Says Public Is Affected.

"The alleged acts and practices of the respondents," the commission said, "are all to the prejudice of the public and to the prejudice of competitors of the respondents, have a dangerous tendency to and have actually hindered and prevented price competition" in interstate commerce of rayon yarn and knitted rayon cloth.

It added that the acts had increased the prices paid by the public for rayon garments and had created a monopoly in the interstate commerce of rayon yarn.

The respondents are required to answer the complaint within 30 days.

BANKER BLAMES CONTROLER FOR DETROIT CRASH

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 7.—The controler of the currency in the last two years of the Hoover administration was charged before the senate banking and currency committee today with responsibility for the Michigan bank collapse of February, 1933.

The controler at that time was John W. Pole, but during the latter part of the period, F. G. Awalt was acting controler. Because of the controler's "negligence," the government, it was asserted, should make good millions of dollars lost to Michigan depositors.

The witness who made this charge was Wilson W. Mills of Detroit, who was chairman of the board of the First National bank of that city at the time of the crash.

Mills urged the committee to include the operations of the controler's office during 1931 and 1932 in its investigation. If secret reports of national bank examiners to the controler in 1931 and 1932 were true, it was his duty to close the banks named in those reports, said Mills, and not permit them to continue operating in an insolvent condition.

"I have no doubt as to the solvency of the First National at the time of the crash," said Mills, "and when the holiday was declared the bank had balances which were probably at their peak."

WOOL MARKETS

BOSTON, Mass., Feb. 7.—Demand for wool continued scattered today. Buyers took some Ohio fleeces, although most interest was in territory fine and fine medium wools.

Attempts to slash prices have been unsuccessful, although some buyers have purchased at a little less by taking lower grades. Quotations were unchanged.

REDUCED SUPPLY OF HOGS IS SOLD 20 CENTS HIGHER

Market Rises $1 to $1.30 in Last 13 Days.

Small receipts, federal buying and rapidly rising prices for fresh pork advanced the hog market to the highest point for February in three years on yesterday's lively session. Prices have advanced $1 to $1.30 in 13 days, and including the processing tax, costs to the packers have mounted $1.55 to $1.80 in this time.

The top for full car load lots jumped to $4.80, while a short load sold at $4.90. The general average at $4.35 showed a 20 cent gain. Two weeks ago today top hogs were selling at $3.50 and the average at that time was down to $3.30.

Top fresh pork loins advanced to 18½ cents, a new high for the winter, which shows a rise of 3½ cents since last week's close.

Park Supply Short.

The wholesale pork market has been short of supplies for several days because of the sharp drop in hog receipts and the larger proportion of supplies going to shippers and to the relief corporation. This contributed to the competition for hogs, and more small packers were buying "house" hogs yesterday than for more than a week.

Receipts at eleven leading markets the first three days of this week showed a decrease of 183,000 head, or 48 per cent compared with the first half of last week. Eastern buyers are taking a greater proportion of Chicago receipts than usual.

Because of the shorter receipts the relief corporation cut its buying orders another 5,000 head yesterday, but still is taking more than 20,000 head a day.

Cattle Prices Strong.

Better action marked the cattle market also. Prices were strong to 25 cents higher in most divisions of the yards. Most of the week's losses in medium and heavy steers have been recovered and some of the big weights are selling higher than on Monday. The top price, however, came up only 10 cents, to $7.35, and it is only 25 cents above the corresponding day last year.

A bigger share of the better grades of yearlings and light steers sold up to $7. Most of the medium to good grades of steers were bought within a range of $4.50 to $6.75, against $4.25 to $6.50 on Tuesday and $4.25 to $6.25 on the corresponding day in 1933. Several sales of 1,500 to 1,761 pound steers ranged down to $4, but the bulk of the heavy steers cashed at $4.50 and better.

The meager supply of 6,000 sheep and lambs sold under brisk competition at strong to slightly higher prices. Top sales of woolen lambs advanced to $9.50. Yesterday's peak showed a gain of 54 per cent, compared with the corresponding day in 1933. Old ewes sold up to $5.

COTTON FARMER FOR COMPULSORY OUTPUT CONTROL

Undercover Conflict Over Plan Is Seen.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 7.—The southern cotton farmer, with last year's government cotton check in his pocket, appeared today to be 98 per cent willing to submit to compulsory government control of cotton production.

Returns from the AAA's questionnaire asking the cotton growers for their ideas regarding compulsory control indicate that all but 2 per cent are in favor of the program, it was learned today. Some 30,000 replies are said to have been received by the AAA to date.

Wallace Doubts Plan.

At the same time, Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace continued to look upon the scheme with some degree of trepidation, despite the overwhelming sanction of the cotton producers themselves and the persistent urging of southern senators.

The secretary was represented as believing that trouble may develop when farmers realize the full implications of control by compulsion. Their answers to the questionnaire undoubtedly indicate the sentiment in the south at the present time, Mr. Wallace believes, but he fears producers of cotton fail to comprehend the full import and far-reaching ramifications involved in a program of compulsory regulation of acreage.

Consider Responsibilities.

Taking this attitude, the secretary was reported to have advised Senator John H. Bankhead [Dem., Ala.], leading advocate of compulsory control, that the willingness of the farmers to accept such a plan places a grave responsibility on those in charge of the farm program, and one which should be considered seriously before any action is taken.

At the same time, Senator Bankhead publicly announced that the secretary and other officials of the AAA have given their unqualified endorsement to his bill calling for restriction of next year's cotton crop to 9 million bales by imposing a confiscatory tax on all over that amount.
